Even If Khrushchev Hadn't Wrecked It

Kennedy Says Summit Was Doomed Because Of Obsolete U.S. Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said today that if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hadn't wrecked the summit conference it would have foundered on what he called obsolete U.S. policies.

Kennedy, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that if the presidential campaign turns on the issue of who best can stand up to Khrushchev, the American people will lose, no matter who wins in November.

His prepared Senate speech coupled a series of foreign policy suggestions of his own with a slashing attack on President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable GOP presidential nominee.

It obviously was intended both to reply to his Republican critics and to counter implications by some supporters of rival Democratic aspirants that Kennedy, at 43, is too youthful and inexperienced to negotiate with Khrushchev.

Kennedy said the American delegation headed by Eisenhower went to the Paris summit meeting with "no fresh ideas" and only "obsolete policies and meaningless slogans."

"Our conferees have consistently gone to the international bargaining table ill-staffed, ill-prepared and ill-advised," he said. "Coordinate efforts — with all agencies and all allies—have faltered without strong direction from the top; and strong direction from the top has often faltered because the President has not been kept fully informed."

Because of this, the Massachusetts senator said, it was "fortunate that the violent manner in which the Soviets carried out their determination to wreck the summit made it clear to the world that the blame for the collapse of the conference rests on Mr. Khrushchev."

"Our allies and our own people had been misled into believing there was some point to holding the summit conference — that we were prepared to say more than what changes in the status quo we would not accept — that by a miracle of personal charm and public relations the Russians could be cajoled into yielding some of their hard-won positions of strength—that we had some conception of alternatve settlements that were both acceptable to us and possibly acceptable to the Soviets," Kennedy said.

"But the truth of the matter is that we were not prepared for any such negotiations—that there was no real success wich the summit could have achieved."

Kennedy struck back at Nixon's contention that Nixon, among the candidates of both parties, is best qualified by experience and toughness to negotiate with Khrushchev.

"The issue is not who can best 'stand up to Khrushchev,' who can best swap threats and insults —the real issue is who can best stand up and summon America's vast resources to the defense of freedom against the most dangerous threat it ever faced," he said.

Kennedy said that "neither Camp David talks nor kitchen debates" will compel Khrushchev to enter fruitful negotiations. He said only a rebuilding of American military strength will convince the Soviet Premier that time is not on his side and that a peaceful settlement is essential to mutual survival.

Among other things, he said the United States must have "hidden, moving or invulnerable weapons" to give it the world's greatest nuclear striking power. Along with this he said this country must regain the ability to intervene in any limited war anywhere in the world.

He called for rebuilding NATO "into a viable and consolidated military force."

Kennedy proposed "an entirely revamped foreign aid program" geared to long-term commitments to help feed and give economic aid to underdeveloped countries. He said steps must be taken to make Latin Amercan nations full partners in Western Hemisphere development.

Calling for a new approach to Middle East problems, Kennedy said measures must be taken to "hasten the inevitable Arab acceptance of the permanence of Israel." He said U.S. policies must recognize "the inevitable triumph of nationalism in Africa.

Kennedy's competence in dealing with international affairs has been questioned by supporters of his rivals in both parties.

Frenzied Reception

1,500,000 Filipinos Accord Ike Roaring Welcome In Manila

President Garcia Greets Chief On 1st Stop Of Asian Tour

MANILA (AP) — A joyous outpouring of 1½ million Filipinos roared a tumultuous homecoming for President Eisenhower today, rivaling the frenzied reception he got in India last December.

Nearly all of Manila turned out to applaud and shout, pelt Eisenhower with a flood of confetti and repeatedly break through police lines in a display of affection never equaled in the Philippines.

From the moment Eisenhower landed at Manila Airport for the first stop of his Asian tour, the Filipinos led by President Carlos P. Garcia hailed the American President as a former resident who had returned as the peace-seeking leader of the free world.

The mass of men, women and children who lined the 10-mile route from the airport frequently pressed to within inches of the open presidential automobile, sometimes stopping it completely.

The scheduled hour-long procession stretched into a triumphant hour and 40-minute parade as Eisenhower repeatedly acknowledged the acclaim with arms outstretched in the humid 85-degree weather.

In a welcoming speech at the airport, Garcia told the U.S. President he would be "long remembered by our people and the other free peoples of Asia for your patient, passionate and unrelenting quest for a permanent and just world peace." Garcia said the Philippines "is and will ever be the staunch friend and ally of the United States."

Eisenhower in reply said that "no petty difference can ever tear apart" the bonds of friendship between the United States and the Philippines. He expressed the determination of the United States "to live with you as true partners in defense of those ideals of freedom and human dignity in which we believe."

Eisenower flew to Manila to start his 10-day Asian tour after an overnight stop at Anchorage, Alaska, and a brief pause for refueling at Wake Island. His big jet Columbine III landed at Clark Air Force Base north of the city. The President flew on to Manila in the propeller-driven Columbine II, since the Manila Airport runways are not long enough for the biggest jets.

The warmth of the Philippine welcome was in marked contrast to the fears of the reception awaiting Eisenhower in Tokyo, where leftist opponents of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi have been demonstrating daily in protest against Japan's new mutual defense treaty with the United States. But reports from Tokyo today said the threat of violence for the President's arrival was subsiding.

Rowe Resigns From Board At Wellsville

Brick Employe Gets Position In Indiana; 3 Teachers To Leave

Richard S. Rowe, 949 Riverside Ave., resigned as a member of the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Rowe, who has served on the board two years, has accepted a position with a firm in Decatur, Ind. An engineer, he presently is employed at the McLain Fire Brick Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc.

His resignation is effective June 30. He also is vice president of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club.

The board also accepted the resignations of three teachers and a school secretary. Resigning were Mrs. Myriam Gilson, high school Spanish instructor; Mrs. Velma Smith Gaston, art director; Robert Gilson, junior high instructor, and Mrs. Myrna J. Snediker, secretary at MacDonald.

Dominick Aimine, a seventh grade teacher, was named art director to replace Mrs. Gaston. He will receive $200 traveling expenses besides his regular salary, as the job requires visiting all buildings.

Supt. S. E. Daw reported another special class will be conducted this coming term at McKinley School for children who are slow learners. He said there will be 18 younger children in the class this year. Older children were handled last year and many will be returned to regular classroom work.

The problem of how to set up the classrooms at McKinley was discussed at length. Four parents appeared, asking that the first and second grades not be combined under one teacher the fall term. Daw reported there will be 25 in first, 9 in second, 17 in third and 18 in fourth, making a total of 69 pupils and 3 teachers.

He pointed out that the board is reimbursed by the state on a 30-children classroom unit, and that the number does not permit a fourth instructor.

The parents suggested the second graders be transfered to MacDonald. This still would leave three "units" at the school and avoid combining of classes. Daw said he would study the matter further and contact the parents of the children

Cash, Jewels Taken

Office Burglary Loss Hits $1,500

East Liverpool police today were investigating the burglary of a downtown law office in which cash and jewelry worth $1,500 were taken from a rifled cabinet and a breaking and entering at a service station that netted the intruders merchandise and cash worth over $300.

The major burglary was reported at the law offices of Brookes, Lynch & McDonald on the second floor of the Brookes Building at W. 5th and Market Sts., where the loss included jewelry worth $1,000 and about $500 in cash.

The second burglary was at Cooper's Amoco Service Station on E. 3rd St. near Washington St., where the intruders took tools worth $150, 4 new tires worth about $26 apiece, cigarettes valued at approximately $75, about $15 in change and some other undetermined items. John F. Cooper, 526 Elizabeth St., is the operator.

Police said the burglary in the law office apparently took place sometime between 10 p. m. Saturday and 9:43 a. m. yesterday.

Entry was gained by forcing a lock on the door. The intruder then broke into a cabinet where the money and other valuables were kept, officers said. A sharp metal instrument was used to break open locked drawers in the cabinet, police said.

Police said the intruder obtained some items of women's jewelry worth a total of $800, plus a women's Waltham white gold wristwatch set with 20 diamonds. The watch is worth $200, officers said.

The law firm is operated by Atty. Jason H. Brookes, Atty. John B. McDonald and Atty. Carroll P. Lynch. It has corner offices in the Brookes Building overlooking the Diamond and is accessible by stairways leading from both Market St. and W. 5th St.

Police said at least some of the jewelry is owned by a woman office employe of the law firm. The cash apparently represented collection of fees and receipts from other sources, officers said.

The burglary at the service station was timed between 10 p. m. Monday, when the business closed for the night, and 8 this morning, when it reopened. The intruders broke a pane of glass out of a door leading to the grease pit, then open-

4 Men Injured In Collision Of Car And Truck

2 Hospitalized After Super-Road Wreck Of State Vehicle

Two men were hospitalized and two others injured in a collision of a State Highway Department truck and a car driven by an East Liverpool man Monday afternoon at 1:05 on the East Liverpool-Wellsville super-road just inside Wellsville limits.

Fred Shannon, 50, of 825 Broadway, Wellsville, driver of the truck, and Keith Garner, 19, of 1007 Huston Ave., a passenger in the car driven by Dennis L. Smith, 719 Riley Ave., both are in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital.

Joseph Fraser, 48, of 412 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, a passenger in the truck, was treated at the hospital for contusions of the left head and abrasions of the left elbow. Smith, 20, suffered chest bruises and lacerations of the chin.

Police said the accident still is under investigation.

17 Fake $20's Found After Pair's Arrest

Clevelanders Await Columbus Court In Counterfeiting Case

Treasury agents have rounded up 17 of an untold number of counterfeit $20 bills believed circulating in the Northern Panhandle and Eastern Ohio and are holding in Columbus two Cleveland men reputedly part of a nationwide ring of counterfeiters.

Over $11,000 in counterfeit bills were found Sunday and Monday in Steubenville and Follansbee and more may turn up in Wheeling, Steubenville and Weirton banks.

While authorities worry that victims of the counterfeiting spree may try to palm off the phony bills on some unsuspecting person, Secret Service men are working on the out-of-state connections of the ring.

A Hancock County sheriff's office in New Cumberland indicated none of the bogus $20's have been circulated farther north than Weirton. None have yet turned up at Waterford Park Race Track, according to track authorities.

Treasury Department agents in Columbus today were questioning William Ralph Wheatley, 27, and Lawrence John Perlatti, 25, in connection with passing a number of the phony bills in Wellsburg.

The two waived preliminary hearings before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Friedman in Steubenville. Unable to make bond of $20,000, they were then taken to Columbus for Federal Court.

Treasury agents have declined to comment on whether the printing facilities for the counterfeit money had been found.

Wheatley and Perlatti were identified as the men who tried to pass a phony $20 bill in a Follans-

Curb Meters Will Be Tried At Wellsville

Wellsville City Council, at a special meeting Monday night, gave third and final reading to legislation to install parking meters on a trial basis, thereby clearing the issue which was clouded following the regular meeting last Tuesday night.

The legislation was adopted last night as it was originally presented. At the meeting last week, Council had changed the wording which meant that technically it was given only one reading.

The error was not caught until after the session was over. Mayor William J. Shoub signed the legislation but scratched off his signature later.

The section changed concerned the usage of revenue to be derived from the meters. The sentence stated that the city's share go toward "street repairs and improvements within the city." The words "and improvemens within the city" were scratched out, thereby changing the entire legislation.

The section was changed back to the original reading at last night's session. All councilmen were present with the exception of Robert Taggart, who was working. He has voted against the legislation at each meeting.

There have been threats of a referendum on the ordinance. The petitions must be filed with the city auditor within 30 days after the ordinance is passed and signed by the mayor. The auditor then has 10 days in which to file the referendum with the Columbiana County Board of Elections.

The legislation will go into effect within 30 days. The ordinance authorizes the Board of Control to enter into a contract with a meter firm to install the meters at the firm's expense for a one-year trial period. The firm also must remove the meters at its expense if necessary.

The legislation goes into effect even if a referendum is filed. The proposal then will be presented on the November ballot for a vote of the public.

Japan's New Army Alerted For Ike Visit

Will Support 25,000 Police In Security Bid Against Violence

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese security officials are alerting troops of Japan's new army to back up police in case violence flares during President Eisenhower's visit.

A Defense Board spokesman said a 2,000-man regiment had been placed on alert and a division of 15,000 stationed in Tokyo could be rushed up if the situation warranted.

The spokesman stressed that responsibility for guarding Eienhower rests with a 25,000-man police force to be mobilized against leftist demonstrations expected when Eisenhower arrives Sunday.

Violence accompanied police raids on union and student headquarters in search of leaders of Friday's Communist-sparked mob attack againt White House press secretary James C. Hagerty's car.

In a series of pre-dawn raids, police rounded up five officials of a leftist labor union and sezied evidence after searching a factory in Kawasaki, south of the capital, and headquarters of the Zengakuren student federation on two Tokyo campuses.

Zengakuren students tried to repel the police with rocks and staves. Eleven policemen were re-

New Talks Set In Gas Strike

Parley At Pittsburgh Fails; Area One Due

While one conference Tuesday in Pittsburgh failed to result in any progress, another was scheduled today in Steubenville in an effort to settle a strike of union members against the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in cities along the Ohio River from Pittsburgh south to New Martinsville.

The private conference in Pittsburgh yesterday between J. C. Peterson, president of the Manufacturers, and Thomas Dunn, regional director of the United Mine Workers District 50, failed to bring any progress toward settlement of a 42-day-old strike by some 1,000 union members in a contract dispute.

Union and company officials of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. will meet today for the first time in a 5-week-old strike of Steubenville utility workers to discuss new contract terms.

The meeting of the Utility Workers Union and Ohio Valley Gas will begin at 1 p. m. in the Ft. Steuben Hotel in Steubenville. The contract of Local 436, Utility Workers Union of America, expired at the end of April, but the men remained on the job until the morning of May 5.

The UWUA and the United Mine Workers District 50, which represents employes in Western Pennsylvania, Steubenville and East Liverpool, have established picket lines at the various company facilities.

Supervisory employes of the two gas companies, affiliates of the Columbia Gas System, are doing some work of the strikers.

The striking East Liverpool employes belong to UMW District 50.

Traubert Gets Vote Ruling

Hancock Board Must Appear For Hearing

CHARLESTON — Hancock County Court has been directed to be represented before the State Supreme Court next Tuesday to show cause why it should not be required to throw out disputed ballots in last month's primary.

Sen. Herbert Traubert (D-Brooke) Monday was granted a hearing in his attempt to nullify 295 Hancock County votes cast for William Tompos in a close primary race for the 1st Senatorial District seat.

The district includes Brooke, Hancock and Ohio counties. Tompos of Weirton, a former House of Delegates member, won over Traubert by 81 votes.

Traubert maintained that 295 ballots cast in Precincts 13, 14 and 15 in Hancock County should be thrown out because they were erroneously marked "sample ballot" instead of "official ballot."

If Traubert's position is upheld, he would beat Tompos by 23 votes —10,824 to 10,801. He was seeking election to his fourth successive Senate term.

Brigitte Bardot Says She Will Quit Movies

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot reportedly says she is going to quit the movies after four more films and start selling antiques.

"My decision is irrevocable," the curvaceous blonde star said in an interview published by the newspaper Paris Jour. "B. B. is dead so far as the cinema is concerned."

Miss Bardot, 25, said it would take her about 11 months to complete the four movies for which she is under contract.

Fire Follows Explosion In Beaver Plant

FREEDOM — A violent explosion and fire ripped an oil products storage tank at the Valvoline Oil Co. here early today, causing heavy damage to two homes and shattering windows in a three-block area.

At 11 a. m., firemen reported the main fire under control but said they were fighting to prevent two similar tanks within 40 feet from exploding. Seven fire companies and an undetermined number of men were fighting the flames with the Beaver Falls department summoned shortly before 11 a. m.

Fighting the fire in a light drizzle and then a heavy downpour, firemen were hampered by a narrow, winding road to the tanks which limited the number of men and trucks that could reach the scene.

Water and chemicals also were being poured on the flames from a highway below the storage area. Firemen also were hampered by the necessity of introducing foamite into the lines to fight the fuel-fed flames.

Industries throughout Beaver Valley, including the Crucible Steel Co. of Midland, were supplying firemen with the chemical as police kept roads open for trucks to bring in supplies.

The explosion at 6 a. m. aroused all in the area and caused the most severe damage to homes on a cliff directly above the tank. Windows

Mayor Who Resigned Cited On Embezzlement

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Chris N. Kafka, who resigned last week as mayor of Milan, Ohio, was charged Monday with embezzling $8,707 from a Columbus insurance firm over the past three years.

Kafka, 50, admitted taking the money from the Buckeye Casualty Co., for whom he was a claims adjuster, according to Huron County Prosecutor Bernard F. Freeman.

The insurance company investigated when a policy holder complained over the raising of his rates because he has been named in frequent accident reports.

Kafka, who is married and has a teen-age daughter, spent the money on living expenses, Freeman said.

Man, 32, Held To Court For Assault On Officer

John F. Ward, 32, of 316 Adolphus St., Chester, was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury on a charge of felonious assault at a preliminary hearing Monday night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

He was released under $1,000 bond. The charge was filed by Patrolman Clarence Lennens, who said Ward beat him with his blackjack in a struggle at the Ward home Saturday.

Lennens was dispatched to the home Saturday night to investigate a call of trouble there. When he arrived, Mrs. Jane Ward said she wanted her husband arrested.

Lennens asked Ward to go to City Hall with him voluntarily and the latter apparently jumped him as he started out the door. In the scuffle, Ward snatched Lennens' blackjack and used it on the police officer.

A complaint of assault and battery filed by Mrs. Ward will be heard by Mayor Burton Ward.

18 Children Drown When Boat Capsizes

WARSAW (AP) — Eighteen school children 13 to 18 years old, a teacher and two boatmen died Monday when a boat capsized on the swift Dunajec River in southern Poland.

Only five children were saved, the newspaper Zycie Warszawy reported.

Police said the burglary in the law office apparently took place sometime between 10 p. m. Saturday and 9:43 a. m. yesterday.

Entry was gained by forcing a lock on the door. The intruder then broke into a cabinet where the money and other valuables were kept, officers said. A sharp metal instrument was used to break open locked drawers in the cabinet, police said.

Police said the intruder obtained some items of women's jewelry worth a total of $800, plus a women's Waltham white gold wristwatch set with 20 diamonds. The watch is worth $200, officers said.

The law firm is operated by Atty. Jason H. Brookes, Atty. John B. McDonald and Atty. Carroll P. Lynch. It has corner offices in the Brookes Building overlooking the Diamond and is accessible by stairways leading from both Market St. and W. 5th St.

Police said at least some of the jewelry is owned by a woman office employe of the law firm. The cash apparently represented collection of fees and receipts from other sources, officers said.

The burglary at the service station was timed between 10 p. m. Monday, when the business closed for the night, and 8 this morning, when it reopened. The intruders broke a pane of glass out of a door leading to the grease pit, then open-

4 Men Injured In Collision Of Car And Truck

Two men were hospitalized and two others injured in a collision of a State Highway Department truck and a car driven by an East Liverpool man Monday afternoon at 1:05 on the East Liverpool-Wellsville super-road just inside Wellsville limits.

Fred Shannon, 50, of 825 Broadway, Wellsville, driver of the truck, and Keith Garner, 19, of 1007 Huston Ave., a passenger in the car driven by Dennis L. Smith, 719 Riley Ave., both are in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital.

Joseph Fraser, 48, of 412 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, a passenger in the truck, was treated at the hospital for contusions of the left head and abrasions of the left elbow. Smith, 20, suffered chest bruises and lacerations of the chin.

Police said the accident still is under investigation.

17 Fake $20's Found After Pair's Arrest

Clevelanders Await Columbus Court In Counterfeiting Case

Treasury agents have rounded up 17 of an untold number of counterfeit $20 bills believed circulating in the Northern Panhandle and Eastern Ohio and are holding in Columbus two Cleveland men reputedly part of a nationwide ring of counterfeiters.

Over $11,000 in counterfeit bills were found Sunday and Monday in Steubenville and Follansbee and more may turn up in Wheeling, Steubenville and Weirton banks.

While authorities worry that victims of the counterfeiting spree may try to palm off the phony bills on some unsuspecting person, Secret Service men are working on the out-of-state connections of the ring.

A Hancock County sheriff's office in New Cumberland indicated none of the bogus $20's have been circulated farther north than Weirton. None have yet turned up at Waterford Park Race Track, according to track authorities.

Treasury Department agents in Columbus today were questioning William Ralph Wheatley, 27, and Lawrence John Perlatti, 25, in connection with passing a number of the phony bills in Wellsburg.

The two waived preliminary hearings before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Friedman in Steubenville. Unable to make bond of $20,000, they were then taken to Columbus for Federal Court.

Treasury agents have declined to comment on whether the printing facilities for the counterfeit money had been found.

Wheatley and Perlatti were identified as the men who tried to pass a phony $20 bill in a Follans-

Curb Meters Will Be Tried At Wellsville

Wellsville City Council, at a special meeting Monday night, gave third and final reading to legislation to install parking meters on a trial basis, thereby clearing the issue which was clouded following the regular meeting last Tuesday night.

The legislation was adopted last night as it was originally presented. At the meeting last week, Council had changed the wording which meant that technically it was given only one reading.

The error was not caught until after the session was over. Mayor William J. Shoub signed the legislation but scratched off his signature later.

The section changed concerned the usage of revenue to be derived from the meters. The sentence stated that the city's share go toward "street repairs and improvements within the city." The words "and improvemens within the city" were scratched out, thereby changing the entire legislation.

The section was changed back to the original reading at last night's session. All councilmen were present with the exception of Robert Taggart, who was working. He has voted against the legislation at each meeting.

There have been threats of a referendum on the ordinance. The petitions must be filed with the city auditor within 30 days after the ordinance is passed and signed by the mayor. The auditor then has 10 days in which to file the referendum with the Columbiana County Board of Elections.

The legislation will go into effect within 30 days. The ordinance authorizes the Board of Control to enter into a contract with a meter firm to install the meters at the firm's expense for a one-year trial period. The firm also must remove the meters at its expense if necessary.

The legislation goes into effect even if a referendum is filed. The proposal then will be presented on the November ballot for a vote of the public.

Japan's New Army Alerted For Ike Visit

Will Support 25,000 Police In Security Bid Against Violence

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese security officials are alerting troops of Japan's new army to back up police in case violence flares during President Eisenhower's visit.

A Defense Board spokesman said a 2,000-man regiment had been placed on alert and a division of 15,000 stationed in Tokyo could be rushed up if the situation warranted.

The spokesman stressed that responsibility for guarding Eienhower rests with a 25,000-man police force to be mobilized against leftist demonstrations expected when Eisenhower arrives Sunday.

Violence accompanied police raids on union and student headquarters in search of leaders of Friday's Communist-sparked mob attack againt White House press secretary James C. Hagerty's car.

In a series of pre-dawn raids, police rounded up five officials of a leftist labor union and sezied evidence after searching a factory in Kawasaki, south of the capital, and headquarters of the Zengakuren student federation on two Tokyo campuses.

Zengakuren students tried to repel the police with rocks and staves. Eleven policemen were re-

New Talks Set In Gas Strike

Parley At Pittsburgh Fails; Area One Due

While one conference Tuesday in Pittsburgh failed to result in any progress, another was scheduled today in Steubenville in an effort to settle a strike of union members against the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in cities along the Ohio River from Pittsburgh south to New Martinsville.

The private conference in Pittsburgh yesterday between J. C. Peterson, president of the Manufacturers, and Thomas Dunn, regional director of the United Mine Workers District 50, failed to bring any progress toward settlement of a 42-day-old strike by some 1,000 union members in a contract dispute.

Union and company officials of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. will meet today for the first time in a 5-week-old strike of Steubenville utility workers to discuss new contract terms.

The meeting of the Utility Workers Union and Ohio Valley Gas will begin at 1 p. m. in the Ft. Steuben Hotel in Steubenville. The contract of Local 436, Utility Workers Union of America, expired at the end of April, but the men remained on the job until the morning of May 5.

The UWUA and the United Mine Workers District 50, which represents employes in Western Pennsylvania, Steubenville and East Liverpool, have established picket lines at the various company facilities.

Supervisory employes of the two gas companies, affiliates of the Columbia Gas System, are doing some work of the strikers.

The striking East Liverpool employes belong to UMW District 50.

Traubert Gets Vote Ruling

Hancock Board Must Appear For Hearing

CHARLESTON — Hancock County Court has been directed to be represented before the State Supreme Court next Tuesday to show cause why it should not be required to throw out disputed ballots in last month's primary.

Sen. Herbert Traubert (D-Brooke) Monday was granted a hearing in his attempt to nullify 295 Hancock County votes cast for William Tompos in a close primary race for the 1st Senatorial District seat.

The district includes Brooke, Hancock and Ohio counties. Tompos of Weirton, a former House of Delegates member, won over Traubert by 81 votes.

Traubert maintained that 295 ballots cast in Precincts 13, 14 and 15 in Hancock County should be thrown out because they were erroneously marked "sample ballot" instead of "official ballot."

If Traubert's position is upheld, he would beat Tompos by 23 votes —10,824 to 10,801. He was seeking election to his fourth successive Senate term.

Brigitte Bardot Says She Will Quit Movies

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot reportedly says she is going to quit the movies after four more films and start selling antiques.

"My decision is irrevocable," the curvaceous blonde star said in an interview published by the newspaper Paris Jour. "B. B. is dead so far as the cinema is concerned."

Miss Bardot, 25, said it would take her about 11 months to complete the four movies for which she is under contract.

Fire Follows Explosion In Beaver Plant

FREEDOM — A violent explosion and fire ripped an oil products storage tank at the Valvoline Oil Co. here early today, causing heavy damage to two homes and shattering windows in a three-block area.

At 11 a. m., firemen reported the main fire under control but said they were fighting to prevent two similar tanks within 40 feet from exploding. Seven fire companies and an undetermined number of men were fighting the flames with the Beaver Falls department summoned shortly before 11 a. m.

Fighting the fire in a light drizzle and then a heavy downpour, firemen were hampered by a narrow, winding road to the tanks which limited the number of men and trucks that could reach the scene.

Water and chemicals also were being poured on the flames from a highway below the storage area. Firemen also were hampered by the necessity of introducing foamite into the lines to fight the fuel-fed flames.

Industries throughout Beaver Valley, including the Crucible Steel Co. of Midland, were supplying firemen with the chemical as police kept roads open for trucks to bring in supplies.

The explosion at 6 a. m. aroused all in the area and caused the most severe damage to homes on a cliff directly above the tank. Windows

Mayor Who Resigned Cited On Embezzlement

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Chris N. Kafka, who resigned last week as mayor of Milan, Ohio, was charged Monday with embezzling $8,707 from a Columbus insurance firm over the past three years.

Kafka, 50, admitted taking the money from the Buckeye Casualty Co., for whom he was a claims adjuster, according to Huron County Prosecutor Bernard F. Freeman.

The insurance company investigated when a policy holder complained over the raising of his rates because he has been named in frequent accident reports.

Kafka, who is married and has a teen-age daughter, spent the money on living expenses, Freeman said.

Man, 32, Held To Court For Assault On Officer

John F. Ward, 32, of 316 Adolphus St., Chester, was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury on a charge of felonious assault at a preliminary hearing Monday night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

He was released under $1,000 bond. The charge was filed by Patrolman Clarence Lennens, who said Ward beat him with his blackjack in a struggle at the Ward home Saturday.

Lennens was dispatched to the home Saturday night to investigate a call of trouble there. When he arrived, Mrs. Jane Ward said she wanted her husband arrested.

Lennens asked Ward to go to City Hall with him voluntarily and the latter apparently jumped him as he started out the door. In the scuffle, Ward snatched Lennens' blackjack and used it on the police officer.

A complaint of assault and battery filed by Mrs. Ward will be heard by Mayor Burton Ward.

18 Children Drown When Boat Capsizes

WARSAW (AP) — Eighteen school children 13 to 18 years old, a teacher and two boatmen died Monday when a boat capsized on the swift Dunajec River in southern Poland.

Only five children were saved, the newspaper Zycie Warszawy reported.

Board Adopts Insurance To Protect Pupils

The Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night authorized the Albert Knapp & Associates of Cincinnati to provide student insurance coverage for district pupils for the 1960-61 term.

Acting on the recommendation of George VanHorne, executive head, the board authorized the Knapp firm to provide policies at $1.50 for pupils in Grades 1 through 6 and $1.75 for Grades 7 through 12.

The policy of the Michigan Life Insurance Co. of the past year was a straight $1.75. The new policies will have broader coverage for football players.

The board hired James Hillsberry of the Elkton Rd. as a utility man for the district. Lloyd Babb, who had been offered the post of librarian and teacher, advised by letter he will not be able to accept.

Discussion was held on a proposed kindergarten program for the summer but no action was taken. Such pre-school classes would be held during the summer because there is lack of classroom space during the regular term.

The board will confer with County Prosecutor William Brokaw concerning a leasing or renting arrangement for the unused Elkton School building to the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council. Two representatives of the council discussed the possibility of utilizing the structure as a central location for their classes.

Discussion was held on providing a garbage disposal unit and ventilating system for a storage room at the high school cafeteria. Lee Kirkland, high school principal, was authorized to attend a meeting of the Ohio High School Principals Association at Columbus June 29-July 1.

The board approved purchase of a photo-copying machine from the Borden Co. of Steubenville. Some funds for the machine have been provided by the graduating class.

Bruce Costanzo was hired as faculty athletic manager, replacing Sam Wagner, who is leaving the school system.

The board granted permission for a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Woods, moving from the East Liverpool district to Calcutta, to attend East Liverpool schools because her mother is a teacher there.

Discussion was held on the leasing of the Oak Grove School, being closed this year, but no action was taken. The next meeting will be June 27.

Bridge Battle Poses Puzzle Of State Lines

When an arrest is made in mid-air over the Ohio River — on the Newell Bridge, that is — does jurisdiction lie with the state of Ohio or the state of West Virginia?

That's one of the questions that will face Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff next Tuesday morning when he hears the case of an East Liverpool man who was arrested on the Newell span early Sunday on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct by fighting.

Since the low water mark of the Ohio generally is considered the Ohio - West Virginia boundary and the arrest was made 100 feet from the toll house on the Ohio side, the question of jurisdiction is expected to be raised.

The defendant is Carroll Z. Mills, 270 Market St., who was taken into custody along with Claude Vernon Roberts, 317 Grant St., Newell. Roberts forfeited two bonds totaling $87 when he failed to appear on the charges Monday.

Atty. Ruth Cox Turner of Chester appeared before Judge Chertoff this morning as counsel for Mills. Although the hearing was set today, Judge Chertoff granted a continuance until next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. because of the illness of Patrolman W. E. Nott, one of the arresting officers.

In another fighting case heard today, Judge Chertoff fined one defendant $50 and costs and set a hearing June 22 for the second defendant, who pleaded not guilty.

Ronald Paul Davis, 762 Woodlawn Ave., entered the guilty plea as the aftermath of a fight on the Diamond June 6. He was brought in on a bench warrant which was served yesterday. The bench warrant was issued after Davis failed to appear as scheduled for a hearing June 7. His $31 appearance bond was forfeited at that time.

The not guilty plea was entered by Edward Reight, 950 Railroad St., allegedly a participant in the same street fight. Judge Chertoff set his bond at $50. Reight's appearance earlier was delayed because he was hospitalized.

8 From Elkton Attend Camp

Eight young people of the Elkton Methodist Church are attending camp at Aldersgate near Leesville this week. They are Bonnie Apple, Barbara Blazer, Gloria Baker, Joan Smith, Margaret Smith, Kenneth Dixon, Terry Milhoan and James Shingleton.

Mary Jo Sturgeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgeon, is attending a Y-Teen leadership conference at Otternbein College at Westerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Apple and Mrs. Leland Baker and daughters, Gloria and Marilyn, visited Mr. and Mrs. Steward Boyd of near Wellsville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Montgomery of New Waterford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eells.

Mrs. Delmar Harrold and daughter, Judy, attended a reception Sunday at Youngstown for Joann Durrett, who was graduated from high school.

Mrs. Edgar Hall of near Elkton entertained a group of children Friday at Willow Grove Park at Lisbon in honor of the ninth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Donna.

Presser's Attorney Files For New Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—Declaring that the conviction of William Presser, head of the Teamsters Union in Ohio, by a U.S. District Court was not supported by substantial evidence, his attorney filed a motion Monday for a new trial.

Presser was convicted June 7 of obstructing justice by mutilating and concealing documents subpoenaed by the Senate Rackets Committee.

Attorney Edwin Knachel filed the motion, which charged also that the government erred in "misquoting evidence to the jury" in the summation of the case.

Knachel's brief attacked as irrelevant certain testimony given by U.S. Sen. John L. McClellan, rackets committee chairman, and Walter J. Sheridan, committee investigator.

Nixon told Republican National Committee members here last Saturday that for anyone to suggest that Presdient Eisenhower should have expressed regrets to Khrushchev for the spy plane incident indicates "a rather naive understanding of the conduct and attitudes of Mr. Khrushchev."

Kennedy said in Oregon last month he believed it might have been possible for Eisenhower to have saved the stillborn summit meeting by expressing such regret.

Previously Kennedy had endorsed the May 20 charge by Adlai E. Stevenson that the administration's handling of the U2 plane incident gave Khrushchev "the crowbar and the sledgehammer to wreck the meeting."

In similar vein, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla), who is trying to feed a draft fire for Adlai I. Stevenson, said that "millions of Americans feel the need for Stevenson's mature leadership in this dangerous time.

Backers of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) have been busy for months trying to build his image as a successful former businessman who has had wide experience in the administrative as well as the legislative side of government.

America's most progressive insurance organization
Nationwide General Insurance Company • home office: Columbus, Ohio

Are you tired of paying the same auto insurance premiums each year—with no reward for accident-free driving? Then you'll be interested in Nationwide's exclusive SAFE-T-RATE plan—the newest idea in auto insurance. Here's a completely new method of setting your auto rates—based on your own driving record.

Here's how it works: you enter the plan at a rate determined by your previous driving history—let's say that's $100 a year. If you maintain an accident-free record, your rate drops a specific amount each year; from $100 to $95 . . . $91 . . . $85 and finally to $81. Here it stays—unless there is a general rate revision or you have an accident.* One accident puts you back to the base rate of $100; additional ones push your premium above the entry rate. But, at any point, you can begin again to reduce your rate by safe driving.

Find out how much you can save with SAFE-T-RATE. Mail the coupon below today. (Note: If you're already a present Nationwide policyholder, there's no change in your policy. If you're interested in SAFE-T-RATE, see your Nationwide representative for full details.)

†If no accident in last 3 years, you enter at base rate as described above.

*An accident is defined as any accident or loss reported to Nationwide—except any loss reported involving only comprehensive coverage, or loss reported under Comprehensive Family Liability (an optional coverage in auto policies.)

NATIONWIDE

Nationwide General Insurance Company • Home Office: Columbus, Ohio

Are you tired of paying the same auto insurance premiums each year—with no reward for accident-free driving? Then you'll be interested in Nationwide's exclusive SAFE-T-RATE plan—the newest idea in auto insurance. Here's a completely new method of setting your auto rates—based on your own driving record.

Here's how it works: you enter the plan at a rate determined by your previous driving history—let's say that's $100 a year. If you maintain an accident-free record, your rate drops a specific amount each year; from $100 to $95 . . . $91 . . . $85 and finally to $81.* Here it stays—unless there is a general rate revision or you have an accident.* One accident puts you back to the base rate of $100; additional ones push your premium above the entry rate. But, at any point, you can begin again to reduce your rate by safe driving.

Find out how much you can save with SAFE-T-RATE. Mail the coupon below today. (Note: If you're already a present Nationwide policyholder, there's no change in your policy. If you're interested in SAFE-T-RATE, see your Nationwide representative for full details.)

†If no accident in last 3 years, you enter at base rate as described above.

*An accident is defined as any accident or loss reported to Nationwide—except any loss reported involving only comprehensive coverage, or loss reported under Comprehensive Family Liability (an optional coverage in auto policies.)

City Woman Takes School Job At Chester

A city woman was employed as principal of a Chester school and the resignation of the system's guidance director was accepted at a meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night.

Miss Helen Allison, 318 Vine St., who resigned recently after serving as principal of the McKinley and Taft schools in East Liverpool, was hired as principal of the Chester Washington School for the 1960-61 term.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Virginia Stanley, guidance director, who was employed last year in an newly-created position.

Mrs. Stanley will return to Oklahoma where her husband, Jack, plans to set up his own business. He is an accountant.

In other action, the board accepted two other resignations, employed six other teachers, and approved purchase of school bus bodies and chassis.

Also submitting resignations which were accepted were Miss Rose Puskarich of Weirton Elementary and Mrs. Jeannie Ridinger of Chester Central School.

Hired, in addition to Miss Allison, were Miss Mary Ann Loufakis, music instructor for Cove in Weirton, and Robert Ray Beggs, Miss Patricia Ann Brown, Mrs. Marsha Kay Stanley, Miss Goldie Barbush and Miss Lois Cook, all elementary instructors.

The board authorized purcahse of three International Model R-1853 chassis at a cost of $3,882.50 each, and one each of Carpenter, Wayne and Superior bodies for $2,973, $2,980 and $2,971 respectively. The bids are subject to approval of the State Board of School Finance.

The Board authorized six to attend a Challenger Workshop vhich opens Monday at West Virginia University in Morgantown. Attending will be Supt. Robert H. Hall, Robert Lindsey and Dale McKinney, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Audrey Litman, elementary supervisor; E. Russell Slack, principal of Wells High School, and Barbara Dofka of Liberty.

A request of the Rev. George Stewart of the New Cumberland Church of the Nazarene for use of the athletic field two nights a week for games and activities was approved.

The board heard routine reports. Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, presided. The next meeting will be Monday night at 8 in New Cumberland.

Athletic Program Set For Palestine Youths

EAST PALESTINE — The annual athletic program for boys 6 to 17 under the co-sponsorship of the Municipal Park Commission and the Boosters Club will begin Monday June 27.

Charles McBride, a science teacher and assistant football coach, and Ted Israel, Negley School principal, have been named directors of the program, according to Paul McCauley, park commission secretary.

The activities are held in the forenoon and include touch football, basketball and softball. Some 150 have registered in the past years.

2 Weirton Youths Held For Burglary Of Store

50,000 Near Strike Deadline

Machinists Voting Today On Convair's Pact Offer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Machinists today were voting on an offer by Convair that could ease the missile industry's labor troubles, as strike deadlines neared for 50,000 other workers.

The International Assn. of Machinists began polling 30,000 members Monday night on an offer that involves field wage rates, per diem pay, relation benefits and senority at Atlas missile bases struck eight days ago.

The strike, stretching from Cape Canaveral in Florida to California's Vandenberg Air Force Base, has tied up the sites that test and fire the mighty Atlas—the United States' only operational intercontinental missile.

IAM spokesmen said, however, that the supplemental offer by Convair concerns only the outside missile sites and does not affect all of Convair's 27,000 employes.

Voting was being conducted at Vandenberg, 165 miles north of Los Angeles; Edwards AFB, Calif.; Cape Canaveral; Offutt AFB, Neb., and Warren AFB, Wyo.

Negotiators continued to meet on an around-the-clock basis in San Diego.

In San Diego the Engineers and Architects Assn. staged a walkout Monday, causing a heavy traffic jam outside the Convair plant.

The EAA said the strike was 80 per cent effective and that 10 per cent of the machinists respected the picket lines despite a IAM directive that they cross the lines because "the company is getting down to serious negotiating."

The Engineers and Architects Assn. said it plans a walkout every Monday until their wage dispute is settled.

Pay scales in the affected plants range from $1.65 an hour for machinists to $1,090 a month for engineers. The unions seek various fringe benefits and pay hikes ranging from 14 cents an hour for machinists to $65 a month for engineers.

Strike deadlines neared for others in the trouble aircraft and missile industry. Bargaining continued in San Francisco between the IAM and Lockheed. A strike is scheduled for midnight tonight that would affect 10,000 workers at the company's California facilities of Van Nuys, Sunnyvale, Santa Cruz and Vandenberg.

Also bargaining were representatives of the United Auto Workers and Douglas. A UAW strike, too, is set for midnight tonight. It would affect 20,000 workers at the company's plants at Long Beach, Calif., Tulsa, Okla., and Charlotte, N.C.

The National Labor Relations Board obtained an injunction in U.S. District Court in Tampa, Fla. ordering the machinists to stop secondary picketing immediately against five firms at Cape Canaveral.

Justice Weygandt 72

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carl V. Weygandt, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, celebrates his 72nd birthday and 45th wedding anniversary tonight with a family gathering at the home of a son, Richard, in suburban Bay Village. Judge Weygandt met and married Mrs. Weygandt in Wooster when he taught high school there.

Suit Settled For $32,500

An out-of-court settlement for $32,500 was reached Monday for an East Liverpool area woman in the death of her husband Aug. 6, 1958, in a truck-car collision.

Mrs. Ruth Ware of M. C. Route 22 had sued for $200,000 in the death of her husband, Fred Ware, 60, who was a passenger in a car driven by Clifford Stone, which was struck from the rear by a truck driven by Charles Tullis, 47, of Rogers on Route 7 near East Fairfield.

Prospective jurors reported yesterday and remained until the settlement was reached.

Arguments showed that a hay wagon broke down on the highway and there was one-way traffic. A milk truck, a fish truck and the Stone car were stopped, waiting to go around when oncoming traffic was clear. A truck driven by Tullis crashed into the rear of the Stone car and ran over the top of it, killing Mr. Ware.

Tullis pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter and was placed on probation in March 1959 by Common Pleas Court.

Speed Meter Purchase Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Issuance of notes for purchase of a $1,000 radar speed meter was approved by Council at a meeting Monday night when legislation was also ordered establishing a 25 - mile - an - hour speed limit on village streets.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman suggested the note issuance plan for buying the radar, which was proposed recently to curb speeding in the community.

At Council's last session, Solicitor Warren Bettis said use of a bond issue to finance the purchase was not specifically authorized by law.

Mayor Leishman said last night there is legal provision for issuance of notes for emergency use, and Council agreed to act on the note proposal, declaring the need was to protect the lives and welfare of the citizens.

At least three pedestrians have been struck by autos so far this year. The notes are to be issued to the cemetery endowment fund and to be paid off at $200 a year with 4 per cent interest. The mayor said fines from radar arrests would be used to pay off the notes.

A petition was received from residents of Lincoln St., asking a speed limit and erection of "children playing" signs. Council agreed to order legislation establishing a 25-mile limit on all community streets other than state routes.

Council also agreed to certify to the Board of Elections a proposal by the Cemetery Board to place a 2-mill levy on the November ballot. The proposed levy would provide funds for Woodland Cemetery.

Council also approved a resolution requesting the Ohio Highway Department place blacktopping of Route 39 from the eastern limits of the village to Carroll County on the 1961 road program.

Mayor Leishman reported he had conferred with highway aides about the project, and they suggested Council submit a resolution.

An ordinance providing rate increases for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in a three-year contract was given second reading.

Council asked the Cemetery Board for specific plans for a proposed storage building.

Legislation was also ordered for a proposed vacating of an alley adjacent to the St. Patrick's Catholic Church, as asked by Fr. Homer Oliver, in order to extend the church parking lot.

The pastor said the alley is not used and other property owners—Orville Madison and James Miller—have agreed to the vacating.

Roy Beckwith, street supervisor, reported a catchbasin on Foundry Hill has been repaired. The purchase of two new tires for the police cruiser was approved.

Rev. William Buell of the Methodist Church gave prayer. The next meeting will be June 27.

Good flavor addition to a vanilla-flavored cornstarch pudding: shredded coconut. If the pudding is made with 3 cups of milk, you'll need about ½ cup of the coconut—plain or toasted.

Ill Girl, Father Await Wednesday Flight To Europe

Thomas McElroy of College St. and his 9-year-old daughter, suffering with a central nervous system disorder, will leave Greater Pittsburgh Airport Wednesday night at 6 for a plane flight to Switzerland and an appointment with famed Dr. Paul Neihans.

The Geneva neuro - surgeon has agreed to examine Deborah McElroy who has an advancing cell deterioration disease of the brain. The child's parents hope Dr. Neihans will use his noted treatment of live cell injections.

In a telephone conversation with parents of a boy afflicted with a similar disease at Alton, Ill., last night, the McElroy's learned the Neihans treatment has restored some of his sight and enabled him to walk and play. He received five injections last spring.

Deborah and her father will fly to New York, then to Geneva arriving there about noon Thursday. McElroy said he does not know yet if the injection treatment will be used, or how many will be required. He expects to return home with the girl within two weeks, probably sooner.

Planners At Midland Air Highway Needs

A discussion of highway needs in the Midland area featured the meeting of the Midland Planning Commission Monday night in the Borough Building.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, said the commission will seek a conference with the State Highway Department to review the problem.

The commission also discussed recreational facilities last night as one of the phases of the master plan.

Three members of the commission, the borough engineer and a representative from Morris-Knowles, Inc., who drew up the plan, attended the session. The next meeting tentatively is scheduled July 11.

Jobless Study Due

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study to determine the causes of chronic unemployment will be undertaken by two cabinet members at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Administrator Donald B. Leach of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and Director Koder M. Collison of the Department of Industrial and Economic Development will conduct the study.

Ministers Plan Union Services

Plans for conducting a series of union services on Sunday evenings during August were discussed at an adjourned meeting of the Wellsville Ministerial Association Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

The services will be held at different churches. A program will be announced later.

The Rev. Arden Beck, secretary, gave the opening prayer. The ministers voted to sponsor a program Sunday, July 3, in the churches to honor alumni of Wellsville High School. The alumni reunion, held every 5 years, will be staged Saturday, July 2. The program is being sponsored by the Wellsville Historical Society.

A committee was named to have a leaflet printed listing the churches and schedule of services for use of the Welcome Wagon.

A discussion was held on ways to improve Good Friday services. A committee was appointed to prepare the service for next year. They will check business places, asking that they co-operate by closing or allowing employes to attend the services.

The pastors also voted to send a contribution to the East Liverpool Ministerial Association to help defray the cost of having cards printed for City Hospital to be mailed the ministers notifying them if a member of their congregation is a patient.

The next meeting is July 11.

NEXT STEP TO SUCCESS

Graduation marks an achievement to be proud of . . . and marks, too, a time to plan the next step toward your goal in life. Today's Industrial world needs highly trained Technicians. Special Technical Training can only be obtained through a Technical School.

What Do You See IN YOUR FUTURE?

Our 3 year Co-Op Plan includes Mechanical Engineering Technology and Electrical Engineering Technology. This is a plan in which industries and schools join forces in an endeavor to train young men in the skills and technology of their chosen field. Each job station in industry will employ two men who will work on alternate twelve week shifts. By alternating twelve week peroids in school and in the plant, a student utilizes the best accepted method of learning, that is, to have periods of learning closely followed by periods of work experience. At the end of three years of training a student will normally find himself an employee of the company with whom he has been co-oping.

Classes will start September 28th, 1960. These classes will be held in the Vocational Wing of the new Salem Senior High School building. In both Mechanical Engineering Technology and Electrical Engineering Technology, a school year consists of a total of forty-eight weeks. There will be two twelve week periods of classroom work and two twelve week periods of employment at some work station in industry each year. A student will receive pay for the weeks he works in industry. During the entire calendar year a student will have two vacation periods of two weeks each. One during the Christmas holidays and one at the close of the school year.

Thomas McElroy of College St. and his 9-year-old daughter, suffering with a central nervous system disorder, will leave Greater Pittsburgh Airport Wednesday night at 6 for a plane flight to Switzerland and an appointment with famed Dr. Paul Neihans.

The Geneva neuro - surgeon has agreed to examine Deborah McElroy who has an advancing cell deterioration disease of the brain. The child's parents hope Dr. Neihans will use his noted treatment of live cell injections.

In a telephone conversation with parents of a boy afflicted with a similar disease at Alton, Ill., last night, the McElroy's learned the Neihans treatment has restored some of his sight and enabled him to walk and play. He received five injections last spring.

Deborah and her father will fly to New York, then to Geneva arriving there about noon Thursday. McElroy said he does not know yet if the injection treatment will be used, or how many will be required. He expects to return home with the girl within two weeks, probably sooner.

Planners At Midland Air Highway Needs

A discussion of highway needs in the Midland area featured the meeting of the Midland Planning Commission Monday night in the Borough Building.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, said the commission will seek a conference with the State Highway Department to review the problem.

The commission also discussed recreational facilities last night as one of the phases of the master plan.

Three members of the commission, the borough engineer and a representative from Morris-Knowles, Inc., who drew up the plan, attended the session. The next meeting tentatively is scheduled July 11.

Jobless Study Due

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study to determine the causes of chronic unemployment will be undertaken by two cabinet members at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Administrator Donald B. Leach of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and Director Koder M. Collison of the Department of Industrial and Economic Development will conduct the study.

Ministers Plan Union Services

Plans for conducting a series of union services on Sunday evenings during August were discussed at an adjourned meeting of the Wellsville Ministerial Association Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

The services will be held at different churches. A program will be announced later.

The Rev. Arden Beck, secretary, gave the opening prayer. The ministers voted to sponsor a program Sunday, July 3, in the churches to honor alumni of Wellsville High School. The alumni reunion, held every 5 years, will be staged Saturday, July 2. The program is being sponsored by the Wellsville Historical Society.

A committee was named to have a leaflet printed listing the churches and schedule of services for use of the Welcome Wagon.

A discussion was held on ways to improve Good Friday services. A committee was appointed to prepare the service for next year. They will check business places, asking that they co-operate by closing or allowing employes to attend the services.

The pastors also voted to send a contribution to the East Liverpool Ministerial Association to help defray the cost of having cards printed for City Hospital to be mailed the ministers notifying them if a member of their congregation is a patient.

The next meeting is July 11.

209 At Scout Session

LISBON — Although activity was curtailed by bad weather, 209 Shawnee District Boy Scouts attended a district camporee held over the weekend at Camp McKinley, according to Carroll Greene, camping and activity chairman. The boys represented 30 patrols.

Girl Hurt In Fall On Steps At Home

A city girl hurt when she slipped on steps at home was admitted Monday to City Hospital where a small boy and a mechanic were treated after separate mishaps.

Nila Straight, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Straight, 1110 Dresden Ave., is in "fairly good" condition with a sprain of the right ankle suffered on steps at home.

Michael Smith, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Carolina Ave., Maplewood, was treated for abrasions and bruises of the mouth received when he fell off a bicycle.

Killed In Collision

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A two-car collision in Springfield Twp. Monday killed Mrs. Rachel Combs, 62, of suburban Perrysburg. She was in a car driven by her son, Robert, 17.

High School Graduates
NEXT STEP TO SUCCESS
Graduation marks an achievement to be proud of . . . and marks, too, a time to plan the next step toward your goal in life. Today's Industrial world needs highly trained Technicians. Special Technical Training can only be obtained through a Technical School.

What Do You See IN YOUR FUTURE?
Our 3 year Co-Op Plan includes Mechanical Engineering Technology and Electrical Engineering Technology. This is a plan in which industries and schools join forces in an endeavor to train young men in the skills and technology of their chosen field. Each job station in industry will employ two men who will work on alternate twelve week shifts. By alternating twelve week peroids in school and in the plant, a student utilizes the best accepted method of learning, that is, to have periods of learning closely followed by periods of work experience. At the end of three years of training a student will normally find himself an employee of the company with whom he has been co-oping.
Classes will start September 28th, 1960. These classes will be held in the Vocational Wing of the new Salem Senior High School building. In both Mechanical Engineering Technology and Electrical Engineering Technology, a school year consists of a total of forty-eight weeks. There will be two twelve week periods of classroom work and two twelve week periods of employment at some work station in industry each year. A student will receive pay for the weeks he works in industry. During the entire calendar year a student will have two vacation periods of two weeks each. One during the Christmas holidays and one at the close of the school year.

Cyrus Eaton Out Of His Element

Cyrus Eaton is one of the finest living examples of the kind of man who is amazingly astute in one line of work but not quite perceptive enough to stay away from other lines of work about which he is incredibly naive.

Mr. Eaton has made two fortunes being a capitalist, because he knows a lot about how to be a capitalist and uses that knowledge very cleverly. But in the field of foreign affairs he appears to be pretty naive, and his inability to resist dabbling in it has not enhanced either his own reputation or his country's.

For instance, when he returned recently from a trip behind the Iron Curtain, he had some pointed remarks to make about the U.S. position in the current international situation.

HE SAID IT was obvious the United States is the only warlike nation because we have circled Russia and China with military bases and our fleet is patrolling the Pacific.

Without going into all the obvious reasons for our defense strategy, we wonder if Mr. Eaton ever has asked himself why the United States has not used this military power to annex to itself more of the earth's area. That would be the logical course of a strong nation committed to warlike policies.

Mr. Eaton deemed members of our State and Commerce departments "pinheads" because they declined to permit American steel firms to supply the Soviet Union with pipe for oil and gas lines. Perhaps he has forgotten the regret this nation felt in World War II when Japan was using material bought from the United States to make war against it.

And perhaps he does not recognize that capitalism's strength in the face of communism lies in part in its dependence upon principle rather than "business at all costs."

Mr. Eaton also criticized the United States for refusing to co-exist with Russia when it co-exists with Great Britain, many of whose industries are socialized.

HE APPARENTLY overlooks the fact that the very term itself implies a willingness to cooperate, to participate mutually in the achievement of a common goal.

That is certainly evident in our relationship with the British. We have our differences with them, but we manage to maintain friendship because we meet each other halfway on the road to a common purpose.

We have shown our good faith repeatedly in efforts to bring peace — economic as well as political — to the world by trying to cooperate with the Communists. They have rewarded us repeatedly with evidences of bad faith, an obstinate unwillingness to participate mutually in efforts for peace, and a flagrant disregard even for the common goal of peace.

Mr. Eaton certainly is entitled to his own opinions. That he has the right to express them is obvious.

He ought to bear that one fact in mind when he compares the United States with the Red lands he praises so vocally.

Worried Socialists In Japan

Leaders of the Socialist party in Japan are reported to be quite concerned because the Communists have taken over their anti-America campaign and threaten to expand the violence of the past several weeks.

It is difficult to work up much sympathy for the Socialist leaders because, as politicians, they could be expected to be aware of the consequences their strategy to bring down the government of Premier Kishi and reject the new mutual security treaty with the United States.

Being closer to the Communists than the more conservative elements, they could be expected to be more aware than anyone else of the Communists' way of doing things.

When one plays footsie with the Reds, one must realize that the Reds can be expected to take over the game when it suits them. That is the way they operate. They are great ones for letting someone else do their dirty work and then moving in when the time is ripe.

Although the Socialists in Japan have maintained throughout their violent demonstrations that they were not remonstrating against President Eisenhower but only dealing with an internal political situation, they hardly could have been ignorant of the fact that the time is now ripe in Communist circles to encourage any maneuver that would diminish the presige of the United States and its chief executive.

Thus the Communists in Tokyo — guided by the Communists in Peiping and Moscow — hardly could be expected to view the political possibilities in Japan in purely local terms. Once the Socialists started barking, the Reds were bound to become the tail that started wagging the dog.

One of the reasons the Socialists leaders are worried now is undoubtedly because they know the majority of Japanese will not support an anti-Eisenhower maneuver directed openly by the Communists. They stand to be repudiated along with the Reds, because they started the whole thing moving.

There are encouraging signs to Americans that this will happen when the President arrives in Japan. We devoutly hope it will. And we won't feel sorry for the regretful Socialists if it does.

Retirement System's Decision

The State Teachers Retirement Board has decided it will not invest its trust funds in land for future highway rights-of-way.

The program was set up by the last General Assembly as a way to reserve land needed for future road projects without tying up State Highway Department money needed for current projects.

It authorizes the highway director to enter into agreements with trustees of the teachers, school employes and public employes retirement funds and the industrial commission under which they would provide the money for the advance right-of-way purchases.

The law provides that the highway director must purchase the land from the investing body in not more than five years after the agreement, paying the original purchase price plus a negotiated return, currently set by the controlling board at 5½ per cent. The statute also limits the amount of money that may be so invested at one time to 10 per cent of the combined or separate total assets of the funds.

THESE PROVISIONS were worked out in several rewritings of the bill in legislative committee in an effort to guarantee the funds' trustees that they would lose no money on the investments and that they would not risk political inroads on their retirement programs.

The law has since been declared constitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court in a friendly test case involving the investment of more than $800,000 by the School Employes Retirement Board.

The decision of the teachers fund board not to participate is based on two principal objections:

1. The Supreme Court ruled that the law did not violate the constitutional limit on state indebtedness because the agreements it authorized would not be an obligation of the State of Ohio which would bind future legislatures.

This raised a doubt in the thinking of the board as to whether it could obtain an adequate guarantee that future highway directors would honor purchase agreements.

2. The five-year limitation on the tenure of the agreements is not consistent with the general investing policy of the board, which prefers to put its money into long-term securities at the most favorable interest rates.

From the board's point of view, these are valid reasons for not participating. The program is entirely voluntary on the part of the boards, and the trustees of the teachers fund are acting in the good conscience of their responsibility to the thousands of teachers who are investing their individual savings in the retirement system.

WE HOPE, however, that their decision will not give a black eye to the advance rights-of-way program. It is sound in principle and over the long term could save the state considerable money through the avoidance of prices skyrocketed by land speculation and through the avoidance of time delays now needed to acquire right-of-way when construction is ready to begin.

We belive the General Assembly acted in good faith in setting up the program and we believe that any highway director sincerely interested in the development of Ohio's road system would act in good faith on any agreement with an investing board.

In short, we respect the teachers board for its decision but we are pleased the school employes board already has joined in the program. We hope the other two boards will follow suit in the future.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Gov. Rockefeller in a dark theatrical season gave performance of "The Man Who Came To Breakfast." (Republicans are glad he didn't stay to dinner.) Our campaign button man is already busy with "Nix On Nixon," "Sock With Rocky" and "Belt With Nelson."

What Nelson and Ike had for breakfast hasn't been disclosed, but Rockefeller may have figured he got muscle building cereal, hard boiled eggs, creamless coffee and jam with a sting in it.

His stand is a shock to all politicians who liked prepackaged conventions, the soft sell and "quiet zone" signs on convention hall door.

He is not thought to have a chance of a snowball in Hades but world is so much like hell that snowballs have been air-conditioned to the heat.

Whatever happens Rocky will add color, dash, vigor and drama to the campaign. Our guess is that he will fill the event with punch and that the GOP convention will always know he is in the dugout ready to pinch-hit.

"Trappings of old in a political campaign cannot suffice. The resounding platitudes, hollow cliches, eloquent evasions and slick slogans are not enough with nation in peril" says Rocky.

But any man who hopes to deprive the politicians of resounding platitudes has his work cut out.

Take away their "hollow cliches" and you put them in repair pit. "Eloquent evasions" are their life blood and they won't endure even a 10 per cent cut in either the evasion or eloquence.

(We have known politicians who have spent most of their life in eloquent evasion training schools. As for "slick slogans" all politicians regard them as having vitamins, hair restorers, confidence builders and hope vitalizers.)

Another Rockefeller Philanthropy

Adlai Stars Minus Labor Applause

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

There was one successful one-man show here the other day which was off-stage as well as off the then blacked-out Broadway. The star was Adlai Stevenson. He was in rare humor. So were the 200 admirers packed into the elegant mauve - decade room of the exclusive Lotus Club.

Victor Riesel

He laughed and they laughed when he said, with smiling urbanity, that he did not know why people laughed when he said he was not a candidate for the presidency.

But, Stevenson did not disappoint those who paid $5 to share the cocktail hour with him. There were serious moments. The "Governor" tore into the President of the U.S. "Golf," said Stevenson, "was more important to Mr. Eisenhower than the summit.

"After Paris, the President rushed immediately to the golf course and church. The sermon at the church was one of solace."

THERE WERE other attacks on the President, who was charged with muddying the international waters before and after the summit. This was a short one-man appearance but there were standbys, as we say in the trade. Flanking Stevenson were Minnesota's Eugene McCarthy and Idaho's Frank Church, the Democratic party's national convention keynoter.

Actually the cocktail party was arranged to help raise funds for The National Committee for an Effective Congress. But there was no doubt that those present believed that the most effective strategy for a Congress they thought would be effective was through the presidential nomination of Adlai Stevenson.

There was planning for a national Stevenson ticket that night (Thursday, June 2). But neither among those planning nor among those present were any labor leaders.

It was obvious that this year, unlike '52 and '56, the man from Illinois would have virtually no labor support.

Fact is the union chiefs plan to buck him. They do not believe he has anything but a handful of delegates.

They believe Stevenson's only chance for the nomination is to win by default in a deadlock between John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

If they can help it, the national labor chiefs do not plan to let this happen.

They do not think they can come anywhere near winning with the man who lost for them twice. So early and for the duration.

They'll be fighting for their first choice — John Kennedy. Then, if necessary, they will swing to either Stuart Symington or Lyndon Johnson.

And that's as true as it is strange for a group of union leaders who turned their '52 and '56 national conventions into mass rallies for Stevenson.

THESE LABOR MEN make a science of the practical. It is, for example, not generally known that Walter Reuther strongly backed Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic nomination in 1948.

Reuther fought inside the Auto Union high command until he stood alone for the general. Reuther wanted a Democratic victory. He did not believe Truman could win.

Finally, when word came that Eisenhower would not make the race on the Democratic ticket, Reuther swung to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Today the labor leaders feel their best chance is with John Kennedy but that the convention is too wide open to make his nomination a certainty.

That is why, for the first time in many years, AFL-CIO President George Meany will stay for the duration of a Democratic national nominating convention. Last time, he merely presented the AFL-CIO's platform. Then he left.

This time he will personally direct the strategy of the bloc of labor delegates whose influence outnumbers their voting strength.

Not far behind will be Reuther and such politically powerful pro-Kennedy labor men as Alex Rose and Dave Dubinsky, leaders of New York's pivotal Liberal party.

Take it for granted that Stevenson has been told by the nation's labor chiefs to include them out. He'll have to go it alone this time.

Precept And Example

By Raymond Moley

From now on until July and perhaps later, the political atmosphere will be graced with sundry essays by Adlai Stevenson.

He seems to have arrived at the conceit that to start rebuilding the United States he should be employed as the architect.

Running through all his utterances, spoken and written, is his dismay that the United States under Republican executive leadership has drifted into aimless and uncharted space.

"Purpose" is his favorite word but the idea is set forth in many different arrangements of words. Other favorite words are "resolute," "firm," "driving," etc.

A number of choice examples can be found in a great rumble-jumble of words which he contributed to Life magazine recently under the title, "Our Goals: National Purpose."

It is difficult, in reviewing the facts of Stevenson's life, to find that he ever had a consuming purpose except to have a good forum for the graceful expression of platitudes. The fact is that he has been living in a draft all his life.

Most of the following facts are drawn from the most revealing book by his sister, Elizabeth Stevenson Ives, "My Brother Adlai."

HIS GRANDFATHER drafted him to go to Choate, "because it would give him the solid preparation needed to get into Princeton."

After Princeton, his father decided that he should go to the Harvard Law School. The training there was very rigorous and after one year and a part of a second year, Adlai dropped out to return to Illinois. There he spent a while writing for the family paper.

The academic record at all three schools was undistinguished.

His sense of "direction" while at the Harvard Law School is revealed by his sister in these terms: "Ad told me a few nights ago he wanted to go to law school one year, then Oxford one year and then work on a London newspaper one year — and if in the end he chose to join the reorganizers of the diplomatic corps, would father be very mad?"

This is the record of a man who said in the Life article, "We need a reorientation of our ideals and tastes, the strenuous stretching of mental and artistic talent, the exaltation of excellence above social approval and of mental achievement above quick material success."

After a few years finishing the study of law, writing for the family paper, and casually practicing, Stevenson in 1933 was "drafted" by George Peek for the Agriculture adjustment administration in Washington.

The next draft was when Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy, called him to Washington to do odd jobs in his office.

In many instances in between, there were small missions in foreign affairs.

Then Stevenson was "drafted" to run for governor of Illinois by the bosses, including Jake Arvey.

Finally, some friends connived a "draft" for the presidential nomination in 1952.

OTHER INTERESTING phrases in the Life article are, "great embracing national purpose," "dedication to the goal," "prepared to face rigors," "in terms of difficulties overcome" and "firm purpose."

Since these animadversions about our national and governmental incapacity to work hard and to have a "purpose" are directly and by inference meant to be criticisms of President Eisenhower, there is invited a comparison of the life of this dilettante with the career of Dwight Eisenhower as depicted in any of his biographies.

That is the story of a man who labored prodigiously to become a better and better soldier, a man of excellence in his academic achievements, of drive and direction.

The test of personal character is valid, especially when a man is seeking great responsible office through downgrading the people whom he wants to supplant.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin of East Liverpool entered as a candidate for Republican State Central Committee from the 18th Congressional District at the August primary.

Max Wright, Chester City Hall caretaker, was sworn in as patrolman by Mayor A. Earl Wilson.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Receipts from sales tax in Columbiana County during the week ending June 1 were 17 per cent higher than the comparable week in 1939.

Chester City Council discussed plans for the purchase of a new truck after Percy Willison, chairman of the street committee, said that trucks were in bad conditions.

City employes removed two poplar trees, the roots of which clogged Erie St. sewers.

TEN YEARS AGO — Carl Warren Mortland of Main St., Wellsville, was graduated from the College of Wooster with a bachelor of arts degree in history.

Odd Facts

What is considered the highest dive into water by a man in history was the one of 205 feet 9 inches made by Alex Wickham, at Melbourne, Australia, some years back. He lost consciousness about halfway down, his bathing suit was ripped from his body as he hit the water in a perfect dive, and his body was black and blue for months afterwards.

The United States' first atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus, was named for the fictional craft described by Jules Verne in his famous novel "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

Popular Fallacy

By David Lawrence

Independent Voters Seen Less Informed

A myth has been built up that the independents constitute the best-informed group in the entire electorate.

David Lawrence

This writer has never accepted such a view and has contended just the opposite—namely, that the independents are swayed much more by superficial than critical analysis of the issues.

A book, entitled The American Voter, has just been published which throws considerable light on the subjec. Since it comes from academic sources, it might attract the attention of the many academicians who have from time to time been unwittingly exaggerating the importance of the independent vote.

The book was written by Angus Campbell, Philip Converse, Warren Miller and Donald Stokes—members of the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan. All of them are in the field of political science and have participated in many surveys and researches on voter attitudes.

Far from confirming the widespread impression that independents are thoughtful, well-informed persons who have a profound knowledge of political issues, the Michigan experts contend that the voter who is consistently identified with one or the other of the political parties is likely to know more about the issues than is the independent.

"The stronger the individual's sense of attachment to one of the parties, the greater his psychological involvement in political affairs.

"The association is easily missed in popular accounts of electoral behavior. The ideal of the independent citizen, attentive to politics, concerned with the course of government, who weighs the rival appeals of a campaign and reaches a judgment that is unswayed by partisan prejudice, has had such a vigorous history in the tradition of political reform—and has such a hold on civic education today—that one could easily suppose that the habitual partisan has the more limited interest and concern with politics.

"But if the usual image of the independent voter is intended as more than a normative ideal, it fits poorly the characteristics of the independents in our samples.

"Far from being more attentive, interested and informed, independents tend as a group to be somewhat less involved in politics. They have somewhat poorer knowledge of the issues, their image of the candidates is fainter, their interest in the campaign is less, their concern over the outcome is relatively slight and their choice between competing candidates, although it is indeed made later in the campaign, seems much less to spring from discoverable evaluations of the elements of national politics."

Detailed studies and polls show that of those citizens who are strongly identified with one or the other of the parties, 82 per cent "care very much" whereas 18 per cent "do not care very much or don't care at all."

This contrasts with the record of the so-called independents who are divided almost 50-50 between those who "care very much" and those who "do not care very much or don't care at all."

THE AUTHORS say: "The individual who has a strong and continuing involvement in politics is more likely to develop a commitment to one or the other of the major parties.

"And the individual who has such a commitment is likely to have his interest and concern with politics sustained at a higher level."

This is but another way of saying that the so-called independents are people who have not learned much from lofty speeches or pronouncements and are swayed in each campaign by emotional or economic considerations.

This is the very opposite of the position often expressed by the so-called liberals, who have tried consistently to foster the idea that the independent holds the balance of power.

The truth is that the word independent is a misnomer. In England, they are far more realistic about it.

They call the uncertain voters "switch" voters. This is because they go from party to party in each election, depending upon which way the wind is blowing from the economic standpoint.

Many of these "switch" voters do not go to the polls at all. If they are satisfied with current economic conditions, they are more than likely to stay at home rather than bother to cast a vote.

When, however, they are aroused by some issue, whether economic or emotional—like corruption or a threat of war—these same voters show up at the polls.

The intregity of an administration can become the important issue in a national campaign and emotions can be aroused over war and peace.

In the absence of any emotional issue, economic considerations usually influence the vast majority of the voters.

If they are satisfied, they continue the party in power. If they are displeased, they turn to the opposite party.

Great Play On Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra.

Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

For a pair being shy, they manage amazingly well to keep their names in the headlines.

Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

Stevenson makes speeches explaining his own five-point "grand strategy for peace" and issues statements criticizing the Republicans and President Eisenhower.

He termed the administration's handling of the spy plane a blunder, at the same time speaking out against partisan fault-finding at this time.

Rockefeller criticizes the Eisenhower administration in a number of fields, but says "I think the administration has done a wonderful job."

He shocked the Republicans last week by calling Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out of the political bushes and say where he stands.

Rockefeller says it is "urgently necessary" for Nixon to state his position on the issues but that, even if Nixon doesn't, he will support the vice president if the latter gets the nomination.

The governor says one of the vital signs of national political health is debate within the party. But when Nixon challenged him to a public discussion, Rockefeller didn't accept.

Playing hard to get worked well for Stevenson in 1952. That was the year the Democrats picked him the first time. In 1956 he got their nomination again but that time he campaigned for it.

Last week Eleanor Roosevelt got a telegram from Stevenson which made her finally believe he was a candidate because of Stevenson's wording. He told her: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

She said that made it "clear Mr. Stevenson is a candidate." This was too positive for Stevenson who then issued a statement:

"I will not seek the nominaton for president by the Democratic convention. Therefore I am not a candidate."

But he didn't say he would object if the nomination were offered to him.

Mr. Eaton has made two fortunes being a capitalist, because he knows a lot about how to be a capitalist and uses that knowledge very cleverly. But in the field of foreign affairs he appears to be pretty naive, and his inability to resist dabbling in it has not enhanced either his own reputation or his country's.

For instance, when he returned recently from a trip behind the Iron Curtain, he had some pointed remarks to make about the U.S. position in the current international situation.

HE SAID IT was obvious the United States is the only warlike nation because we have circled Russia and China with military bases and our fleet is patrolling the Pacific.

Without going into all the obvious reasons for our defense strategy, we wonder if Mr. Eaton ever has asked himself why the United States has not used this military power to annex to itself more of the earth's area. That would be the logical course of a strong nation committed to warlike policies.

Mr. Eaton deemed members of our State and Commerce departments "pinheads" because they declined to permit American steel firms to supply the Soviet Union with pipe for oil and gas lines. Perhaps he has forgotten the regret this nation felt in World War II when Japan was using material bought from the United States to make war against it.

And perhaps he does not recognize that capitalism's strength in the face of communism lies in part in its dependence upon principle rather than "business at all costs."

Mr. Eaton also criticized the United States for refusing to co-exist with Russia when it co-exists with Great Britain, many of whose industries are socialized.

HE APPARENTLY overlooks the fact that the very term itself implies a willingness to cooperate, to participate mutually in the achievement of a common goal.

That is certainly evident in our relationship with the British. We have our differences with them, but we manage to maintain friendship because we meet each other halfway on the road to a common purpose.

We have shown our good faith repeatedly in efforts to bring peace — economic as well as political — to the world by trying to cooperate with the Communists. They have rewarded us repeatedly with evidences of bad faith, an obstinate unwillingness to participate mutually in efforts for peace, and a flagrant disregard even for the common goal of peace.

Mr. Eaton certainly is entitled to his own opinions. That he has the right to express them is obvious.

He ought to bear that one fact in mind when he compares the United States with the Red lands he praises so vocally.

Worried Socialists In Japan

Leaders of the Socialist party in Japan are reported to be quite concerned because the Communists have taken over their anti-America campaign and threaten to expand the violence of the past several weeks.

It is difficult to work up much sympathy for the Socialist leaders because, as politicians, they could be expected to be aware of the consequences their strategy to bring down the government of Premier Kishi and reject the new mutual security treaty with the United States.

Being closer to the Communists than the more conservative elements, they could be expected to be more aware than anyone else of the Communists' way of doing things.

When one plays footsie with the Reds, one must realize that the Reds can be expected to take over the game when it suits them. That is the way they operate. They are great ones for letting someone else do their dirty work and then moving in when the time is ripe.

Although the Socialists in Japan have maintained throughout their violent demonstrations that they were not remonstrating against President Eisenhower but only dealing with an internal political situation, they hardly could have been ignorant of the fact that the time is now ripe in Communist circles to encourage any maneuver that would diminish the presige of the United States and its chief executive.

Thus the Communists in Tokyo — guided by the Communists in Peiping and Moscow — hardly could be expected to view the political possibilities in Japan in purely local terms. Once the Socialists started barking, the Reds were bound to become the tail that started wagging the dog.

One of the reasons the Socialists leaders are worried now is undoubtedly because they know the majority of Japanese will not support an anti-Eisenhower maneuver directed openly by the Communists. They stand to be repudiated along with the Reds, because they started the whole thing moving.

There are encouraging signs to Americans that this will happen when the President arrives in Japan. We devoutly hope it will. And we won't feel sorry for the regretful Socialists if it does.

Retirement System's Decision

The State Teachers Retirement Board has decided it will not invest its trust funds in land for future highway rights-of-way.

The program was set up by the last General Assembly as a way to reserve land needed for future road projects without tying up State Highway Department money needed for current projects.

It authorizes the highway director to enter into agreements with trustees of the teachers, school employes and public employes retirement funds and the industrial commission under which they would provide the money for the advance right-of-way purchases.

The law provides that the highway director must purchase the land from the investing body in not more than five years after the agreement, paying the original purchase price plus a negotiated return, currently set by the controlling board at 5½ per cent. The statute also limits the amount of money that may be so invested at one time to 10 per cent of the combined or separate total assets of the funds.

THESE PROVISIONS were worked out in several rewritings of the bill in legislative committee in an effort to guarantee the funds' trustees that they would lose no money on the investments and that they would not risk political inroads on their retirement programs.

The law has since been declared constitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court in a friendly test case involving the investment of more than $800,000 by the School Employes Retirement Board.

The decision of the teachers fund board not to participate is based on two principal objections:

1. The Supreme Court ruled that the law did not violate the constitutional limit on state indebtedness because the agreements it authorized would not be an obligation of the State of Ohio which would bind future legislatures.

This raised a doubt in the thinking of the board as to whether it could obtain an adequate guarantee that future highway directors would honor purchase agreements.

2. The five-year limitation on the tenure of the agreements is not consistent with the general investing policy of the board, which prefers to put its money into long-term securities at the most favorable interest rates.

From the board's point of view, these are valid reasons for not participating. The program is entirely voluntary on the part of the boards, and the trustees of the teachers fund are acting in the good conscience of their responsibility to the thousands of teachers who are investing their individual savings in the retirement system.

WE HOPE, however, that their decision will not give a black eye to the advance rights-of-way program. It is sound in principle and over the long term could save the state considerable money through the avoidance of prices skyrocketed by land speculation and through the avoidance of time delays now needed to acquire right-of-way when construction is ready to begin.

We belive the General Assembly acted in good faith in setting up the program and we believe that any highway director sincerely interested in the development of Ohio's road system would act in good faith on any agreement with an investing board.

In short, we respect the teachers board for its decision but we are pleased the school employes board already has joined in the program. We hope the other two boards will follow suit in the future.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Gov. Rockefeller in a dark theatrical season gave performance of "The Man Who Came To Breakfast." (Republicans are glad he didn't stay to dinner.) Our campaign button man is already busy with "Nix On Nixon," "Sock With Rocky" and "Belt With Nelson."

What Nelson and Ike had for breakfast hasn't been disclosed, but Rockefeller may have figured he got muscle building cereal, hard boiled eggs, creamless coffee and jam with a sting in it.

His stand is a shock to all politicians who liked prepackaged conventions, the soft sell and "quiet zone" signs on convention hall door.

He is not thought to have a chance of a snowball in Hades but world is so much like hell that snowballs have been air-conditioned to the heat.

Whatever happens Rocky will add color, dash, vigor and drama to the campaign. Our guess is that he will fill the event with punch and that the GOP convention will always know he is in the dugout ready to pinch-hit.

"Trappings of old in a political campaign cannot suffice. The resounding platitudes, hollow cliches, eloquent evasions and slick slogans are not enough with nation in peril" says Rocky.

But any man who hopes to deprive the politicians of resounding platitudes has his work cut out.

Take away their "hollow cliches" and you put them in repair pit. "Eloquent evasions" are their life blood and they won't endure even a 10 per cent cut in either the evasion or eloquence.

(We have known politicians who have spent most of their life in eloquent evasion training schools. As for "slick slogans" all politicians regard them as having vitamins, hair restorers, confidence builders and hope vitalizers.)

Adlai Stars Minus Labor Applause

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

There was one successful one-man show here the other day which was off-stage as well as off the then blacked-out Broadway. The star was Adlai Stevenson. He was in rare humor. So were the 200 admirers packed into the elegant mauve - decade room of the exclusive Lotus Club.

Victor Riesel

He laughed and they laughed when he said, with smiling urbanity, that he did not know why people laughed when he said he was not a candidate for the presidency.

But, Stevenson did not disappoint those who paid $5 to share the cocktail hour with him. There were serious moments. The "Governor" tore into the President of the U.S. "Golf," said Stevenson, "was more important to Mr. Eisenhower than the summit.

"After Paris, the President rushed immediately to the golf course and church. The sermon at the church was one of solace."

THERE WERE other attacks on the President, who was charged with muddying the international waters before and after the summit. This was a short one-man appearance but there were standbys, as we say in the trade. Flanking Stevenson were Minnesota's Eugene McCarthy and Idaho's Frank Church, the Democratic party's national convention keynoter.

Actually the cocktail party was arranged to help raise funds for The National Committee for an Effective Congress. But there was no doubt that those present believed that the most effective strategy for a Congress they thought would be effective was through the presidential nomination of Adlai Stevenson.

There was planning for a national Stevenson ticket that night (Thursday, June 2). But neither among those planning nor among those present were any labor leaders.

It was obvious that this year, unlike '52 and '56, the man from Illinois would have virtually no labor support.

Fact is the union chiefs plan to buck him. They do not believe he has anything but a handful of delegates.

They believe Stevenson's only chance for the nomination is to win by default in a deadlock between John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

If they can help it, the national labor chiefs do not plan to let this happen.

They do not think they can come anywhere near winning with the man who lost for them twice. So early and for the duration.

They'll be fighting for their first choice — John Kennedy. Then, if necessary, they will swing to either Stuart Symington or Lyndon Johnson.

And that's as true as it is strange for a group of union leaders who turned their '52 and '56 national conventions into mass rallies for Stevenson.

THESE LABOR MEN make a science of the practical. It is, for example, not generally known that Walter Reuther strongly backed Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic nomination in 1948.

Reuther fought inside the Auto Union high command until he stood alone for the general. Reuther wanted a Democratic victory. He did not believe Truman could win.

Finally, when word came that Eisenhower would not make the race on the Democratic ticket, Reuther swung to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Today the labor leaders feel their best chance is with John Kennedy but that the convention is too wide open to make his nomination a certainty.

That is why, for the first time in many years, AFL-CIO President George Meany will stay for the duration of a Democratic national nominating convention. Last time, he merely presented the AFL-CIO's platform. Then he left.

This time he will personally direct the strategy of the bloc of labor delegates whose influence outnumbers their voting strength.

Not far behind will be Reuther and such politically powerful pro-Kennedy labor men as Alex Rose and Dave Dubinsky, leaders of New York's pivotal Liberal party.

Take it for granted that Stevenson has been told by the nation's labor chiefs to include them out. He'll have to go it alone this time.

Precept And Example

By Raymond Moley

From now on until July and perhaps later, the political atmosphere will be graced with sundry essays by Adlai Stevenson.

He seems to have arrived at the conceit that to start rebuilding the United States he should be employed as the architect.

Running through all his utterances, spoken and written, is his dismay that the United States under Republican executive leadership has drifted into aimless and uncharted space.

"Purpose" is his favorite word but the idea is set forth in many different arrangements of words. Other favorite words are "resolute," "firm," "driving," etc.

A number of choice examples can be found in a great rumble-jumble of words which he contributed to Life magazine recently under the title, "Our Goals: National Purpose."

It is difficult, in reviewing the facts of Stevenson's life, to find that he ever had a consuming purpose except to have a good forum for the graceful expression of platitudes. The fact is that he has been living in a draft all his life.

Most of the following facts are drawn from the most revealing book by his sister, Elizabeth Stevenson Ives, "My Brother Adlai."

HIS GRANDFATHER drafted him to go to Choate, "because it would give him the solid preparation needed to get into Princeton."

After Princeton, his father decided that he should go to the Harvard Law School. The training there was very rigorous and after one year and a part of a second year, Adlai dropped out to return to Illinois. There he spent a while writing for the family paper.

The academic record at all three schools was undistinguished.

His sense of "direction" while at the Harvard Law School is revealed by his sister in these terms: "Ad told me a few nights ago he wanted to go to law school one year, then Oxford one year and then work on a London newspaper one year — and if in the end he chose to join the reorganizers of the diplomatic corps, would father be very mad?"

This is the record of a man who said in the Life article, "We need a reorientation of our ideals and tastes, the strenuous stretching of mental and artistic talent, the exaltation of excellence above social approval and of mental achievement above quick material success."

After a few years finishing the study of law, writing for the family paper, and casually practicing, Stevenson in 1933 was "drafted" by George Peek for the Agriculture adjustment administration in Washington.

The next draft was when Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy, called him to Washington to do odd jobs in his office.

In many instances in between, there were small missions in foreign affairs.

Then Stevenson was "drafted" to run for governor of Illinois by the bosses, including Jake Arvey.

Finally, some friends connived a "draft" for the presidential nomination in 1952.

OTHER INTERESTING phrases in the Life article are, "great embracing national purpose," "dedication to the goal," "prepared to face rigors," "in terms of difficulties overcome" and "firm purpose."

Since these animadversions about our national and governmental incapacity to work hard and to have a "purpose" are directly and by inference meant to be criticisms of President Eisenhower, there is invited a comparison of the life of this dilettante with the career of Dwight Eisenhower as depicted in any of his biographies.

That is the story of a man who labored prodigiously to become a better and better soldier, a man of excellence in his academic achievements, of drive and direction.

The test of personal character is valid, especially when a man is seeking great responsible office through downgrading the people whom he wants to supplant.

Down Through The Years

Odd Facts

What is considered the highest dive into water by a man in history was the one of 205 feet 9 inches made by Alex Wickham, at Melbourne, Australia, some years back. He lost consciousness about halfway down, his bathing suit was ripped from his body as he hit the water in a perfect dive, and his body was black and blue for months afterwards.

The United States' first atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus, was named for the fictional craft described by Jules Verne in his famous novel "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

Popular Fallacy

By David Lawrence

Independent Voters Seen Less Informed

A myth has been built up that the independents constitute the best-informed group in the entire electorate.

David Lawrence

This writer has never accepted such a view and has contended just the opposite—namely, that the independents are swayed much more by superficial than critical analysis of the issues.

A book, entitled The American Voter, has just been published which throws considerable light on the subjec. Since it comes from academic sources, it might attract the attention of the many academicians who have from time to time been unwittingly exaggerating the importance of the independent vote.

The book was written by Angus Campbell, Philip Converse, Warren Miller and Donald Stokes—members of the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan. All of them are in the field of political science and have participated in many surveys and researches on voter attitudes.

Far from confirming the widespread impression that independents are thoughtful, well-informed persons who have a profound knowledge of political issues, the Michigan experts contend that the voter who is consistently identified with one or the other of the political parties is likely to know more about the issues than is the independent.

"The stronger the individual's sense of attachment to one of the parties, the greater his psychological involvement in political affairs.

"The association is easily missed in popular accounts of electoral behavior. The ideal of the independent citizen, attentive to politics, concerned with the course of government, who weighs the rival appeals of a campaign and reaches a judgment that is unswayed by partisan prejudice, has had such a vigorous history in the tradition of political reform—and has such a hold on civic education today—that one could easily suppose that the habitual partisan has the more limited interest and concern with politics.

"But if the usual image of the independent voter is intended as more than a normative ideal, it fits poorly the characteristics of the independents in our samples.

"Far from being more attentive, interested and informed, independents tend as a group to be somewhat less involved in politics. They have somewhat poorer knowledge of the issues, their image of the candidates is fainter, their interest in the campaign is less, their concern over the outcome is relatively slight and their choice between competing candidates, although it is indeed made later in the campaign, seems much less to spring from discoverable evaluations of the elements of national politics."

Detailed studies and polls show that of those citizens who are strongly identified with one or the other of the parties, 82 per cent "care very much" whereas 18 per cent "do not care very much or don't care at all."

This contrasts with the record of the so-called independents who are divided almost 50-50 between those who "care very much" and those who "do not care very much or don't care at all."

THE AUTHORS say: "The individual who has a strong and continuing involvement in politics is more likely to develop a commitment to one or the other of the major parties.

"And the individual who has such a commitment is likely to have his interest and concern with politics sustained at a higher level."

This is but another way of saying that the so-called independents are people who have not learned much from lofty speeches or pronouncements and are swayed in each campaign by emotional or economic considerations.

This is the very opposite of the position often expressed by the so-called liberals, who have tried consistently to foster the idea that the independent holds the balance of power.

The truth is that the word independent is a misnomer. In England, they are far more realistic about it.

They call the uncertain voters "switch" voters. This is because they go from party to party in each election, depending upon which way the wind is blowing from the economic standpoint.

Many of these "switch" voters do not go to the polls at all. If they are satisfied with current economic conditions, they are more than likely to stay at home rather than bother to cast a vote.

When, however, they are aroused by some issue, whether economic or emotional—like corruption or a threat of war—these same voters show up at the polls.

The intregity of an administration can become the important issue in a national campaign and emotions can be aroused over war and peace.

In the absence of any emotional issue, economic considerations usually influence the vast majority of the voters.

If they are satisfied, they continue the party in power. If they are displeased, they turn to the opposite party.

Great Play On Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra.

Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

For a pair being shy, they manage amazingly well to keep their names in the headlines.

Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

Stevenson makes speeches explaining his own five-point "grand strategy for peace" and issues statements criticizing the Republicans and President Eisenhower.

He termed the administration's handling of the spy plane a blunder, at the same time speaking out against partisan fault-finding at this time.

Rockefeller criticizes the Eisenhower administration in a number of fields, but says "I think the administration has done a wonderful job."

He shocked the Republicans last week by calling Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out of the political bushes and say where he stands.

Rockefeller says it is "urgently necessary" for Nixon to state his position on the issues but that, even if Nixon doesn't, he will support the vice president if the latter gets the nomination.

The governor says one of the vital signs of national political health is debate within the party. But when Nixon challenged him to a public discussion, Rockefeller didn't accept.

Playing hard to get worked well for Stevenson in 1952. That was the year the Democrats picked him the first time. In 1956 he got their nomination again but that time he campaigned for it.

Last week Eleanor Roosevelt got a telegram from Stevenson which made her finally believe he was a candidate because of Stevenson's wording. He told her: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

She said that made it "clear Mr. Stevenson is a candidate." This was too positive for Stevenson who then issued a statement:

"I will not seek the nominaton for president by the Democratic convention. Therefore I am not a candidate."

But he didn't say he would object if the nomination were offered to him.

Tax Millage Increased

Board At Midland Approves Budget

The Midland Board of Education Monday evening approved a final budget of $866,854 for the 1960-1961 school year and set millage on real estate at 25 mills, an increase of 2 mills over 1959-1960.

The budget is $6,930 higher than the tentative budget adopted May 9, due mainly to a $210 annual salary increase to teachers totaling $6,615.

Some $182,924 will be obtained through loans. Sources of revenue include $506,850 from real estate assessments, $120,100 from tuition, property withdrawn from duplicate, delinquent taxes, rental and miscellaneous.

REVENUE ALSO IS expected from the state amounting to $49,850, temporary loans, sale of supplies and equipment, fines, book loss, etc., totaling $183,124 and with an anticipated balance on June 30 of $6,930, all totaling $866,854.

Expenditures for the coming year include general control, $33,624; instruction, $429,393; auxiliary agencies, $33,048, up $310 over the tentative budget; plant operation, $90,126; maintenance, $16,725; fixed charges, $37,074; debt service, $219,979, and capital outlay, $6,885, totaling $886,854.

The budget is $97,316 higher than the $769,538 final budget adopted in 1959. Millage was increased three years ago by one mill.

The budget was approved on a motion by James Morrison, finance chairman.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT'S tax duplicates are expected to be sent out about July 1. There will be a 2 per cent discount for early payers and a 5 per cent penalty for those late.

Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, will turn the duplicate over to Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, for collection.

The board approved payment of taxes in four installments, if residents desire.

They would pay equal installments in September, October, November and December at face value. There will be no discount or abatement under the installment plan.

Supt. Ralph H. Jewell told the board that last night's meeting customarily was the time for making fund transfers but he had no recommendations since there is no money to transfer.

Salaries for professional and non-professional employes were approved effective July 1 or on the new year for each employe.

THE BEAVER County Court of Quarter Sessions informed the board by letter that the bond for Presutti, tax collector, has been increased from $250,000 to $300,000 for 1960-1961.

Supplies for the coming year were approved on motion by Edward Cilli, property chairman. They include textbooks, $7,933.82; instructional equipment, $530.16, and physical education supplies and equipment, $1,274.60.

Fred Landram of Pittsburgh was hired to install a new sound system at the athletic field for $299 and the Cleis Typewriter service of Rochester to service typewriters at $5 each.

Supplies and materials for the roof of the high school were approved for purchase from the Hallmite Manufacturing Co., provided they are guaranted.

Some 10 bids were opened for painting of interiors and exteriors of both 4th St. School and the high school building. The property committee will study bids and act on them.

—:—

A LETTER WAS read from the faculty, giving Principal William A. Walters a vote of confidence, after recent complaints over the naming of honor students. Another letter from the faculty and the Midland Education Association thanked the board for the salary increase and repairs to the parking lot.

Mrs. Daisy Sobat, Carnegie Library trustee, was reappointed to a 5-year term effective July 1, on a motion by Frank Aloi, personnel chairman.

Vincent Palyan of Midland Heights was hired at the regular rate as supervisor at the Midland Heights playground this summer, on a motion by John Uccellini, recreation chairman.

Edward Olkowski, high school teacher and coach, was hired as assistant varsity football coach next fall for $400 a year on a motion by John Shovlin, athletic chairman. The resignation of Mrs. Mary Sallie, elementary school clerk, was approved, effective Friday.

The board granted a request of the Beaver Valley Coaches Association for three boys to use the school's football equipment for an all-star game July 30.

A LETTER FROM the Motel Washingtonian praised the high school band for its conduct during a stay while at Washington for a recent parade. Some 13 students of the Hammond organ class thanked the board by letter for providing lessons.

Jewell recommend that blinds to aid the screening of movies in the home economics room be bought and this was approved. They will cost $133.50 from the Hamilton Awning Co.

Jewell informed the board that the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction has rejected a request for some reimbursement of the cost of fire precaution repairs at elementary schools last summer.

He said a new law prevents reimbursement since contracts were let without department approval. The department had approved the work and gave the district 30 days to comply. Members of the board said they felt the action by the state was not fair.

GENERAL BILLS in the amount of $21,499.51 were approved and cash receipts of $393.26 were voted to the proper accounts. Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, reported a balance May 31 of $20,870.75.

The board approved the library trustees' recommendations for purchase of books totaling $151.45 and magazine subscriptions for $374.45. Interim orders placed by Jewell amounted to $149.47 and were approved. Leslie B. Roach, president, presided.

After the meeting, board members met with a representative of hte Pennsylvania Economy League, a tax survey organization, which has an office in the county.

Clyde Hurd New Post Commander

Clyde (Hammer) Hurd was named commander of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 at election of officers held Monday. He succeeds Robert Lowther, who was elected chaplain.

Other officers are Ed Self, first vice commander; William Boyce, second vice commander; Francis House, adjutant; Tom Piatt, finance officer; Harry Crawford and Dan Shepherd, sergeants - at - arms, and Harry E. Excell, three-year trustee.

Installation will be held Monday, June 27, at 8 p. m. A committee will be named to plan a picnic in the near future.

C. V. Hughes, adjutant, announced the 10th District conference will be held Saturday and Sunday at Canton.

Reappointed Trustee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reappointed Francis O'Hara of Sandusky a trustee of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home for a term ending June 30, 1965.

ELECTRIC HEAT

... the better way to heat your home

Once the ceiling wires are covered, this Electric home heating "furnace" will be out of sight—and out of mind—forever.

The nice thing about eliminating a furnace is that you eliminate everything that goes with it—flues, registers, ducts, blowers, tanks, filters... and dirt and repairs and noise and flame.

Electric Heat eliminates everything but comfortable, precisely controlled heat... heat that's pure as sunshine. Electric Heat adds to family comfort with room-by-room heat control. Each room has its own thermostat and can be heated to any degree you like, or the baby likes, or grandma likes.

More than 5000 of our customers (including one-fifth of new homes built last year in Ohio Power territory) now heat the modern, worth more ELECTRIC way.

ELECTRIC HEAT COST FOR AVERAGE 1200-SQUARE-FOOT HOME IS ABOUT $15 A MONTH. Before you buy, build or remodel, find out how little it costs to protect your investment with the only modern heating system that will stay modern. We can estimate Electric Heat within 5 per cent of actual cost... there is no obligation.

Tax Millage Increased

Board At Midland Approves Budget

The Midland Board of Education Monday evening approved a final budget of $866,854 for the 1960-1961 school year and set millage on real estate at 25 mills, an increase of 2 mills over 1959-1960.

The budget is $6,930 higher than the tentative budget adopted May 9, due mainly to a $210 annual salary increase to teachers totaling $6,615.

Some $182,924 will be obtained through loans. Sources of revenue include $506,850 from real estate assessments, $120,100 from tuition, property withdrawn from duplicate, delinquent taxes, rental and miscellaneous.

REVENUE ALSO IS expected from the state amounting to $49,850, temporary loans, sale of supplies and equipment, fines, book loss, etc., totaling $183,124 and with an anticipated balance on June 30 of $6,930, all totaling $866,854.

Expenditures for the coming year include general control, $33,624; instruction, $429,393; auxiliary agencies, $33,048, up $310 over the tentative budget; plant operation, $90,126; maintenance, $16,725; fixed charges, $37,074; debt service, $219,979, and capital outlay, $6,885, totaling $886,854.

The budget is $97,316 higher than the $769,538 final budget adopted in 1959. Millage was increased three years ago by one mill.

The budget was approved on a motion by James Morrison, finance chairman.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT'S tax duplicates are expected to be sent out about July 1. There will be a 2 per cent discount for early payers and a 5 per cent penalty for those late.

Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, will turn the duplicate over to Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, for collection.

The board approved payment of taxes in four installments, if residents desire.

They would pay equal installments in September, October, November and December at face value. There will be no discount or abatement under the installment plan.

Supt. Ralph H. Jewell told the board that last night's meeting customarily was the time for making fund transfers but he had no recommendations since there is no money to transfer.

Salaries for professional and non-professional employes were approved effective July 1 or on the new year for each employe.

THE BEAVER County Court of Quarter Sessions informed the board by letter that the bond for Presutti, tax collector, has been increased from $250,000 to $300,000 for 1960-1961.

Supplies for the coming year were approved on motion by Edward Cilli, property chairman. They include textbooks, $7,933.82; instructional equipment, $530.16, and physical education supplies and equipment, $1,274.60.

Fred Landram of Pittsburgh was hired to install a new sound system at the athletic field for $299 and the Cleis Typewriter service of Rochester to service typewriters at $5 each.

Supplies and materials for the roof of the high school were approved for purchase from the Hallmite Manufacturing Co., provided they are guaranted.

Some 10 bids were opened for painting of interiors and exteriors of both 4th St. School and the high school building. The property committee will study bids and act on them.

—:—

A LETTER WAS read from the faculty, giving Principal William A. Walters a vote of confidence, after recent complaints over the naming of honor students. Another letter from the faculty and the Midland Education Association thanked the board for the salary increase and repairs to the parking lot.

Mrs. Daisy Sobat, Carnegie Library trustee, was reappointed to a 5-year term effective July 1, on a motion by Frank Aloi, personnel chairman.

Vincent Palyan of Midland Heights was hired at the regular rate as supervisor at the Midland Heights playground this summer, on a motion by John Uccellini, recreation chairman.

Edward Olkowski, high school teacher and coach, was hired as assistant varsity football coach next fall for $400 a year on a motion by John Shovlin, athletic chairman. The resignation of Mrs. Mary Sallie, elementary school clerk, was approved, effective Friday.

The board granted a request of the Beaver Valley Coaches Association for three boys to use the school's football equipment for an all-star game July 30.

A LETTER FROM the Motel Washingtonian praised the high school band for its conduct during a stay while at Washington for a recent parade. Some 13 students of the Hammond organ class thanked the board by letter for providing lessons.

Jewell recommend that blinds to aid the screening of movies in the home economics room be bought and this was approved. They will cost $133.50 from the Hamilton Awning Co.

Jewell informed the board that the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction has rejected a request for some reimbursement of the cost of fire precaution repairs at elementary schools last summer.

He said a new law prevents reimbursement since contracts were let without department approval. The department had approved the work and gave the district 30 days to comply. Members of the board said they felt the action by the state was not fair.

GENERAL BILLS in the amount of $21,499.51 were approved and cash receipts of $393.26 were voted to the proper accounts. Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, reported a balance May 31 of $20,870.75.

The board approved the library trustees' recommendations for purchase of books totaling $151.45 and magazine subscriptions for $374.45. Interim orders placed by Jewell amounted to $149.47 and were approved. Leslie B. Roach, president, presided.

After the meeting, board members met with a representative of hte Pennsylvania Economy League, a tax survey organization, which has an office in the county.

Clyde Hurd New Post Commander

Clyde (Hammer) Hurd was named commander of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 at election of officers held Monday. He succeeds Robert Lowther, who was elected chaplain.

Other officers are Ed Self, first vice commander; William Boyce, second vice commander; Francis House, adjutant; Tom Piatt, finance officer; Harry Crawford and Dan Shepherd, sergeants - at - arms, and Harry E. Excell, three-year trustee.

Installation will be held Monday, June 27, at 8 p. m. A committee will be named to plan a picnic in the near future.

C. V. Hughes, adjutant, announced the 10th District conference will be held Saturday and Sunday at Canton.

Reappointed Trustee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reappointed Francis O'Hara of Sandusky a trustee of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home for a term ending June 30, 1965.

ELECTRIC HEAT

... the better way to heat your home

Once the ceiling wires are covered, this Electric home heating "furnace" will be out of sight—and out of mind—forever.

The nice thing about eliminating a furnace is that you eliminate everything that goes with it—flues, registers, ducts, blowers, tanks, filters... and dirt and repairs and noise and flame.

Electric Heat eliminates everything but comfortable, precisely controlled heat... heat that's pure as sunshine. Electric Heat adds to family comfort with room-by-room heat control. Each room has its own thermostat and can be heated to any degree you like, or the baby likes, or grandma likes.

More than 5000 of our customers (including one-fifth of new homes built last year in Ohio Power territory) now heat the modern, worth more ELECTRIC way.

ELECTRIC HEAT COST FOR AVERAGE 1200-SQUARE-FOOT HOME IS ABOUT $15 A MONTH. Before you buy, build or remodel, find out how little it costs to protect your investment with the only modern heating system that will stay modern. We can estimate Electric Heat within 5 per cent of actual cost... there is no obligation.

A 40-FOOT high storage tank exploded with a thunderous roar at the Valvoline Oil Co. in Freedom early this morning. Officials of the firm said lightning may have sparked the blast and fire in the metal tank, one of seven in an above ground storage area just across from the main refinery building. (UPI Telephoto) were shattered, plaster fell and window frames were knocked out.

The force of the explosion rattled windows as far away as Vanport. Flames and smoke spiraled hundreds of feet into the air.

A 30-foot section of pipe running to the top of the tank was blown some 3,000 feet, smashing into a parked pickup truck.

Elmer Brooks, owner of one of the damaged homes, said he and his wife and son, David, were sitting in the kitchen when the tank let go, raising the entire home.

"It just swelled out and seemed to come loose from the foundation," Brooks said. He said his family might have been killed if they had been in bed.

A neighbor, William Sharpless, said he and his wife along with their two daughters and their husbands and six children were asleep when the explosion ripped the area.

"We grabbed what clothes we could and ran," he said.

Spectators gathered rapidly despite the heavy rain but were kept back by the intense heat and the danger of additional explosions.

It was the second explosion and fire at the plant in recent weeks. The plant has been the scene of numerous fires and explosions, authorities said.

Former Judge Dies

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mansfield's first municipal judge, Robert Erskine Hutchison, died Sunday at 88. A one-time state legislator, he was judge for eight years starting in 1928.

Jeweler Accused Of Abusing Bryan

The affidavit alleges that Schlang "knowingly and wilfully abused" Bryan and Asst. Chief Alfred R. VanDyne "and unlawfully interfered with the above-named officers of the fire department in the execution of their offices."

Authorities said the alleged incident occurred yesterday when the two officials went to Schlang's store to talk with him about a neon sign which they claimed had been flickering.

Visits In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Aga Khan IV, whose father, Prince Aly Khan, was killed in an automobile accident in France several weeks ago, paid a visit to Dayton Monday and made a brief inspection tour of the city workhouse. The 23-year-old Aga, spiritual leader of 20 million Ismaili Moslems, then left for New York.

Rowe Resigns At Wellsville

to determine their feelings. He said he will report on the matter at the meeting July 11.

Daw reported that a one-month summer school will begin Monday at Garfield School to help some pupils with reading. Mrs. Mary Bender was hired as the instructor. Daw said 15 to 18 pupils will participate with classes to be held daily from 9 to noon.

The board approved an order of two dozen arm chairs for the high school. They are needed because the freshman class will be larger next term.

The board discussed hiring a nurse to replace Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, who has resigned after 25 years service. No action was taken as solicitor William Bush, who was presented, suggested that the position might come under Civil Service. He was asked to check.

The board apparently has agreed on who is to be hired. There were 10 applicants. Earl Bake, president, said the board had met and discussed the applicants. He said they will not be made known publicly as many hold other positions and requested their names be withheld unless they receive the position.

Daw reported the Junior Chamber of Commerce has requested use of the MacDonald all-purpose room July 21 to present a program for children in its library program and the Wellsville Historical Society requested use of the room July 2 for a dance in conjunction with its alumni dinner. Both dates were approved.

The Stevens Typewriter Service of East Liverpool was awarded a contract for serving all school machines at $9.50 each. Stevens entered the only bid. The firm had the contract last year.

The board discussed summer repair work. Windows in the high school are to be painted and repaired as are leaking steam pipes in the offices of the high school and MacDonald building. A fence will be erected around Nicholson Field. Various other repair projects will go ahead.

It was reported 21 seventh graders from Immaculate Conception Parochial School will be joining the system this fall.

Paul Talbott of Hillcrest suggested that the board and Daw investigate the possible change in the curriculum, dropping some courses and adding others. An informal discussion was held on various high school studies and programs.

A letter was read from the Jaycees, thanking the board for its cooperation in the recent basketball tournament.

Forced From Street, Truck Strikes Hydrant

A fire hydrant was damaged by a truck which was forced off Market St. at W. 2nd St. Monday at 5:19 p. m., police reported.

The hydrant was struck by a 1956 model truck owned by Norwalk Upholstering Co. of Norwalk and driven by Paul R. Tutchins, 49, also of Norwalk, officers said.

The trucker said he was headed south on Market and attempting a right turn onto W. 2nd when his vehicle was forced off the street by an oncoming auto.

A collision at Dresden Ave. and 6th St. at 3:15 p. m. Monday damaged a 1957 hardtop operated by Herman H. Curry of LaCroft and a car driven by Joseph E. Landis, 18, of 314 Norton St., officers said.

A mishap on Dresden Ave. at 10:40 a. m. yesterday involved a parked 1959 car owned by Cecil B. Lyon of the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. and a truck owned by Royal Brands, Inc., of Massillon and driven by Robert Lee Sword, 28, of Dalton, Ohio, officers said. The truck apparently backed into the parked auto when Sword was attempting to maneuver away from the curb, officers said.

Bakery Driver Hurt When Rig Hits Truck

A Beaver County bakery truck driver was injured when his truck was rammed from behind by a tractor-trailer rig on Route 164 about 2 miles south of Lisbon Monday morning.

Allen Stuart, 31, of Enon Valley R. D. 1 suffered possible concussion and fractures of the ribs when hit by the rig operated by John Sturgeon, 20, of Salem R. D. 2, according to the State Highway Patrol at Salem.

The impact knocked the bakery truck into guardrails and across the road. Sturgeon was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Claimed By Cancer

OTTAWA (AP)—Brooke Claxton, 61, Canadian minister of defense from 1946 to 1954, died Monday of cancer. He was Canada's first minister of health and welfare.

A 40-FOOT high storage tank exploded with a thunderous roar at the Valvoline Oil Co. in Freedom early this morning. Officials of the firm said lightning may have sparked the blast and fire in the metal tank, one of seven in an above ground storage area just across from the main refinery building. (UPI Telephoto) were shattered, plaster fell and window frames were knocked out.

The force of the explosion rattled windows as far away as Vanport. Flames and smoke spiraled hundreds of feet into the air.

A 30-foot section of pipe running to the top of the tank was blown some 3,000 feet, smashing into a parked pickup truck.

Elmer Brooks, owner of one of the damaged homes, said he and his wife and son, David, were sitting in the kitchen when the tank let go, raising the entire home.

"It just swelled out and seemed to come loose from the foundation," Brooks said. He said his family might have been killed if they had been in bed.

A neighbor, William Sharpless, said he and his wife along with their two daughters and their husbands and six children were asleep when the explosion ripped the area.

"We grabbed what clothes we could and ran," he said.

Spectators gathered rapidly despite the heavy rain but were kept back by the intense heat and the danger of additional explosions.

It was the second explosion and fire at the plant in recent weeks. The plant has been the scene of numerous fires and explosions, authorities said.

Former Judge Dies

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mansfield's first municipal judge, Robert Erskine Hutchison, died Sunday at 88. A one-time state legislator, he was judge for eight years starting in 1928.

Jeweler Accused Of Abusing Bryan

The affidavit alleges that Schlang "knowingly and wilfully abused" Bryan and Asst. Chief Alfred R. VanDyne "and unlawfully interfered with the above-named officers of the fire department in the execution of their offices."

Authorities said the alleged incident occurred yesterday when the two officials went to Schlang's store to talk with him about a neon sign which they claimed had been flickering.

Visits In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Aga Khan IV, whose father, Prince Aly Khan, was killed in an automobile accident in France several weeks ago, paid a visit to Dayton Monday and made a brief inspection tour of the city workhouse. The 23-year-old Aga, spiritual leader of 20 million Ismaili Moslems, then left for New York.

Rowe Resigns At Wellsville

to determine their feelings. He said he will report on the matter at the meeting July 11.

Daw reported that a one-month summer school will begin Monday at Garfield School to help some pupils with reading. Mrs. Mary Bender was hired as the instructor. Daw said 15 to 18 pupils will participate with classes to be held daily from 9 to noon.

The board approved an order of two dozen arm chairs for the high school. They are needed because the freshman class will be larger next term.

The board discussed hiring a nurse to replace Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, who has resigned after 25 years service. No action was taken as solicitor William Bush, who was presented, suggested that the position might come under Civil Service. He was asked to check.

The board apparently has agreed on who is to be hired. There were 10 applicants. Earl Bake, president, said the board had met and discussed the applicants. He said they will not be made known publicly as many hold other positions and requested their names be withheld unless they receive the position.

Daw reported the Junior Chamber of Commerce has requested use of the MacDonald all-purpose room July 21 to present a program for children in its library program and the Wellsville Historical Society requested use of the room July 2 for a dance in conjunction with its alumni dinner. Both dates were approved.

The Stevens Typewriter Service of East Liverpool was awarded a contract for serving all school machines at $9.50 each. Stevens entered the only bid. The firm had the contract last year.

The board discussed summer repair work. Windows in the high school are to be painted and repaired as are leaking steam pipes in the offices of the high school and MacDonald building. A fence will be erected around Nicholson Field. Various other repair projects will go ahead.

It was reported 21 seventh graders from Immaculate Conception Parochial School will be joining the system this fall.

Paul Talbott of Hillcrest suggested that the board and Daw investigate the possible change in the curriculum, dropping some courses and adding others. An informal discussion was held on various high school studies and programs.

A letter was read from the Jaycees, thanking the board for its cooperation in the recent basketball tournament.

Forced From Street, Truck Strikes Hydrant

A fire hydrant was damaged by a truck which was forced off Market St. at W. 2nd St. Monday at 5:19 p. m., police reported.

The hydrant was struck by a 1956 model truck owned by Norwalk Upholstering Co. of Norwalk and driven by Paul R. Tutchins, 49, also of Norwalk, officers said.

The trucker said he was headed south on Market and attempting a right turn onto W. 2nd when his vehicle was forced off the street by an oncoming auto.

A collision at Dresden Ave. and 6th St. at 3:15 p. m. Monday damaged a 1957 hardtop operated by Herman H. Curry of LaCroft and a car driven by Joseph E. Landis, 18, of 314 Norton St., officers said.

A mishap on Dresden Ave. at 10:40 a. m. yesterday involved a parked 1959 car owned by Cecil B. Lyon of the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. and a truck owned by Royal Brands, Inc., of Massillon and driven by Robert Lee Sword, 28, of Dalton, Ohio, officers said. The truck apparently backed into the parked auto when Sword was attempting to maneuver away from the curb, officers said.

Bakery Driver Hurt When Rig Hits Truck

A Beaver County bakery truck driver was injured when his truck was rammed from behind by a tractor-trailer rig on Route 164 about 2 miles south of Lisbon Monday morning.

Allen Stuart, 31, of Enon Valley R. D. 1 suffered possible concussion and fractures of the ribs when hit by the rig operated by John Sturgeon, 20, of Salem R. D. 2, according to the State Highway Patrol at Salem.

The impact knocked the bakery truck into guardrails and across the road. Sturgeon was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and night at the Leavell Funeral Home.

Coast-To Coast Cyclist Goes Through Lisbon

LISBON — Harry Lucy, 57, of Miami, Fla., passed through Lisbon today en route to Los Angeles on a bicycle.

He started from New York several weeks ago and expects to reach his destination around Nov. 15. He travels about 75 miles a day and makes money as he goes along washing cars, helping farmers and by other odd jobs.

Because of rainy weather Monday, he stayed with a Columbiana area farmer last night and began his trip early this morning. He tries to stay on secondary roads so that he will not be bothered with traffic.

Wellsville Men Pick 'Father Of The Year'

The Methodist Men voted on the "Father of the Year" at a meeting Monday night at the Wellsville Central Methodist Church.

The selection will be announced during the morning worship service Sunday. The group also voted to present gifts to the youngest and oldest father at the service.

Robert Gray of Chester, executive of the Cherokee District of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council, was guest speaker. Twelve were present.

The next meeting will be Sept. 12 when election of officers will be held. Earl Speehas is president.

National Citations Presented

Chester American Legion Holds Officer Installation

Anthony Amedeo, new commander of Chester American Legion Post 121, and other officers were installed at a meeting Monday night at the post home.

H. J. Worls of Wheeling, West Virginia first vice commander, was in charge.

Named delegates to the state convention at Huntington July 22-24 were Martin, Ernest John, Dale Allison, Dwight Allison and Charles Morris. Delegates are John Merriman, M. J. Sweeney, Melvin Hissam, Leland Huff and Harry Huff.

The post went on record as asking each member and families of the Chester area to pray for the safety of President Dwight Eisenhower during his visit to Japan.

Mrs. Ray Bailey reported on a "King and Queen for a Day" contest held at Charleston last month and to which the post sponsored a child.

Gold life membership cards were presented Morris, Allen Lyons and John Merriman by Martin.

Boys State Group Reports On Activity

Five Chester High School youths held various government posts in the annual Boys State at Jackson's Mill from which they returned Sunday.

Ed Jordan was named a community mayor at the mock government event, and Tom Davis was elected to a state police position. Sam Pipes, Joe Price and John Bickerstaff held county commissioner posts besides other offices.

Harold Dickey, City Park Commission chairman, reported a Little League field at the park will be available for play next year. The post authorized the purchase of a uniform for a player of the Chester Merchants baseball team.

Refreshments were served by Merriman, John Corcoran, Morell Yost, Robert Johnson, John Stoy and William Brown. The next meeting will be July 11.

Counterfeit

bee restaurant. When a waitress took the bill next door to an American Legion Post to ask for change, the Legion's financial officer — Victor Martino — recognized it as counterfeit and called the Brooke County sheriff's office.

Since the arrest of the two Clevelanders, authorities recovered $9,780 in a Steubenville bus station locker, $620 under a floor lamp in Pug's Hotel in Wellsburg, $620 under a cuspidor in the Follansbee jail, and $160 under the driver's seat of the auto the two men had rented.

One of the bogus $20 bills turned up in the Cove Bank in Weirton. Two turned up in Wheeling at the Half Dollar Trust & Savings Bank and the Security Trust Co. In Steubenville, the First National Bank picked up two in a deposit while a department store discovered one more. The People's Bank in Weirton also turned up two bills, authorities said.

Agent Vincent T. Mroz, chief of the Charleston office, indicated that two separate districts were involved in the operation and that the men could be tried in both Columbus and Charleston.

He said each instance of passing a bill could result in a separate count. The pair said they had been in the Steubenville - Wellsburg area "a couple of days." None of the men would admit that they worked for a nationwide counterfeiting ring, but Perlatti said "it might be pretty big." Neither would discuss where the fake money had been printed.

Coast-To Coast Cyclist Goes Through Lisbon

LISBON — Harry Lucy, 57, of Miami, Fla., passed through Lisbon today en route to Los Angeles on a bicycle.

He started from New York several weeks ago and expects to reach his destination around Nov. 15. He travels about 75 miles a day and makes money as he goes along washing cars, helping farmers and by other odd jobs.

Because of rainy weather Monday, he stayed with a Columbiana area farmer last night and began his trip early this morning. He tries to stay on secondary roads so that he will not be bothered with traffic.

Wellsville Men Pick 'Father Of The Year'

The selection will be announced during the morning worship service Sunday. The group also voted to present gifts to the youngest and oldest father at the service.

Robert Gray of Chester, executive of the Cherokee District of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council, was guest speaker. Twelve were present.

The next meeting will be Sept. 12 when election of officers will be held. Earl Speehas is president.

National Citations Presented

Chester American Legion Holds Officer Installation

Anthony Amedeo, new commander of Chester American Legion Post 121, and other officers were installed at a meeting Monday night at the post home.

H. J. Worls of Wheeling, West Virginia first vice commander, was in charge.

The post went on record as asking each member and families of the Chester area to pray for the safety of President Dwight Eisenhower during his visit to Japan.

Mrs. Ray Bailey reported on a "King and Queen for a Day" contest held at Charleston last month and to which the post sponsored a child.

Gold life membership cards were presented Morris, Allen Lyons and John Merriman by Martin.

Boys State Group Reports On Activity

Five Chester High School youths held various government posts in the annual Boys State at Jackson's Mill from which they returned Sunday.

Ed Jordan was named a community mayor at the mock government event, and Tom Davis was elected to a state police position. Sam Pipes, Joe Price and John Bickerstaff held county commissioner posts besides other offices.

Harold Dickey, City Park Commission chairman, reported a Little League field at the park will be available for play next year. The post authorized the purchase of a uniform for a player of the Chester Merchants baseball team.

Refreshments were served by Merriman, John Corcoran, Morell Yost, Robert Johnson, John Stoy and William Brown. The next meeting will be July 11.

Counterfeit

bee restaurant. When a waitress took the bill next door to an American Legion Post to ask for change, the Legion's financial officer — Victor Martino — recognized it as counterfeit and called the Brooke County sheriff's office.

Since the arrest of the two Clevelanders, authorities recovered $9,780 in a Steubenville bus station locker, $620 under a floor lamp in Pug's Hotel in Wellsburg, $620 under a cuspidor in the Follansbee jail, and $160 under the driver's seat of the auto the two men had rented.

One of the bogus $20 bills turned up in the Cove Bank in Weirton. Two turned up in Wheeling at the Half Dollar Trust & Savings Bank and the Security Trust Co. In Steubenville, the First National Bank picked up two in a deposit while a department store discovered one more. The People's Bank in Weirton also turned up two bills, authorities said.

Agent Vincent T. Mroz, chief of the Charleston office, indicated that two separate districts were involved in the operation and that the men could be tried in both Columbus and Charleston.

He said each instance of passing a bill could result in a separate count. The pair said they had been in the Steubenville - Wellsburg area "a couple of days." None of the men would admit that they worked for a nationwide counterfeiting ring, but Perlatti said "it might be pretty big." Neither would discuss where the fake money had been printed.

Cooper said it will be impossible to list all the loot for several days, pending a thorough check of the stock. The loot apparently was carried out the front door, he added.

The cigarettes were stolen from a locked compartment on which the hasp was forced. The change was taken from the same place. The locked stock room door also was forced open.

Road Improvement Plan Up For Approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Public Roads has up for approval Ohio's 100th program for improvement of the state's secondary, or farm-to-market, road system.

The program, turned over to the bureau by the Ohio Highway Department, is composed of six individual projects costing about $540,000. The projects are to be awarded during the next few months, Highway Director E. S. Preston said Monday. The federal government will split the cost on a 50-50 basis with the counties or state.

Girl Scouts Routed As Lightning Strikes

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Fire, believed due to lightning, routed 20 Girl Scouts late Monday night at Camp Butterworth at nearby Fosters. Firefighters from Loveland and Mainville said it took more than an hour to bring the blaze under control in the 115-year-old main camp building.

A Milford Girl Scout troop and several women chaperones were preparing for bed when lightning apparently hit the two-story frame building, starting fire in the basement. All escaped without injury.

Arson Expert Declares Children Big Firebugs

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An arson expert says the firebugs who cause the most damage are youngsters with matches.

"One of our big jobs is to catch these kids early," said Sgt. H. B. Hatcher of the Los Angeles sheriffs arson squad. "The little ones, 2 and 3, start fires by accident, but when they get to be 8 or more, they know what they're doing."

Road Improvement Plan Up For Approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Public Roads has up for approval Ohio's 100th program for improvement of the state's secondary, or farm-to-market, road system.

The program, turned over to the bureau by the Ohio Highway Department, is composed of six individual projects costing about $540,000. The projects are to be awarded during the next few months, Highway Director E. S. Preston said Monday. The federal government will split the cost on a 50-50 basis with the counties or state.

Girl Scouts Routed As Lightning Strikes

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Fire, believed due to lightning, routed 20 Girl Scouts late Monday night at Camp Butterworth at nearby Fosters. Firefighters from Loveland and Mainville said it took more than an hour to bring the blaze under control in the 115-year-old main camp building.

A Milford Girl Scout troop and several women chaperones were preparing for bed when lightning apparently hit the two-story frame building, starting fire in the basement. All escaped without injury.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the girl who couldn't think of a good reason for telling her boy friend to keep his hands to himself. I was once in that very same spot.

I felt I had to be nice to the boys or they wouldn't take me out. Popularity was the big thing in my life and I didn't want to take a chance on offending anybody.

Pretty soon it was plain that I was being outtalked every time I had a date. Then I smartened up and decided I didn't owe anybodyy any explanations.

I just said, "Look, George, I don't have to give you any reasons why not. You know the difference between right and wrong. Now behave yourself or take me home."

The tone of my voice showed I meant business and I never had any trouble after that. I also discovered that once I started to call the signals I had more dates than ever—and the right kind, too.—SMARTER NOW.

Flunked Out

Dear Ann: About that guy who found two dimes on the floor of the taxicab and put them in his pocket: You told his girl friend he was a cheap skate and he should have turned the money over to the driver.

This letter is being written by five graduating seniors from Chicago's top law shcool, if not Illinois' best. Your decision against the boy friend was ill considered and bogus.

According to Illinois law, the back seat of a taxicab is a public place. Any personal property found therein is presumed to be lost and belongs to the finder.

We suggest that you immediately reverse your decision in favor of the boy friend until the true owner proves title and demands return of same.—TOP TEN PER CENTERS.

Dear Top Ten Per Centers: One of Chicago's finest law firms (if not Illinois' best) reviewed your findings and has advised me as follows:

A taxicab is NOT a public place. It is a privately owned vehicle used as a common carrier. The driver has possession and custody of the vehicle and is responsible for safely transporting its passengers and their goods. A passenger in a taxicab is not in possession of the cab and has no right to any property therein."

If you five law students represent the best of the current crop of future attorneys, heaven help us all.

Long-Distance Love

Dear Ann: I'm engaged to marry a very nice man. He left town three weeks ago to travel for his firm for the next five months. He has already called me long distance seven times.

I appreciate his thoughtfulness but I hate for him to spend the money. I've begged him to drop me a line instead but he says he NEVER writes letters to anyone.

Why would a man flatly refuse to write a letter? I happen to know he didn't have much of a formal education. Could this be it? —BAFFLED FIANCEE.

Dear Baffled: That could be it, all right. He's probably unsure of his spelling and grammar. Now that you know—quit nagging. Keep the phone conversations brief and let him know you appreciate his thoughtfulness.

Ike

of the throngs that turned out for te President in New Delhi, on his last visit to Asia.

Many carried banners reading "Mabuhay (Long Live) Ike." Arches across the motorcade route proclaimed "We Love Ike."

Eisenhower stood for a short time in the back of the open convertible smiling and waving to the people, Garcia at his side.

At one point, early in the parade, the crowd surged so close to the car that Philippine security men jumped out of a car behind with tear gas guns at the ready.

The motorcade progressed down famed Dewey Boulevard, along the shores of Manila Bay, through the heart of the Philippine capital's entertainment, trade and financial districts to the sprawling, Spanish-style palace where Eisenhower will stay until he leaves for Formosa at midnight Thursday.

People leaned out of windows and stood on balconies to get a glimpse of Eisenhower. They were 15 to 20 deep on the sidewalks along some stretches. Many waved small American and Filipino flags. There were cheers and handclapping.

Beads of perspiration formed on Eisenhower's forehead and ran down his face, which appeared to grow more ruddy above the white flower lei an aide to President Garcia had hung around his neck. The sun blazed and the temperature was in the mid-80s.

Unofficial cars squeezed into the motorcade from time to time, slowing its progress. The presidential car often moved at a walking pace.

As the motorcade proceeded, Eisenhower could see the gleaming U.S. aircraft carrier Yorktown and the cruiser St. Paul, flagship of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which he will take to Formosa.

The fun-loving Filipinos were in a festival, jovial mood. They cheered the President and even the following press cars.

Dozens of bands, most of them organized on the spurt of the moment, played as Eisenhower passed. Hostesses in the night club areas of Dewey Boulevard were lined up on the sidewalk to wave to the President.

The motorcade had difficulty as it moved into the densely crowded areas of downtown Manila. Motorcycles and private cars attempted to maneuver into position behind the official cars. Hundreds of bicycles and motor scooters darted in and out, adding to the confusion.

"I have never seen such a tremendous and enthusiastic crowd in the Philippines," one veteran radio commentator said.

It had been expected the 10-mile trip from the airport would take an hour. Instead it took an hour and 40 minutes.

Officers Elected By Legion Post 4

Others elected were Ed Daily, first vice commander; William P. Bock, second vice commander; Purle C. Smith, third vice commander; D. G. Wilkinson, adjutant; Henry Schneidmiller, finance officer; John Rippeth, chaplain; David Sakol, historian; Howard J. Kaufman, publicity; Christ Pallis, seargeant - at - arms; Turk, three-year trustee, and Ben Poling, insurance trustee.

Rippeth, Bob Osborne and Smith were named delegates to the 10th District convention Saturday and Sunday at Canton. Alternates are Poling, John Parsons and Ray Cunningham.

Poling, retiring first vice commander, presided in the absence of Turk. Installation will be held at the meeting next Monday night at 8.

Will Share Cost

CLEVELAND (AP)—City Council Monday night approved a Republic Steel Corp. offer to share equally with the city in paying for a $1,500,000 culverting project which would pave the way for a 26-million-dollar expansion by the company in the Cuyahoga River valley. Republic says it needs for its expansion land that would be made available by the culverting of Morgan Run. The 3,100 feet of Morgan Run not yet culverted is on Republic property.

ported injured, but no students were arrested.

Major non-Communist leftist organizations were reported considering abandoning plan for a large-scale demonstration at the airport, although it appeared likely they would demonstrate elsewhere during the President's visit against the U.S.-Japan security treaty and Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government.

There were reports of a possible truce between Kishi's beleaguered government and its Socialist opposition to take the heat off Eisenhower's visit.

Kishi's Liberal Democratic party was reported considering recessing Parliament for three to five days. If it remains in session, the security treaty is automatically ratified on Sunday, the day Eisenhower arrives. The Socialists want Parliament dissolved automatically nullifying ratification of the treaty, so an election campaign can be fought with the treaty as the main issue.

A top security official said, if the Socialists decide not to demonstrate against the President's arrival, the police will have no great problem in guarding him. He said they then would have to contend only with "a maximum of 7,000 Communists and pro-Communists including 3,000 students."

The pro-Communist wing of Zengakuren, which played a key role in mobbing of Hagerty's car, avowed its intention to demonstrate when Eisenhower arrives. But Socialist party leader Inejiro Asanuma urged "every precaution so that the June 10 Hagerty incident will not be repeated."

Left-wing unions claimed that more than five million workers will stop work for from one hour to all day Wednesday in another nationwide demand for Kishi to dissolve Parliament and put the U.S.-Japan pact to an election test. Students and union members also planned new mass marches on Parliament and the U.S. Embassy.

Antarctic Pact Seen Peril To U.S., Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif) charged today the Antarctic Treaty with the Soviet Union and 10 other nations poses "a danger to the security of the United States" and its allies.

Engle, asking its rejection, said the treaty would settle "the seal of free world recognition on the Soviet presence in Antarctica in return for whatever assurance the treaty offers that the Soviets will not be trouble makers."

The treaty, signed in Washington last December, provides that Antarctica shall be developed and used only for peaceful purposes. It recognizes no territorial claims by any individual nation.

In addition to the United States and the Soviet Union, countries signing the treaty are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa and Britain.

Engle spoke against the treaty in testimony prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska) also was listed as an opposition witness.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) told newsmen that if the treaty "runs up against much serious opposition this late in the session, it may have to go over to the next" session.

Engle said that for the United States to give up sovereign rights it has earned over the years in Antarctica "would be as great a folly as it would have been many years ago to forego purchase of Alaska."

"The treaty will give the Soviet Union a position of equality which it does not deserve, and which poses a danger to the security of our allies in the southern hemisphere," Engle said.

Initiated by the United States, the treaty prohibits establishment of military bases in Antarctica, provides for freedom of scientific research and cooperation and bans nuclear explosions and the dumping of radioactive waste there pending conclusion of international agreements on nuclear uses.

In submitting it to Congress, President Eisenhower called it "a significant advance toward the goal of a peaceful world with justice."

Sentence Commuted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has commuted the first-degree murder sentence of McArthur Hafley, 60, of Cleveland, to second-degree murder. Monday's action, recommended by the Pardon and Parole Commission, makes the life-termed eligible for parole. Hafley fatally slugged the assistant manager of a Cleveland drug store, where he worked as a porter, and robbed the store of $165 on Dec. 15, 1930.

Powerful Network Of Soviet Agents Cited By Herter

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The Soviet Union," says Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, "has built the largest of all intelligence machines and maintains an unparalleled network of agents throughout the world."

Herter said, "It has been reliably estimated that within the Communist bloc and the free world some 300,000 trained officers serve in the 27 intelligence and security services of the Soviet bloc states."

Herter gave those figures Monday in a 23-page statement filed with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which will meet later this week to consider a report on its recent investigation of the U2 spy plane incident.

Rain Delays Road Oiling

Scheduled oiling of a number of St. Clair Township roads by a Hanoverton contractor has been delayed for a week or so because of the current rain.

Robert Snyder was to have started the oiling for property owners Monday, but rain prevented, according to Neil McIntosh, township clerk.

At a meeting of the trustees Monday night discussion was held on traffic congestion at the intersection of Route 170 and the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. where patrons park at an ice cream store.

T. R. Stitler, store operator, will be asked to erect a sign requesting patrons to park parallel along Route 170 instead of pulling in to park facing the store, and also to recommend parking at the rear of the store.

A Glenmoor man seeking approval of extension of Vale St., was advised the newly-graded street must be sloped before the township can accept it.

Discussion was held on a proposed extension of Purinton Ave. to St. Clair Ave. sought by Sam Fricano. Fricano has obtained permission from Howard Diddle to extend a sewer across Diddle's property as part of the street extension, but trustees said the easement should be secured in writing.

Hearing Set July 12

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A public hearing will be held July 12 to discuss regulations for written and oral examinations which are given prior to issuance of a temporary driver's permit. The Ohio Department of Highway Safety, which called the hearing, gives the examinations under an emergency order issued by the governor. The regulations will become permanent if there is no dissent at the hearing.

NYC Urges Mergers Halt

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad has called for a halt to proposed rail mergers in the East pending investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The railroad filed a petition for such action with the ICC Monday as developments occurred in several pending merger proposals.

Directors of the Norfolk & Western and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) railroads agreed on merger terms after several months of negotiations.

And the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway announced it would seek authority to acquire control of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad through an exchange of shares.

The Central took note of the various merger steps under way in the East and specifically asked the ICC not to consider new petitions for mergers until the Central plea is acted on.

The Central has been considering some sort of unification with other lines but has not been included in the recent merger steps.

Central president Alfred Perlman said last month the road was continuing its studies with the B&O and the C&O. However, those lines have moved without the Central.

The merger actions would be blocked if the Central's request to the ICC is granted.

Perlman said the commission's present case-by-case approach on mergers and consolidation "virtually precludes adequate consideration of the over-all public interest as required by the National Transportation Authority."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the girl who couldn't think of a good reason for telling her boy friend to keep his hands to himself. I was once in that very same spot.

I felt I had to be nice to the boys or they wouldn't take me out. Popularity was the big thing in my life and I didn't want to take a chance on offending anybody.

Pretty soon it was plain that I was being outtalked every time I had a date. Then I smartened up and decided I didn't owe anybodyy any explanations.

I just said, "Look, George, I don't have to give you any reasons why not. You know the difference between right and wrong. Now behave yourself or take me home."

The tone of my voice showed I meant business and I never had any trouble after that. I also discovered that once I started to call the signals I had more dates than ever—and the right kind, too.—SMARTER NOW.

Flunked Out

Dear Ann: About that guy who found two dimes on the floor of the taxicab and put them in his pocket: You told his girl friend he was a cheap skate and he should have turned the money over to the driver.

This letter is being written by five graduating seniors from Chicago's top law shcool, if not Illinois' best. Your decision against the boy friend was ill considered and bogus.

According to Illinois law, the back seat of a taxicab is a public place. Any personal property found therein is presumed to be lost and belongs to the finder.

We suggest that you immediately reverse your decision in favor of the boy friend until the true owner proves title and demands return of same.—TOP TEN PER CENTERS.

Dear Top Ten Per Centers: One of Chicago's finest law firms (if not Illinois' best) reviewed your findings and has advised me as follows:

A taxicab is NOT a public place. It is a privately owned vehicle used as a common carrier. The driver has possession and custody of the vehicle and is responsible for safely transporting its passengers and their goods. A passenger in a taxicab is not in possession of the cab and has no right to any property therein."

Giants Blow Lead, Suffer 12-5 Loss At Hands Of Braves

Buccos Open Crucial Set With Frisco

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh's National League-leading Pirates, getting their lumps on the road, trudge into San Francisco tonight for the opener of a three-game series with the second place Giants, who haven't been doing much better at home.

The Pirates go into Candlestick Park with a one-game lead and right-hander Bob Friend (7-3) well rested for a duel with the Giants' Sam Jones (8-4).

Simple mathematics show that all the Giants have to do to take charge is sweep the set. That's what happened the last time the Bucs showed up at San Francisco.

But that was a month ago. The Giants haven't won any of their last four series at home. Even if they break the slump by taking two of the three with Pittsburgh, they'll still trail the Pirates by percentage points.

The Giants missed another chance to close in on the Bucs Monday, blowing a 4-0, first-inning lead and losing 12-5 to third-place Milwaukee. That gave the Braves a split in the four-game series and put them within 3½ games of first place.

In the only American League game scheduled, the third-place New York Yankees won their sixth in a row, 8-4 at Kansas City, and moved within one game of first place.

Johnny Logan drove in five runs for the Braves and Lew Burdette (6-2), who now has won three in a row for the first time this season. Logan doubled home a pair in a tying, four-run second inning that chased Jack Sanford, and then clinched it with a bases-loaded triple in the third off losing reliever George Maranda (0-1).

Little League, Pony Action Is Postponed

All Little League games and one Pony League contest were postponed Monday due to wet grounds. The Little League games scheduled for last night will be played Wednesday.

JOHNNY LOGAN who drove in five of the Braves' 12 runs Monday against the Giants is shown sliding into third base well ahead of a throw from Willie Mays after smacking a triple that sent three runs home to break a 4-4 tie. The Braves defeated San Francisco, 12-5, a Candlestick Park. (UPI Telephoto)

Perdue Eyes Juicy Offers

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Ohio State University's hard and frequent hitting outfielder, Tom Perdue, thinks he'll go back to school next fall—"unless bonus offers get a little higher."

Perdue, who hit .469 in his first year of college competition, told a hometown newspaper that the Cleveland Indians have offered him "about $30,000."

He was named Monday to the All-America baseball team picked by the Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Perdue said he still wants to play football at Ohio State next fall. "But if the bonus offers get any higher," he concedes, "I'll have to think about it awfully hard." He was a first-team defensive end as a sophomore last year.

Perdue currently is playing amateur baseball with Pierre, S. D., along with an Ohio State teammate, third baseman Ray Apple. Apple was selected as a third team All-America.

Palmer Rates Edge In Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Masters champion Arnold Palmer flew in from his latest money-making venture, fired a 66 and the odds on him to win the National Open golf tournament dipped to 4-1.

"Whew, what shotmaking," said Bob Rosburg, the 1959 PGA champion who Monday practiced with Palmer for the Thursday opening round. "A 66—and a 66 eased up, too. He's playing beautifully. His shots were just wonderful."

"I'll tell you this, too," Rosburg went on. "Either they (the U.S. Golf Assn.) harden these greens or you're going to see scores that are unbelievable. And Palmer's likely to be the most unbelievable of them all."

Unbelievable enough to threaten the Open record of 276 Ben Hogan set at Riviera in Los Angeles in 1948?

"Definitely, if the course stays like it is now," said Rosburg, who called his 72 a "bad round."

"The greens are just wonderful—soft and almost too good. And the rough isn't tough like you find on most Open sites. It's thin and penalizes you hardly at all."

The course is the 7,004-yard, par 35-36—71 Cherry Hills Country Club, nestling in a meadow with the Rocky Mountains as a backdrop.

'Big O' Goes To Work, Gets Marriage License

CINCINNATI (AP)—Oscar Robertson, three times a basketball All-America with the University of Cincinnati, went to work for an insurance agency Monday. And he took out a marriage license.

The wedding is planned June 25.

To keep his amateur status airtight, he has made no mention of possible plans to play pro basketball after the Olympics.

Fastest mile ever run by an American was turned in April 23, 1960 by Dyrol Burleson, 19, at Eugene, Ore. He was timed in 3:58.6.

Reds Attempting 12th-Hour Trade

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are beating the bushes for a talent they've had a-plenty in recent years—hitting.

With one day left to trade, General Manager Gabe Paul expects to spend much of today like Monday—on long distance telephone calls.

"I'm not optimistic about our chance of making a deal of any importance," he said Monday night, adding:

"Every club I've talked with the past few days asks that we give up one of our frontline players for two or three of their bench warmers. This we don't do."

He said he plans another pitch to the Philadelphia Phils today on getting outfielder Wally Post, a former Redleg.

"I feel quite sure that Wally will be traded by midnight Wednesday," Paul said. "However, that doesn't necessarily mean it will be to the Reds."

2 Eagles Top Golf Contest

Firing sparkling eagle two's on the 330-yard first hole, Bob Patterson and J. S. Probst finished as the winner and runnerup in Saturday's par-birdie-eagle contest at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Patterson won the event with 30 points while Probst finished with 26. Patterson holed out a wedge shot for his eagle and Probst dropped in his second stroke with an eight-iron.

Dr. H. F. Banfield was third with 25 and Everson Hall had 24 points.

In the second division, Dick Heddleston was tops with 31 and W. A. Porter accumulated 20 points.

Finish In Cellar Higgins Says He Doesn't Intend To

DETROIT (AP) —Mike Higgins reached for the reins of the Boston Red Sox again today and indicated he doesn't intend to finish in the American League cellar.

Asked whether he thought the club was a last-place team — and that's where it is after losing 25 of its last 32 starts — Higgins replied:

"I wouldn't think so. I certainly wouldn't think so."

He fended off questions about specific weaknesses or plans, however, saying "I haven't seen the team. I'll tell you about that in a couple of weeks."

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore and Cleveland get going on a four-game argument over the American League lead tonight, but the New York Yankees, frolicking along at Kansas City, could have the last word.

The Orioles are a half-game behind the Indians as they open the three-day series at Cleveland. But the third place Yankees are just one game shy of the top after winning their sixth in a row with an 8-4 decision over the A's Monday night in the only AL game scheduled.

In the National League, first-place Pittsburgh carries a one-game lead into San Francisco tonight for the first of three games with the second-place Giants. San Francisco blew a 4-0 lead and lost 12-5 to Milwaukee Monday in the only game scheduled.

It's Jim Perry (6-2), a right-hander shooting for his sixth straight success, for the Indians, and either Milt Pappas (3-5) or Billy Hoeft, the lefty just recalled from the minors, for the Birds.

Cleveland took over first place by winning five in a row, then slipped to second by losing the first two games of a scheduled four-game set in New York last weekend. The Indians climbed back on top Sunday when rain postponed their doubleheader with the Yankees and the Orioles lost two to Kansas City.

While the Birds and Indians play four, including a twi-night pair scheduled for Wednesday, the Yankees have three more left with KC.

The Yankees made it seven straight over Kansas City, five this season, behind right-hander Bob Turley and slugging Moose Skowron Monday night.

Turley, now 4-1 with his fourth straight victory, had a one-hitter and had faced the minimum 21 men until the A's broke through for all their runs in the eighth. The Yankees had finished their scoring against loser Ken Johnson (2-4) and Bob Giggie by then. Skowron drove in four with a home run, single and sacrifice fly.

The Yankees, tying Detroit for the longest streak of the season in the AL, scored three in first inning triggered by Tony Kubek's leadoff home run. Skowron homered in the third and then capped a three-run fourth by driving in two with his single. The Moose closed it out with the long fly in the sixth.

County-City League Contests Are Set Up

The County-City League game scheduled today between Cox-Merchants and East Palestine will be played Friday at Patterson Field beginning at 6 p. m. The Lawrenceville-Negley game will be played Friday at Negley.

Senate Gets Baseball Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The baseball bill, which would liberalize the drafting of players from team to team, was in the lap of the Senate today. There was no indication how soon it might act.

The bill would provide that each major league club could own or control only 40 players exempt from draft by rival teams. There is one exception: A player would not be subject to draft until he had completed four years in organized baseball.

Just what effect the bill would have on the proposed Continental League drafting players from the National and American leagues remains to be seen.

The bill does not spell out whether a new league can simply declare itself in the majors and thus draft players, if he two older leagues dispute its right to do so.

The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday voted to report the bill to the Senate without any recommendation for or against its passage.

Yanks Eye Daley From 'Farm Club'

With eight victories, he's currently the American League's leading pitcher.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is holding court with newsmen in the dugout. His topic — Yankee outfielder Hector Lopez.

"He's going great. Boston wants him. Cleveland wants him. Chicago wants him. I don't know where they're gonna play him, but they all want him. Till he starts hitting, nobody wants him. Now they're all asking."

An upstart asks:

"Who do you want for him, Casey?"

Stengel bristles, "I didn't say I wanted for him. I'm just a-telling you they all want him."

The signs are unmistakable. If they make the right kind of a deal, someone is going to get Hector Lopez, who can fumble equally well with either hand but who also can drive in the runs.

So the cynics are wondering:

"What will Daley's number be on a Yankee uniform?"

"I SAY BOYS, shall we have another go at it?" seems to be the appropriate words for referee Joe Pushkal as Steve Ward of Hartford, Conn., (white trunks) casually drapes over Ronnie Cohen of New Rochelle, N. Y. The welterweights were meeting in a 10-round feature at St. Nicholas Arena Monday in New York. (UPI Telephoto)

America's Top Miler Out Of Olympic Games

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Don Bowden, America's first sub-four-minute miler, looked down at his cast-encased left leg today and smiled wryly:

"What a time for this to happen. I really thought I had a good chance of winning the 800 meters in the Olympics in Rome. Now I don't know if I'll ever run again."

The slim, 23-year-old University of California graduate suffered a torn achilles tendon in the 800-meter run in the Armed Forces Track Championships here Friday.

He underwent an operation Monday to repair the injured tendon and physicians pronounced it a success.

"They tell me that when it's all healed, the tendon will be stronger than ever, that they grafted some extra muscle," Bowden, an Army lieutenant, said. "But I'll be on crutches for a couple of months and won't be able to work out for perhaps a year."

Bowden, who got the United States into the 4-minute-mile club when he was caught in 3:58.7 three years ago, actually is the second fastest half-miler in history. His 1:47.2 is surpassed only by Tom Courtney's world record 1:46.8. Courtney won the 800 meters in the last Olympics in 1:47.7.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting—Johnny Logan, Braves, drove in five runs, with a double and clinching three-run triple, in comeback, 12-5 victory over the Giants.

Pitching —Bob Turley, Yankees, won fourth in a row with six-hit, seven-strikeout 8-4 decision over A's after allowing just one single through seven shutout innings.

Indians Win Ohio Crown, Shade Reds

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joe Gordon says he may start Ted Bowsfield, southpaw obtained by the Cleveland Indians Monday, against the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night at Municipal Stadium.

Gary Bell is to pitch tonight as the Orioles, trailing Cleveland by only half a game in the American League race, try to move back into first place. Baltimore manager Paul Richards will send Milt Pappas (3-5) to the mound if his arm is in shape. Otherwise Billy Hoeft (0-0) will be the Baltimore hurler.

Pappas complained of a stiff arm Monday.

Jim Perry (6-2) is slated to pitch the first game of Wednesday night's double bill. Bowsfield might pitch the second game or might start Thursday in the final game of the series.

The southpaw, who was 1-2 with Boston, was acquired along with outfielder Marty Keough in a trade that sent Cleveland catcher Russ Nixon and outfielder Carroll Hardy to the Red Sox.

The Indians edged Cincinnati 5-4 in an exhibition Monday night, scoring all five runs in the eighth inning.

Despite threatening weather, a crowd of 31,767 turned out for the annual Cleveland Baseball Federation Sandlot Day program. The Indians play a return game in Cincinnati next Monday.

Mike Lee, 6-foot-5 southpaw who had hurled only three innings for Cleveland in American League play, pitched the first five innings, giving up three runs.

Claude Osteen, slender Cincinnati southpaw, held the Indians to three hits over the first seven innings. But the Indians routed him with five hits in the eighth, and Cal McLish, former Cleveland ace, came in to relieve. Vic Power bunted Cal's first pitch down the first base line to drive in the winning run.

Little League Opening Slated At Salineville

Rain forced postponement of the opening of Little League season Monday at Salineville. The opening day program will be held Wednesday at 5 p. m. Four teams are participating in the league.

Ortiz 9-5 Pick Over Loi To Win Jr. Welter Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New Yorker Carlos Ortiz rates as the favorite at about 9-5 over Italian Duilio Loi for Wednesday night's junior welterweight title fight in the Cow Palace. He wants the victory as a stepping stone to a lightweight tile bout.

Despite Loi's impressive record and his European welterweight championship, most observers have been more impressed with the little Puerto Rican in his workout here.

In 110 bouts, Loi has lost only once and hasn't been defeated in the past seven years. At 31, he finally is getting a shot at a world championship after being a high ranking lightweight contender several times.

Ortiz, 24, has lost only two of 33 fights. He reversed each loss in rematches.

The wedding is planned June 25.

To keep his amateur status airtight, he has made no mention of possible plans to play pro basketball after the Olympics.

Fastest mile ever run by an American was turned in April 23, 1960 by Dyrol Burleson, 19, at Eugene, Ore. He was timed in 3:56.6.

Perdue Eyes Juicy Offers

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Ohio State University's hard and frequent hitting outfielder, Tom Perdue, thinks he'll go back to school next fall—"unless bonus offers get a little higher."

Perdue, who hit .469 in his first year of college competition, told a hometown newspaper that the Cleveland Indians have offered him "about $30,000."

He was named Monday to the All-America baseball team picked by the Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Perdue said he still wants to play football at Ohio State next fall. "But if the bonus offers get any higher," he concedes, "I'll have to think about it awfully hard." He was a first-team defensive end as a sophomore last year.

Perdue currently is playing amateur baseball with Pierre, S. D., along with an Ohio State teammate, third baseman Ray Apple. Apple was selected as a third team All-America.

2 Eagles Top Golf Contest

Firing sparkling eagle two's on the 330-yard first hole, Bob Patterson and J. S. Probst finished as the winner and runnerup in Saturday's par-birdie-eagle contest at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Patterson won the event with 30 points while Probst finished with 26. Patterson holed out a wedge shot for his eagle and Probst dropped in his second stroke with an eight-iron.

Dr. H. F. Banfield was third with 25 and Everson Hall had 24 points.

In the second division, Dick Heddleston was tops with 31 and W. A. Porter accumulated 20 points.

8 Local Golfers Win In National Golf Day

Eight golfers beat Billy Casper in the National Golf Day competition Saturday at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Casper fired a 67 at the Firestone Country Club in Akron. Scores of local players and their handicaps follow: Mrs. Gordon Weese 92-32-60, Mrs. Robert Patterson 93-31-62, Bob Patterson 70-7-63, Don E. Finish In Cellar Higgins Says He Doesn't Intend To DETROIT (AP) —Mike Higgins reached for the reins of the Boston Red Sox again today and indicated he doesn't intend to finish in the American League cellar.

Asked whether he thought the club was a last-place team — and that's where it is after losing 25 of its last 32 starts — Higgins replied:

"I wouldn't think so. I certainly wouldn't think so."

He fended off questions about specific weaknesses or plans, however, saying "I haven't seen the team. I'll tell you about that in a couple of weeks."

Reds Attempting 12th-Hour Trade

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are beating the bushes for a talent they've had a-plenty in recent years—hitting.

With one day left to trade, General Manager Gabe Paul expects to spend much of today like Monday—on long distance telephone calls.

"I'm not optimistic about our chance of making a deal of any importance," he said Monday night, adding:

"Every club I've talked with the past few days asks that we give up one of our frontline players for two or three of their bench warmers. This we don't do."

He said he plans another pitch to the Philadelphia Phils today on getting outfielder Wally Post, a former Redleg.

"I feel quite sure that Wally will be traded by midnight Wednesday," Paul said. "However, that doesn't necessarily mean it will be to the Reds."

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore and Cleveland get going on a four-game argument over the American League lead tonight, but the New York Yankees, frolicking along at Kansas City, could have the last word.

The Orioles are a half-game behind the Indians as they open the three-day series at Cleveland. But the third place Yankees are just one game shy of the top after winning their sixth in a row with an 8-4 decision over the A's Monday night in the only AL game scheduled.

In the National League, first-place Pittsburgh carries a one-game lead into San Francisco tonight for the first of three games with the second-place Giants. San Francisco blew a 4-0 lead and lost 12-5 to Milwaukee Monday in the only game scheduled.

It's Jim Perry (6-2), a right-hander shooting for his sixth straight success, for the Indians, and either Milt Pappas (3-5) or Billy Hoeft, the lefty just recalled from the minors, for the Birds.

Cleveland took over first place by winning five in a row, then slipped to second by losing the first two games of a scheduled four-game set in New York last weekend. The Indians climbed back on top Sunday when rain postponed their doubleheader with the Yankees and the Orioles lost two to Kansas City.

While the Birds and Indians play four, including a twi-night pair scheduled for Wednesday, the Yankees have three more left with KC.

The Yankees made it seven straight over Kansas City, five this season, behind right-hander Bob Turley and slugging Moose Skowron Monday night.

Turley, now 4-1 with his fourth straight victory, had a one-hitter and had faced the minimum 21 men until the A's broke through for all their runs in the eighth. The Yankees had finished their scoring against loser Ken Johnson (2-4) and Bob Giggie by then. Skowron drove in four with a home run, single and sacrifice fly.

The Yankees, tying Detroit for the longest streak of the season in the AL, scored three in first inning triggered by Tony Kubek's leadoff home run. Skowron homered in the third and then capped a three-run fourth by driving in two with his single. The Moose closed it out with the long fly in the sixth.

County-City League Contests Are Set Up

Senate Gets Baseball Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The baseball bill, which would liberalize the drafting of players from team to team, was in the lap of the Senate today. There was no indication how soon it might act.

The bill would provide that each major league club could own or control only 40 players exempt from draft by rival teams. There is one exception: A player would not be subject to draft until he had completed four years in organized baseball.

Just what effect the bill would have on the proposed Continental League drafting players from the National and American leagues remains to be seen.

The bill does not spell out whether a new league can simply declare itself in the majors and thus draft players, if he two older leagues dispute its right to do so.

The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday voted to report the bill to the Senate without any recommendation for or against its passage.

Yanks Eye Daley From 'Farm Club'

With eight victories, he's currently the American League's leading pitcher.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is holding court with newsmen in the dugout. His topic — Yankee outfielder Hector Lopez.

"He's going great. Boston wants him. Cleveland wants him. Chicago wants him. I don't know where they're gonna play him, but they all want him. Till he starts hitting, nobody wants him. Now they're all asking."

An upstart asks:

"Who do you want for him, Casey?"

Stengel bristles, "I didn't say I wanted for him. I'm just a-telling you they all want him."

The signs are unmistakable. If they make the right kind of a deal, someone is going to get Hector Lopez, who can fumble equally well with either hand but who also can drive in the runs.

So the cynics are wondering:

"What will Daley's number be on a Yankee uniform?"

"I SAY BOYS, shall we have another go at it?" seems to be the appropriate words for referee Joe Pushkal as Steve Ward of Hartford, Conn., (white trunks) casually drapes over Ronnie Cohen of New Rochelle, N. Y. The welterweights were meeting in a 10-round feature at St. Nicholas Arena Monday in New York. (UPI Telephoto)

America's Top Miler Out Of Olympic Games

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Don Bowden, America's first sub-four-minute miler, looked down at his cast-encased left leg today and smiled wryly:

"What a time for this to happen. I really thought I had a good chance of winning the 800 meters in the Olympics in Rome. Now I don't know if I'll ever run again."

The slim, 23-year-old University of California graduate suffered a torn achilles tendon in the 800-meter run in the Armed Forces Track Championships here Friday.

He underwent an operation Monday to repair the injured tendon and physicians pronounced it a success.

"They tell me that when it's all healed, the tendon will be stronger than ever, that they grafted some extra muscle," Bowden, an Army lieutenant, said. "But I'll be on crutches for a couple of months and won't be able to work out for perhaps a year."

Bowden, who got the United States into the 4-minute-mile club when he was caught in 3:58.7 three years ago, actually is the second fastest half-miler in history. His 1:47.2 is surpassed only by Tom Courtney's world record 1:46.8. Courtney won the 800 meters in the last Olympics in 1:47.7.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting—Johnny Logan, Braves, drove in five runs, with a double and clinching three-run triple, in comeback, 12-5 victory over the Giants.

Pitching —Bob Turley, Yankees, won fourth in a row with six-hit, seven-strikeout 8-4 decision over A's after allowing just one single through seven shutout innings.

Indians Win Ohio Crown, Shade Reds

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joe Gordon says he may start Ted Bowsfield, southpaw obtained by the Cleveland Indians Monday, against the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night at Municipal Stadium.

Gary Bell is to pitch tonight as the Orioles, trailing Cleveland by only half a game in the American League race, try to move back into first place. Baltimore manager Paul Richards will send Milt Pappas (3-5) to the mound if his arm is in shape. Otherwise Billy Hoeft (0-0) will be the Baltimore hurler.

Pappas complained of a stiff arm Monday.

Jim Perry (6-2) is slated to pitch the first game of Wednesday night's double bill. Bowsfield might pitch the second game or might start Thursday in the final game of the series.

The southpaw, who was 1-2 with Boston, was acquired along with outfielder Marty Keough in a trade that sent Cleveland catcher Russ Nixon and outfielder Carroll Hardy to the Red Sox.

The Indians edged Cincinnati 5-4 in an exhibition Monday night, scoring all five runs in the eighth inning.

Despite threatening weather, a crowd of 31,767 turned out for the annual Cleveland Baseball Federation Sandlot Day program. The Indians play a return game in Cincinnati next Monday.

Mike Lee, 6-foot-5 southpaw who had hurled only three innings for Cleveland in American League play, pitched the first five innings, giving up three runs.

Claude Osteen, slender Cincinnati southpaw, held the Indians to three hits over the first seven innings. But the Indians routed him with five hits in the eighth, and Cal McLish, former Cleveland ace, came in to relieve. Vic Power bunted Cal's first pitch down the first base line to drive in the winning run.

Little League Opening Slated At Salineville

Rain forced postponement of the opening of Little League season Monday at Salineville. The opening day program will be held Wednesday at 5 p. m. Four teams are participating in the league.

Ortiz 9-5 Pick Over Loi To Win Jr. Welter Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New Yorker Carlos Ortiz rates as the favorite at about 9-5 over Italian Duilio Loi for Wednesday night's junior welterweight title fight in the Cow Palace. He wants the victory as a stepping stone to a lightweight tile bout.

Despite Loi's impressive record and his European welterweight championship, most observers have been more impressed with the little Puerto Rican in his workout here.

In 110 bouts, Loi has lost only once and hasn't been defeated in the past seven years. At 31, he finally is getting a shot at a world championship after being a high ranking lightweight contender several times.

Ortiz, 24, has lost only two of 33 fights. He reversed each loss in rematches.

Canfield Sets Speed Test On Friday Night

Canfield Speedway, which has taken two setbacks on major events this season because of rain, will try again Friday night with an extra speed session involving the most famous drivers in the United States going the long route of 100-laps in a USAC-sanctioned midget auto race.

Heading the list of speed greats is Ed Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, nine times at the Indianapolis "500". He drove one of the Jim Robbins Specials for Floyd Trevis of Youngstown in this year's race and collected for sixth place, after actually finishing fifth and being penalized for having too many pit crew members on his fuel stop.

Also signed among the early birds are Gene Force, Richmond, Ind., who drove one of the Ray McKay (Youngstown) specials in this year's 500-classic and Bill Homeier, Pacoima, Calif., who started but didn't finish.

Jim Shaffer, Slippery Rock, Pa., Bill Spear, Warren; Buddy Martin, Cleveland; and Ed Stanley, Brecksville, will be district pilots who join the big time circuit for the seven-event card which includes three laps of qualifying for each contestant, five 10-lap prelims and the 18-entry, 100-lap final.

Time trials begin at 7 and racing at 8:30 p. m.

Year's Layoff Helps

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A year's absence of professional baseball has done wonders for the sport here. In 1958, the year before the city lost its Southern Assn. franchise, the Travelers drew an average of 905 fans per game. This year, after securing the defunct New Orleans franchise, they drew an average of 2,414 fans in their first 12 home games.

Lightning Causes Fire

Lawrence Thinks Adlai Would Run On Party Urging

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania says he thinks Adlai E. Stevenson would run for president if the Democratic party urged him.

Lawrence, a powerful Democratic leader and staunch supporter of Stevenson in the 1952 and 1956 Democratic conventions, discounted statements by some that Stevenson could not win in view of the two previous losses.

"I think all Democrats can win," Lawrence told a news conference Monday.

Lawrence, who will head Pennsylvania's 81-vote delegation to the national convention in Los Angeles July 11, said he conferred with Stevenson by telephone during a weekend trip to Chicago.

"We talked about the whole (political) picture," Lawrence said. He declined to elaborate.

Tickets In Demand

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tickets to the Minnesota state high school basketball tournament are so hard to get the average applicant has to put in for tickets five consecutive years before getting consideration. The tournament annually fills the 18,500-seat University of Minnesota arena for each championship round.

Tough Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Portocarrero, big right hander with Baltimore, worked 24 exhibition innings this spring and gave up only one earned run. When he faced the Yankees in relief, two singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly netted a run in his first appearance of the American League season.

Overtime Champs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's basketball Buffaloes didn't win any championships last season, but they think they gained some distinction just the same.

The Buffs figure they may have played in more overtime periods than any college team in the country. They played 11 extra periods.

Strike Benefits Ruled Gift And Tax-Free

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today sidestepped an outright ruling on whether benefits paid by unions to striking workers are free from federal income taxes.

But by a 6-3 vote the court upheld the verdict of a federal court jury in Wisconsin that benefits paid a striking Kohler Co. worker were a gift not subject to federal tax.

Justice Brennan, writing the court's main opinion, said "The jury in this case, as finder of the facts, acted within its competence in concluding that the assistance rendered here (to the striker) was a gift. . . ."

Cheering Is Out

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Olga Hytrek, freshman cheerleader at Lusk high school, will be on the bench for the final games.

Crushed To Death

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Theodore Haueter, 19, was crushed to death by a bulldozer he had been using in Middlefield Twp. Monday. The youth, who was working for his father, Russell, a Chardon contractor, apparently got off the bulldozer and it rolled on him.

64 Survivors Seek Junior Golf Crown

A suburban Columbus youth won medalist honors in Monday's 18-hole qualifying round over the 6,400-yard, par 36-36—72 Possum Run course. He is Tim Moench, No. 1 man on Upper Arlington High School's state championship golf team, who posted a par 38-34—72.

Tom Moore of Napoleon and Milt Williams of Mount Vernon were right behind with 73s.

Cutoff point for the championship bracket was 83 or under. Don Harris of Mount Vernon, last year's medalist with a 70, shot an 81 Monday.

Each of the 64 qualifiers plays one 18-hole round of match play today, cutting the field to 32. Double 18-hole rounds (two matches for each survivor) are scheduled Wednesday and Thursday, with a 36-hole final Friday for the two who are left.

Players are all under 19 years of age in this second annual tournament, the only open match play event for juniors on a statewide basis. The participants come from throughout the state despite the "North Central Ohio" tourney name.

The top 10 qualifiers:

Tim Moench, Upper Arlington, 38-34—72.

Tom Moore, Napoleon, 36-37—73.

Milt Williams, Mount Vernon, 36-37—73.

Jack Andrish, Cuyahoga Falls, 37-37—74.

Chuck Darrell, Marion, 36-38—74.

Jim Edmunds, Sylvania, 35-39—74.

John Gall, Maumee, 35-39—74.

Barry Jateff, Akron, 39-35—74.

Dave Oswalt, Mansfield, 38-36—74.

Evan Schiltz, North Canton, 37-37—74.

Rocket Sleds Shatter Two Speed Records

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE N.M. (AP)—Two speed records have been shattered by monorail rocket sleds on Holloman's 7-mile test track.

One of the high-speed runs was made by a 2½-ton, 4-foot rocket, composed of three Nike rocket boosters fired in three stages. It reached a speed of 2,650 miles an hour and traveled 5½ miles in 15 seconds.

The second monorail sled was powered by three Javelin rockets, fired simultaneously. In a 25,000-foot run, the sled hit a speed of monorail sled run at the Holloman track.

Horse Condemned To Die Is Winning At Waterford

When Atlas Missile romped home in his latest start to make it two in a row at Waterford Park, it was more than just a victory to his owner, Mrs. Betty Casey. It was a vindication of her judgment and a rare tribute to the courage of a thoroughbred who, twice condemned to death, came back from the shadows to seek his birthright on the turf.

Atlas Missile was claimed by Mrs. Casey in Maryland for $6,500, and seemed a bargain at the price. Shortly afterwards, however, he contacted a severe case of pneumonia, and when he seemed recovered from this ailment he began to hemmorhage badly after every workout. Veterinarians, called in for consultation, were unanimous in their verdict.

"This colt will never race again," they said. "It is best to destroy him humanely."

Mrs. Casey, whose love for a horse goes far beyond his ability to win purse money, refused to accept the decision, so Atlas Missile was sent to her Berryville, Va., farm for a long period of recuperation.

There the highlights came dancing back into his eyes, and his coat took on the burnished copper glint of health, and Atlas Missile was returned to the races at Charles Town where morning trials revealed all the flame and fire of his earlier career. Then again disaster struck.

Returning from a workout, playful and frisking, Atlas Missile picked up a small nail in his hoof, and lockjaw set in. Again he began to waste away to become a ghost of his former self. Once more veterinarians looked him over and said "This colt can not live."

It was back to the farm and another long spell of convalescence before trainer R. B. Murray took the colt under his wing earlier this Spring. Shipped to Waterford Park, the 4-year-old son of Ponder has won both of his local starts, and in a manner to indicate he may be one of the best performers on the grounds.

In his latest he defeated his company by nearly eight lengths, and is undoubtedly headed for the handicap heights before the Waterford season closes on August 6.

That is why Mrs. Casey has found chills as well as thrills in the ownership of a horse. It is the uncertainty of the chase, the Dresden-vase fragility of the thoroughbred, the hundred-and-one ailments to which the horse is susceptible, any one of which may write his finish at the peak of his career.

Yet because Atlas Missile was fortunate enough to have an owner who loved him he is alive today and returning, in unselfish devotion, all that he has to offer—his speed, his courage and his confidence that all again is right with his little world.

Jake LaMotta To Face Senate Quiz On Fights

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, for quizzing today about his stormy up-and-down ring career.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, mentioned an earlier New York state investigation of "possible bribe offers to LaMotta."

Kefauver filed the statement with the subcommittee as part of the official record. He said the group would explore allegations that underworld figures are conspiring with some big shots in the boxing promotion field to wield monopoly role over professional boxing.

Police protection reportedly has been arranged for LaMotta and several other witnesses.

Kefauver said assorted hoodlums and boxing figures, some of them hostile witnesses, will testify in various stages of the investigation.

He said the hearing will center on two of LaMotta's Madison Square Garden bouts in 1947, and the 1949 bout in which LaMotta beat Marcel Cerdan by a technical knockout in Detroit to win the middleweight title.

The subcommittee said it is looking into the June 6, 1947, middleweight match in which LaMotta won a decision over Tony Janiro, and a bout on Nov. 14 the same year in which Billy Fox scored a surprising 10-round technical knockout victory over LaMotta in a light heavyweight bout.

Canfield Sets Speed Test On Friday Night

Canfield Speedway, which has taken two setbacks on major events this season because of rain, will try again Friday night with an extra speed session involving the most famous drivers in the United States going the long route of 100-laps in a USAC-sanctioned midget auto race.

Heading the list of speed greats is Ed Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, nine times at the Indianapolis "500". He drove one of the Jim Robbins Specials for Floyd Trevis of Youngstown in this year's race and collected for sixth place, after actually finishing fifth and being penalized for having too many pit crew members on his fuel stop.

Jim Shaffer, Slippery Rock, Pa., Bill Spear, Warren; Buddy Martin, Cleveland; and Ed Stanley, Brecksville, will be district pilots who join the big time circuit for the seven-event card which includes three laps of qualifying for each contestant, five 10-lap prelims and the 18-entry, 100-lap final.

Time trials begin at 7 and racing at 8:30 p. m.

Year's Layoff Helps

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A year's absence of professional baseball has done wonders for the sport here. In 1958, the year before the city lost its Southern Assn. franchise, the Traverlers drew an average of 905 fans per game. This year, after securing the defunct New Orleans franchise, they drew an average of 2,414 fans in their first 12 home games.

Lightning Causes Fire

Lawrence Thinks Adlai Would Run On Party Urging

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania says he thinks Adlai E. Stevenson would run for president if the Democratic party urged him.

Lawrence, a powerful Democratic leader and staunch supporter of Stevenson in the 1952 and 1956 Democratic conventions, discounted statements by some that Stevenson could not win in view of the two previous losses.

"I think all Democrats can win," Lawrence told a news conference Monday.

Lawrence, who will head Pennsylvania's 81-vote delegation to the national convention in Los Angeles July 11, said he conferred with Stevenson by telephone during a weekend trip to Chicago.

"We talked about the whole (political) picture," Lawrence said. He declined to elaborate.

Tickets In Demand

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tickets to the Minnesota state high school basketball tournament are so hard to get the average applicant has to put in for tickets five consecutive years before getting consideration. The tournament annually fills the 18,500-seat University of Minnesota arena for each championship round.

Tough Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Portocarrero, big right hander with Baltimore, worked 24 exhibition innings this spring and gave up only one earned run. When he faced the Yankees in relief, two singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly netted a run in his first appearance of the American League season.

Overtime Champs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's basketball Buffaloes didn't win any championships last season, but they think they gained some distinction just the same.

The Buffs figure they may have played in more overtime periods than any college team in the country. They played 11 extra periods.

Strike Benefits Ruled Gift And Tax-Free

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today sidestepped an outright ruling on whether benefits paid by unions to striking workers are free from federal income taxes.

But by a 6-3 vote the court upheld the verdict of a federal court jury in Wisconsin that benefits paid a striking Kohler Co. worker were a gift not subject to federal tax.

Justice Brennan, writing the court's main opinion, said "The jury in this case, as finder of the facts, acted within its competence in concluding that the assistance rendered here (to the striker) was a gift. . . ."

Cheering Is Out

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Olga Hytrek, freshman cheerleader at Lusk high school, will be on the bench for the final games.

Crushed To Death

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Theodore Haueter, 19, was crushed to death by a bulldozer he had been using in Middlefield Twp. Monday. The youth, who was working for his father, Russell, a Chardon contractor, apparently got off the bulldozer and it rolled on him.

64 Survivors Seek Junior Golf Crown

A suburban Columbus youth won medalist honors in Monday's 18-hole qualifying round over the 6,400-yard, par 36-36—72 Possum Run course. He is Tim Moench, No. 1 man on Upper Arlington High School's state championship golf team, who posted a par 38-34—72.

Tom Moore of Napoleon and Milt Williams of Mount Vernon were right behind with 73s.

Cutoff point for the championship bracket was 83 or under. Don Harris of Mount Vernon, last year's medalist with a 70, shot an 81 Monday.

Each of the 64 qualifiers plays one 18-hole round of match play today, cutting the field to 32. Double 18-hole rounds (two matches for each survivor) are scheduled Wednesday and Thursday, with a 36-hole final Friday for the two who are left.

Players are all under 19 years of age in this second annual tournament, the only open match play event for juniors on a statewide basis. The participants come from throughout the state despite the "North Central Ohio" tourney name.

The top 10 qualifiers:

Tim Moench, Upper Arlington, 38-34—72.

Tom Moore, Napoleon, 36-37—73.

Milt Williams, Mount Vernon, 36-37—73.

Jack Andrish, Cuyahoga Falls, 37-37—74.

Chuck Darrell, Marion, 36-38—74.

Jim Edmunds, Sylvania, 35-39—74.

John Gall, Maumee, 35-39—74.

Barry Jateff, Akron, 39-35—74.

Dave Oswalt, Mansfield, 38-36—74.

Evan Schiltz, North Canton, 37-37—74.

Rocket Sleds Shatter Two Speed Records

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE N.M. (AP)—Two speed records have been shattered by monorail rocket sleds on Holloman's 7-mile test track.

One of the high-speed runs was made by a 2½-ton, 4-foot rocket, composed of three Nike rocket boosters fired in three stages. It reached a speed of 2,650 miles an hour and traveled 5½ miles in 15 seconds.

The second monorail sled was powered by three Javelin rockets, fired simultaneously. In a 25,000-foot run, the sled hit a speed of monorail sled run at the Holloman track.

Horse Condemned To Die Is Winning At Waterford

When Atlas Missile romped home in his latest start to make it two in a row at Waterford Park, it was more than just a victory to his owner, Mrs. Betty Casey. It was a vindication of her judgment and a rare tribute to the courage of a thoroughbred who, twice condemned to death, came back from the shadows to seek his birthright on the turf.

Atlas Missile was claimed by Mrs. Casey in Maryland for $6,500, and seemed a bargain at the price. Shortly afterwards, however, he contacted a severe case of pneumonia, and when he seemed recovered from this ailment he began to hemmorhage badly after every workout. Veterinarians, called in for consultation, were unanimous in their verdict.

"This colt will never race again," they said. "It is best to destroy him humanely."

Mrs. Casey, whose love for a horse goes far beyond his ability to win purse money, refused to accept the decision, so Atlas Missile was sent to her Berryville, Va., farm for a long period of recuperation.

There the highlights came dancing back into his eyes, and his coat took on the burnished copper glint of health, and Atlas Missile was returned to the races at Charles Town where morning trials revealed all the flame and fire of his earlier career. Then again disaster struck.

Returning from a workout, playful and frisking, Atlas Missile picked up a small nail in his hoof, and lockjaw set in. Again he began to waste away to become a ghost of his former self. Once more veterinarians looked him over and said "This colt can not live."

It was back to the farm and another long spell of convalescence before trainer R. B. Murray took the colt under his wing earlier this Spring. Shipped to Waterford Park, the 4-year-old son of Ponder has won both of his local starts, and in a manner to indicate he may be one of the best performers on the grounds.

In his latest he defeated his company by nearly eight lengths, and is undoubtedly headed for the handicap heights before the Waterford season closes on August 6.

That is why Mrs. Casey has found chills as well as thrills in the ownership of a horse. It is the uncertainty of the chase, the Dresden-vase fragility of the thoroughbred, the hundred-and-one ailments to which the horse is susceptible, any one of which may write his finish at the peak of his career.

Yet because Atlas Missile was fortunate enough to have an owner who loved him he is alive today and returning, in unselfish devotion, all that he has to offer—his speed, his courage and his confidence that all again is right with his little world.

Jake LaMotta To Face Senate Quiz On Fights

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, for quizzing today about his stormy up-and-down ring career.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, mentioned an earlier New York state investigation of "possible bribe offers to LaMotta."

Kefauver filed the statement with the subcommittee as part of the official record. He said the group would explore allegations that underworld figures are conspiring with some big shots in the boxing promotion field to wield monopoly role over professional boxing.

Police protection reportedly has been arranged for LaMotta and several other witnesses.

Kefauver said assorted hoodlums and boxing figures, some of them hostile witnesses, will testify in various stages of the investigation.

He said the hearing will center on two of LaMotta's Madison Square Garden bouts in 1947, and the 1949 bout in which LaMotta beat Marcel Cerdan by a technical knockout in Detroit to win the middleweight title.

The subcommittee said it is looking into the June 6, 1947, middleweight match in which LaMotta won a decision over Tony Janiro, and a bout on Nov. 14 the same year in which Billy Fox scored a surprising 10-round technical knockout victory over LaMotta in a light heavyweight bout.

By MARIE TORRE

Stay Home Tonight To See Top Flight TV

Oscar Wilde said, "It is always a silly thing to give advice, but to give good advice is absolutely fatal." This would put us among the foolhardy, for we're going to toss caution to the winds and advise — nay, urge— viewers to stay home tonight — not the entire night, just the period between 8:30 and 10 p.m.! On view during the 90 minutes will be an NBC program which will compensate — partially, at least, if not fully — for all the misadventures that have been inflicted on the TV addict in recent weeks.

Marie Torre

This 90-minute refresher is called "How Tall Is a Giant?" and it's about the 14 boys of the legendary Monterrey (Mexico) team which won the Little League world championship in 1957.

BUT TO CALL "How Tall Is a Giant?" a baseball story is to call "Alice in Wonderland" a children's story. The TV show is, rather, a moving, inspirational narrative in the best tradition of human interest.

Nothing about it is colored by show business tinsel. It's all real—the story, the settings and the participants, from the 14 little Monterrey heroes to the coach (Cesar Faz, a Mexican who was born and reared in the United States), to the team's founder and manager (Harold (Lucky) Haskins, an American living in Monterrey).

There's not an actor in the cast, but the film produced by George P. Werker glistens with professionalism ... and heart — mostly heart. It's that kind of story.

THE 14 BOYS comprising the Monterrey 1957 Little League world championship ball club lived and still live in incredible poverty.

Before they enrolled in the ball club, most of them never had worn shoes. Before they came to do baseball battle in the United States, none ever had had a glass of milk. Or daily showers. Or a bed.

Even Angel Macias, their ambidextrous pitcher and "star," still lives with his family in an adobe hut the size of a hotel room. This, in spite of the fact that he is in line to receive a bonus of $100,000 from a major league ball club when he turns 18.

Nobody expected the Mexican sprites to go beyond the first round in the Little League competition, so their original visas for entry in the United States were only for three days.

When it became evident that their chances were better, the visas were extended, and for the 30 days they remained here their uniforms were their only clothing. They had no funds to buy other clothes.

LACK OF MONEY was a major obstacle all the way. When the team was first founded, the boys tried to sell tickets to raise club funds. They also performed odd jobs. Macias, the appealing star of the team — and the movie — earned a few pennies carrying water for his neighbors.

During the team's first week in Texas, one of the boys, given a dollar by an admirer, immediately changed it into 10 dimes and ate 10 ice cream pops within an hour.

One year before, when the team was being formed, this same boy had been discovered eating from a garbage pail in a Monterrey back street.

Their entry to America was inauspicious, to say the least. They had to walk the seven miles from the border to the baseball field, for they didn't have the bus fare. And they all slept in one room to save money during most of the trip.

When they returned as heroes to Mexico, they were all given scholarships to Monterrey's best private school. One boy almost had to turn down his scholarship for he didn't have the 50 centavos (4 cents) for the bus fare to and from school.

These are the heroes of "How Tall Is a Giant?" You'll be the better for having met them.

THE ITINERANT Ed Murrow, commuting between the U.S. and Europe on "CBS Reports" business, paused long enough to answer an interviewer's question on the gravest issue facing the people of America today.

Responded Murrow: "We must acquire our sense of purpose as a people ... No people ever has been given unless greatness has been demanded by its leaders ... This is the basic problem ... to acquire our sense of mission."

Lisbon Council Vacates Alley For Store Use

The alley, from N. Jefferson St. to the Tony Catanzarite lot, was vacated at the request of Carl M. Turk of Signal, representing the Carl M. Turk Enterprises, which said it plans to erect two new buildings for lease to a food retailer and a tire store.

Leonard Toot, Clarence Fife and Catanzarite urged that the alley remain open, but Turk said he wouldn't close the strip but planned to black top it and that they could still drive over the parking lot and reach N. Jefferson St.

An ordinance granting The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. a 7.8 per cent rate increase was given second reading by a vote of 4-2. Mrs. Blanche Neill and Raymond Dixon were opposed and Robert Lower, Robert Kelm, Fred Steele and Joseph Dornon, favored the hike for the same vote as first reading.

An ordinance raising the salary of Clerk Edgar Kirk of the Board of Public Affairs, from $270 to $310 per month, was passed on final reading.

Three employes of the street department had requested a pay raise and pay on legal holidays but council said that due to present finances it would be impossible to increase their wages. A request of two police officers for pay raises also was rejected for financial reasons.

Council now has only $13,500 in the general fund and $8,800 in street fund. Last year at this time, the general fund was about the same but the street fund contained $21,000, Clerk Ray Hempstead reported.

The finance committee, composed of Kelm, Dixon and Dornon, is expected to meet and try to come up with some type of bond issue or operating levy which might be placed on the ballot in November. Since State Highway Patrol cases are not being tried in mayor's courts anymore, revenues for operations of the smaller villages have dropped considerably.

W. A. Peters, assistant fire chief, asked if Council had made any arrangements to purchase uniforms for the three probational firemen. Council said it had discussed the matter.

Earl Dickey of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was given permission to block E. Lincoln Way, from Vine St. east to Harrison St., for a vehicle traffic check June 27-29. A recheck may be held June 30 or July 5.

Mayor Dean Stockman is expected to proclaim Safety Check Week.

Dickey also requested that Council provide plans for a recreation center near the Sadie VanFossan Swimming Pool so the Jaycees can begin work on a second tennis court and a basketball court. Permission will be sought from the park committee, Steele, Dixon and Mrs. Neill.

Dickey also proposed a drinking fountain be installed near the tennis courts and ball field. He said merchants might help. Council said it was doubtful because of finances.

However, Turk informed Council if the Jaycees can extend the water line he would provide the fountain.

Radio Club Completes Plans For Field Day

Final plans for participation in the annual nationwide amateur radio Field Day June 25-26 were made at a meeting of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club Monday night at the Smith St. quarters.

Arrangemens were made to operate a club radio center at the Swaney Airport for the two-day period. About 19 attended the session at which Jack Hales of Blackmore St. was enrolled as a member.

John Sironovich, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be June 27.

3 Youths Deprived Of Driving Permits

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of three youths.

They were James Joseph Gallagher, 16, of Salem, 60 days for reckless operation; Ralph Arthur Wisler, 16, of Leetonia R. D. 3, 30 days for speeding, and Jay Gregory Albright, 16, of Salem, 10 days for failing to yield the right-of-way and driving left of the centerline. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Japan had larger battleships than the United States during World War II.

State Department To Refute Charges On Furniture Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department promised today what it called "a detailed refutation" of charges by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) that it was guilty of serious irregularities in buying furniture.

Proxmire told the Senate Monday that a firm headed by the son of Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller had received nine contracts totaling $89,400 for furniture for embassies abroad.

"Not one of the contracts was awarded on the basis of competitive bids," Proxmire said.

He particularly criticized the purchase of more than $69,000 of furniture for the U.S. Embassy in Caracas, Venezuela, and the shipment of most of it there by plane at an added cost of $30,000.

He rejected as unsatisfactory the State Department's explanation that the decision to ship by plane was made because of a longshoremen's strike. He said the strike ended last Oct. 9 and the embassy wasn't ready for occupancy until Nov. 1.

The State Department said that if the furniture had not arrived by Nov. 1, it would have had to retain its old quarters for another month at a rental cost of $11,000.

Fairfield Bible School To Close With Program

The closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible School of the East Fairfield Methodist Church will be held Friday night at 7:30.

Open church rites will be observed for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Esenwein and Fred Vosloh of Cleveland Saturday afternoon at 4:30 at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McQuiston and William McQuiston are en route to Florida for a vacation after visiting relatives in Kentucky.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Mary Wilson were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rymer and Mrs. Ella Heckman of Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Maeder of Rocky River spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clair Jones.

Mrs. Liza Horner and Mrs. Ilma Agnew of Cleveland visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brothers over the weekend. Mrs. Mildred Drummond of Girard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker and Denise Baker attended a family gathering Sunday at Copeland Lake in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Martha Cope of Leetonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of East Palestine visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crook Saturday.

Lions Expect 250 For Zone Outing

Some 250 members and guests are expected to attend the zone picnic of six area Lions' Clubs Wednesday at the Williams Wild Life Farm at New Waterford.

The zone includes clubs in East Liverpool, Lisbon, New Waterford, Carrollton, Malvern and Minerva, George McCullough of East Liverpool, zone chairman, said.

Golfing will be held in the afternoon at the East Palestine Country Club at Negley with a tour of the wild life farm at 4:30 p. m.

A basket picnic will be held at 6:30 p. m. with the clubs furnishing ice cream, cold drinks, rolls, butter and coffee, McCullough said. A ball game will be played at 7:30 between the Lisbon and New Waterford clubs and a band concert will be presented at 8:30.

Employment Gained Million During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — A million-man increase in employment in May was reported by the Labor Department Monday.

The substantial gain, about normal or slightly better for the season, carried the nation's total civilian employment to a record for the month at 67,208,000.

Unemployment fell by about 200,000 to 3,459,000. This also was about an average movement for May.

2 Officials Fail Bar Exam

Buckeye Boys State Has Touchy Problem To Face

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Buckeye Boys State, the week-long school in self-government for 1,171 young Ohioans, has a touchy problem on its hands:

Two unnamed high officials in the legal or judicial fields failed to pass the bar examination after their election.

The bar association says the two will be given another chance to pass the test, but if they don't, "new officers probably will be chosen."

Of the 185 Boys State citizens who did pass the test, perfect scores were turned in by Kenneth Webber of Fowler and Scott Fenstermaker of Warren.

The Nationalist Party, which won five of the six top state offices, holds control in the Senate by a 28-18 margin. But in the House, the Federalists have a 51-41 majority. Linus Upson III of Dayton was elected House speaker.

Boys State Gov. James E. White of Columbus appointed his defeated opponent, Curt Freed of Euclid, to his cabinet as commerce director.

Priest At Dungannon To Mark Ordination

LISBON — Fr. Richard Buchman, pastor of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon and St. Agatha Church at West Point, will mark the 25th anniversary of his ordination with a special Sacred Heart service Sunday at 3:30 p. m. in St. Philip's.

Fr. Buchman has served the two parishes since April 10, 1954.

Fr. Buchman was ordained by Bishop Rospond in the Diocese of Silesia, Breslau, Poland.

He was assistant pastor at the Sacred Heart Church at Youngstown for nine years and served the Immaculate Conception Church in Ravenna and St. Mary's in Massillon before coming to Columbiana County.

A reception will follow in the Parish Hall.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Stay Home Tonight To See Top Flight TV

Oscar Wilde said, "It is always a silly thing to give advice, but to give good advice is absolutely fatal." This would put us among the foolhardy, for we're going to toss caution to the winds and advise — nay, urge— viewers to stay home tonight — not the entire night, just the period between 8:30 and 10 p.m.! On view during the 90 minutes will be an NBC program which will compensate — partially, at least, if not fully — for all the misadventures that have been inflicted on the TV addict in recent weeks.

Marie Torre

This 90-minute refresher is called "How Tall Is a Giant?" and it's about the 14 boys of the legendary Monterrey (Mexico) team which won the Little League world championship in 1957.

BUT TO CALL "How Tall Is a Giant?" a baseball story is to call "Alice in Wonderland" a children's story. The TV show is, rather, a moving, inspirational narrative in the best tradition of human interest.

Nothing about it is colored by show business tinsel. It's all real—the story, the settings and the participants, from the 14 little Monterrey heroes to the coach (Cesar Faz, a Mexican who was born and reared in the United States), to the team's founder and manager (Harold (Lucky) Haskins, an American living in Monterrey).

There's not an actor in the cast, but the film produced by George P. Werker glistens with professionalism ... and heart — mostly heart. It's that kind of story.

THE 14 BOYS comprising the Monterrey 1957 Little League world championship ball club lived and still live in incredible poverty.

Before they enrolled in the ball club, most of them never had worn shoes. Before they came to do baseball battle in the United States, none ever had had a glass of milk. Or daily showers. Or a bed.

Even Angel Macias, their ambidextrous pitcher and "star," still lives with his family in an adobe hut the size of a hotel room. This, in spite of the fact that he is in line to receive a bonus of $100,000 from a major league ball club when he turns 18.

Nobody expected the Mexican sprites to go beyond the first round in the Little League competition, so their original visas for entry in the United States were only for three days.

When it became evident that their chances were better, the visas were extended, and for the 30 days they remained here their uniforms were their only clothing. They had no funds to buy other clothes.

LACK OF MONEY was a major obstacle all the way. When the team was first founded, the boys tried to sell tickets to raise club funds. They also performed odd jobs. Macias, the appealing star of the team — and the movie — earned a few pennies carrying water for his neighbors.

During the team's first week in Texas, one of the boys, given a dollar by an admirer, immediately changed it into 10 dimes and ate 10 ice cream pops within an hour.

One year before, when the team was being formed, this same boy had been discovered eating from a garbage pail in a Monterrey back street.

Their entry to America was inauspicious, to say the least. They had to walk the seven miles from the border to the baseball field, for they didn't have the bus fare. And they all slept in one room to save money during most of the trip.

When they returned as heroes to Mexico, they were all given scholarships to Monterrey's best private school. One boy almost had to turn down his scholarship for he didn't have the 50 centavos (4 cents) for the bus fare to and from school.

These are the heroes of "How Tall Is a Giant?" You'll be the better for having met them.

THE ITINERANT Ed Murrow, commuting between the U.S. and Europe on "CBS Reports" business, paused long enough to answer an interviewer's question on the gravest issue facing the people of America today.

Responded Murrow: "We must acquire our sense of purpose as a people ... No people ever has been given unless greatness has been demanded by its leaders ... This is the basic problem ... to acquire our sense of mission."

Lisbon Council Vacates Alley For Store Use

LISBON — Council Monday night passed under suspension of rules legislation to vacate an alley for a mercantile project despite the objections of adjacent property owners.

The alley, from N. Jefferson St. to the Tony Catanzarite lot, was vacated at the request of Carl M. Turk of Signal, representing the Carl M. Turk Enterprises, which said it plans to erect two new buildings for lease to a food retailer and a tire store.

Leonard Toot, Clarence Fife and Catanzarite urged that the alley remain open, but Turk said he wouldn't close the strip but planned to black top it and that they could still drive over the parking lot and reach N. Jefferson St.

An ordinance granting The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. a 7.8 per cent rate increase was given second reading by a vote of 4-2. Mrs. Blanche Neill and Raymond Dixon were opposed and Robert Lower, Robert Kelm, Fred Steele and Joseph Dornon, favored the hike for the same vote as first reading.

An ordinance raising the salary of Clerk Edgar Kirk of the Board of Public Affairs, from $270 to $310 per month, was passed on final reading.

Three employes of the street department had requested a pay raise and pay on legal holidays but council said that due to present finances it would be impossible to increase their wages. A request of two police officers for pay raises also was rejected for financial reasons.

Council now has only $13,500 in the general fund and $8,800 in street fund. Last year at this time, the general fund was about the same but the street fund contained $21,000, Clerk Ray Hempstead reported.

The finance committee, composed of Kelm, Dixon and Dornon, is expected to meet and try to come up with some type of bond issue or operating levy which might be placed on the ballot in November. Since State Highway Patrol cases are not being tried in mayor's courts anymore, revenues for operations of the smaller villages have dropped considerably.

W. A. Peters, assistant fire chief, asked if Council had made any arrangements to purchase uniforms for the three probational firemen. Council said it had discussed the matter.

Earl Dickey of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was given permission to block E. Lincoln Way, from Vine St. east to Harrison St., for a vehicle traffic check June 27-29. A recheck may be held June 30 or July 5.

Mayor Dean Stockman is expected to proclaim Safety Check Week.

Dickey also requested that Council provide plans for a recreation center near the Sadie VanFossan Swimming Pool so the Jaycees can begin work on a second tennis court and a basketball court. Permission will be sought from the park committee, Steele, Dixon and Mrs. Neill.

Dickey also proposed a drinking fountain be installed near the tennis courts and ball field. He said merchants might help. Council said it was doubtful because of finances.

However, Turk informed Council if the Jaycees can extend the water line he would provide the fountain.

Council decided to meet once a month during the summer and the next is July 11.

Radio Club Completes Plans For Field Day

Final plans for participation in the annual nationwide amateur radio Field Day June 25-26 were made at a meeting of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club Monday night at the Smith St. quarters.

Arrangemens were made to operate a club radio center at the Swaney Airport for the two-day period. About 19 attended the session at which Jack Hales of Blackmore St. was enrolled as a member.

John Sironovich, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be June 27.

3 Youths Deprived Of Driving Permits

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of three youths.

They were James Joseph Gallagher, 16, of Salem, 60 days for reckless operation; Ralph Arthur Wisler, 16, of Leetonia R. D. 3, 30 days for speeding, and Jay Gregory Albright, 16, of Salem, 10 days for failing to yield the right-of-way and driving left of the centerline. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Japan had larger battleships than the United States during World War II.

State Department To Refute Charges On Furniture Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department promised today what it called "a detailed refutation" of charges by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) that it was guilty of serious irregularities in buying furniture.

Proxmire told the Senate Monday that a firm headed by the son of Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller had received nine contracts totaling $89,400 for furniture for embassies abroad.

"Not one of the contracts was awarded on the basis of competitive bids," Proxmire said.

He particularly criticized the purchase of more than $69,000 of furniture for the U.S. Embassy in Caracas, Venezuela, and the shipment of most of it there by plane at an added cost of $30,000.

He rejected as unsatisfactory the State Department's explanation that the decision to ship by plane was made because of a longshoremen's strike. He said the strike ended last Oct. 9 and the embassy wasn't ready for occupancy until Nov. 1.

The State Department said that if the furniture had not arrived by Nov. 1, it would have had to retain its old quarters for another month at a rental cost of $11,000.

Fairfield Bible School To Close With Program

The closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible School of the East Fairfield Methodist Church will be held Friday night at 7:30.

Open church rites will be observed for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Esenwein and Fred Vosloh of Cleveland Saturday afternoon at 4:30 at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McQuiston and William McQuiston are en route to Florida for a vacation after visiting relatives in Kentucky.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Mary Wilson were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rymer and Mrs. Ella Heckman of Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Maeder of Rocky River spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clair Jones.

Mrs. Liza Horner and Mrs. Ilma Agnew of Cleveland visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brothers over the weekend. Mrs. Mildred Drummond of Girard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker and Denise Baker attended a family gathering Sunday at Copeland Lake in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Martha Cope of Leetonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of East Palestine visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crook Saturday.

Lions Expect 250 For Zone Outing

Some 250 members and guests are expected to attend the zone picnic of six area Lions' Clubs Wednesday at the Williams Wild Life Farm at New Waterford.

The zone includes clubs in East Liverpool, Lisbon, New Waterford, Carrollton, Malvern and Minerva, George McCullough of East Liverpool, zone chairman, said.

Golfing will be held in the afternoon at the East Palestine Country Club at Negley with a tour of the wild life farm at 4:30 p. m.

A basket picnic will be held at 6:30 p. m. with the clubs furnishing ice cream, cold drinks, rolls, butter and coffee, McCullough said. A ball game will be played at 7:30 between the Lisbon and New Waterford clubs and a band concert will be presented at 8:30.

Employment Gained Million During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — A million-man increase in employment in May was reported by the Labor Department Monday.

The substantial gain, about normal or slightly better for the season, carried the nation's total civilian employment to a record for the month at 67,208,000.

Unemployment fell by about 200,000 to 3,459,000. This also was about an average movement for May.

2 Officials Fail Bar Exam

Buckeye Boys State Has Touchy Problem To Face

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Buckeye Boys State, the week-long school in self-government for 1,171 young Ohioans, has a touchy problem on its hands:

Two unnamed high officials in the legal or judicial fields failed to pass the bar examination after their election.

The bar association says the two will be given another chance to pass the test, but if they don't, "new officers probably will be chosen."

Of the 185 Boys State citizens who did pass the test, perfect scores were turned in by Kenneth Webber of Fowler and Scott Fenstermaker of Warren.

The Nationalist Party, which won five of the six top state offices, holds control in the Senate by a 28-18 margin. But in the House, the Federalists have a 51-41 majority. Linus Upson III of Dayton was elected House speaker.

Boys State Gov. James E. White of Columbus appointed his defeated opponent, Curt Freed of Euclid, to his cabinet as commerce director.

Other appointments include:

Priest At Dungannon To Mark Ordination

LISBON — Fr. Richard Buchman, pastor of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon and St. Agatha Church at West Point, will mark the 25th anniversary of his ordination with a special Sacred Heart service Sunday at 3:30 p. m. in St. Philip's.

Fr. Buchman has served the two parishes since April 10, 1954.

Fr. Buchman was ordained by Bishop Rospond in the Diocese of Silesia, Breslau, Poland.

He was assistant pastor at the Sacred Heart Church at Youngstown for nine years and served the Immaculate Conception Church in Ravenna and St. Mary's in Massillon before coming to Columbiana County.

A reception will follow in the Parish Hall.

Berry Season Is Underway

The berry season has just started and the end is only about three weeks away, Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service, said today.

There's a good supply of luscious, juicy strawberries available this week in this area. Growing conditions have been favorable for almost excellent quality of berry.

Earlidawn, Fairland, Sparkle, Catskill, and Vermillion are common varieties available with Temple, Armore, Pocahontas and others available next week in quantity.

Watermelon and cantaloupe are more plentiful and becoming lower in price but not yet as reasonable in price as will be true in coming weeks. Oranges and bananas continue as the leading fresh fruits.

Fresh vegetable choices this week based on price and quality are lettuce, carrots, cucumbers, onions, wax beans, radishes and cabbage. Potato prices are slowly declining as supplies from the new crop increases.

Poultry fryers represent one of the top-drawer choices at many meat counters. Birds weighing near three pounds seem to be much better fleshed with broader, heavier breasts and thicker, meatier legs, than is true of lighter birds.

The smaller sizes are excellent for barbecuing when split in half. When barbecuing over charcoal and a rotisserie is not used, the chicken should be about 24 inches from the coals and be basted with your favorite barbecue sauce periodically to prevent scorching and assure tender, well - cooked meat. Poultry barbecued in this manner will take from 45 to 69 minutes. When the leg twists easily out of its socket joint, the chicken is ready for eating.

Inoculations For Dogs Planned In Hancock

Inoculations to prevent rabies in dogs are planned in Hancock County next week, Sherman Williams, county dog warden, announced today.

Monday, Williams and Dr. Brady Sullivan will be in the northern end of the county. Inoculations will be given at Wells High School in Newell from 1 to 3:30 p. m., at the Grant District Democratic Headquarters in Chester from 4 to 6 p. m. and the Pughtown fire station from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m.

They will be at the Courthouse at New Cumberland Tuesday from 6 to 7:30 p. m. and at the Weirton Heights fire station Wednesday from 1 to 4 p. m.

Inoculations may also be obtained Wednesday from 6 to 7:30 p. m. at Dr. Sullivan's office on Main St. in Weirton.

Student Named Guide

WEIRTON — Gabriel J. Basil of Weirton is one of 55 West Virginia University undergraduate men named to serve as guides during the annual Freshman Week program Sept. 12-18, according to Joseph C. Gluck, director of student affairs.

County ASC Accepts Wheat Applications

LISBON—The Columbiana County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office is accepting wheat allotment applications for certain farms, Clifford Shaw, chairman, said. A producer who intends to seed wheat for 1960 on a farm for which a 1958, 1959 and 1960 allotment was not established —irrespective of whether or not wheat was seeded for harvest as grain in those years—and who desired to be considered for an allotment, must make application, according to Shaw.

Application forms are available in the County ASC office in the Farmers National Bank building and the producer must apply in writing by June 30, Shaw said.

Sunshine Boys Slate Concert At Pughtown

A concert by the Sunshine Boys of radio and TV will be held Monday night at the Fairview Presbyterian Church in Pughtown. Tickets are on sale and can also be secured the night of the concert.

During intermission, women of the church will be in charge of the lunch. A fellowship hour will follow the concert.

Industry Defendants' Trials Slated Today

Trials were scheduled today in Beaver County Court for four Industry district defendants.

DeWayne Curtis of Industry is charged with two counts of assault and battery, and Henry Hanson, Margaret Hanson and John Madish, all of Industry, are accused of destroying fences.

The court has accepted the voluntary manslaughter plea of Vincenzo Colontino, who was returned to the county in April from Omaha after confessing a murder that occurred 23 years ago.

He had been accused of murder and was slated for trial Friday. He killed Tony DiGirolano June 26, 1937, in the McDonald Heights section of Aliquippa after an argument over a barrel of wine.

County's Draft Quota Will Be 10 For July

The Columbiana County induction quota for July will be 10, the Ohio Selective Service headquarters at Columbus announced Monday.

The statewide call is 592, or 37 fewer than the same period a year ago and 49 more than June of this year. The quota for Jefferson County will be 9.

Rate Hike Hit By 49 Towns

CHARLESTON — Forty-nine written protests, the majority of them from affected cities and towns, have been filed against a proposed rate increase by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in West Virginia.

This was disclosed by Chairman Myron R. Renick of the Public Service Commission Monday when he announced postponement of hearing in the case until July 5. It had been scheduled to start yesterday.

Also protesting is the West Virginia League of Municipalities.

Putting off the hearing to July 5 is intended to give the PSC staff time to complete an audit of C. & P. books. The PSC hopes this will make it possible to cross-examine company witnesses at the first session and perhaps complete the hearing in two sessions.

C. & P. is seeking authority to put into effect new rates which would amount to $5,539,000 in additional yearly revenue from its 331,000 West Virginia customers. C. & P. said its net gain from an increase in this amount would come to $2,536,000 a year.

Beaver County Wards To Be Carnival Guests

About 35 wards of the Beaver County Children's Home of New Brighton will be given free rides and refreshments at the firemen's carnival in Midland June 28-July 4.

The carnival will be reserved for the children on July 3 from 2 to 4 p. m. Plans were made during a meeting of Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 Monday evening in the Borough Building.

Tony Monaco will be general chairman. Rides will be furnished by Heck's Amusements of East Liverpool.

A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rudder of East Liverpool expressing appreciation for firemen's help when their daughter, Charlotte Fleming, drowned in Beaver Creek recently.

Bud Cook, president, presided. Next meeting will be July 11.

Explorer Scouts Plan Field Trip Thursday

Members of Boy Scout Explorer Post 7 of St. Aloysius Catholic Church will make a field trip along Route 2 in Hancock County Thursday to collect Indian artifacts.

The post plans to set up its own collection. Five members and James L. McKinnon, advisor, visited the area Saturday, digging for relics and surface items along the Ohio River.

They found a Hematite hand axe, a number of celts, pitted stones, mortar and grinding stones, arrowheads, elk teeth and other articles.

The trip was made in the post's new emergency unit truck which is being readied for the Golden Jubilee Camporee at the Lisbon Fairgrounds July 22-24. The truck will be on display and utilized in case of emergencies.

Lisbon Club's Progressive Dinner Held At Homes Of 2

The Lisbon Progressive Club met Sunday for a dinner party. The first course was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albright of E. Lincoln Way and other courses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webber of N. Market St.

Members were present from Salem, Clearfield, Bay Village and Lisbon.

June 30, the group will spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tidrick of Bay Village.

Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, Mrs. Walter Cope and Miss Lucile Bennett returned home Sunday after attending the inspection of Acacia Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star in Dayton Saturday.

Miss Bennett, a deputy under past grand matron, Mrs. Edith Conger, a member of the Dayton chapter, and Mrs. Marshall, a deputy under past grand matron, Mrs. Audrey Kalbfleish, also of Dayton, were entertained in the afternoon.

Mrs. Lipp, condructress of Iva Chapter this year, and others of the Lisbon party attended a tea in honor of grand conductress of Ohio, Mrs. Grace Grether.

20 Attend Supper

Twenty guests enjoyed a barbecue supper Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Burson of S. Lincoln Ave. in observance of his birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Redd of Clearfield, Pa., were weekend guests.

The Sunshine Club will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Horace Conkle of the Lisbon-Canfield Rd.

The program will include "Facts About Ohio" and a debate. Mrs. Fred Rose will be co-hostess.

Mrs. Charles Robinson of Uniontown returned Monday after spending several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sloss and Mr. and Mrs. Ross DeSellem of the East Liverpool Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dennis and daughter, Betty, of Columbiana spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Burton, of Caldwell Ave.

Pvt. Dale E. Brown is spending a 20-day leave with his mother, Mrs. Lavina Brown, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stock of W. Washington St. Brown entered the Marines in January and completed basic training at Camp Lejeune, N. C. He will take advanced training in Jacksonville, N. C.

Family Has Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Calhoun of E. Chestnut St. had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tidrick of Bay Village and entertained in their honor on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Babb of N. Market St. and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boso and family of E. Washington St. attended the wedding of Babb's niece, Miss Nancy Karol Bailey, of Salem to William Boyd Renner of Westerville Saturday afternoon at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church at Salem.

Sponsored By Club

The group is sponsored by the Lisbon Music Study Club. They will receive instruction in orchestra, chorus, vesper choir and art classes.

Mrs. Reese Maham of Philadelphia and Mrs. Lester Sexton and children of Chicago spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeTemple of E. Lincoln Way. Mrs. Mahan had been visiting the Sextons and they are now on their way to her summer home at Strathmore, N. J. Sexton will join them later.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gray of Toledo spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gray of W. Lincoln Way and Mrs. W. S. Korn of E. Lincoln Way.

Industry Defendants' Trials Slated Today

Trials were scheduled today in Beaver County Court for four Industry district defendants.

DeWayne Curtis of Industry is charged with two counts of assault and battery, and Henry Hanson, Margaret Hanson and John Madish, all of Industry, are accused of destroying fences.

The court has accepted the voluntary manslaughter plea of Vincenzo Colontino, who was returned to the county in April from Omaha after confessing a murder that occurred 23 years ago.

He had been accused of murder and was slated for trial Friday. He killed Tony DiGirolano June 26, 1937, in the McDonald Heights section of Aliquippa after an argument over a barrel of wine.

County's Draft Quota Will Be 10 For July

The Columbiana County induction quota for July will be 10, the Ohio Selective Service headquarters at Columbus announced Monday.

The statewide call is 592, or 37 fewer than the same period a year ago and 49 more than June of this year. The quota for Jefferson County will be 9.

Rate Hike Hit By 49 Towns

CHARLESTON — Forty-nine written protests, the majority of them from affected cities and towns, have been filed against a proposed rate increase by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in West Virginia.

This was disclosed by Chairman Myron R. Renick of the Public Service Commission Monday when he announced postponement of hearing in the case until July 5. It had been scheduled to start yesterday.

Also protesting is the West Virginia League of Municipalities.

Putting off the hearing to July 5 is intended to give the PSC staff time to complete an audit of C. & P. books. The PSC hopes this will make it possible to cross-examine company witnesses at the first session and perhaps complete the hearing in two sessions.

C. & P. is seeking authority to put into effect new rates which would amount to $5,539,000 in additional yearly revenue from its 331,000 West Virginia customers. C. & P. said its net gain from an increase in this amount would come to $2,536,000 a year.

Beaver County Wards To Be Carnival Guests

About 35 wards of the Beaver County Children's Home of New Brighton will be given free rides and refreshments at the firemen's carnival in Midland June 28-July 4.

The carnival will be reserved for the children on July 3 from 2 to 4 p. m. Plans were made during a meeting of Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 Monday evening in the Borough Building.

Tony Monaco will be general chairman. Rides will be furnished by Heck's Amusements of East Liverpool.

A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rudder of East Liverpool expressing appreciation for firemen's help when their daughter, Charlotte Fleming, drowned in Beaver Creek recently.

Bud Cook, president, presided. Next meeting will be July 11.

Explorer Scouts Plan Field Trip Thursday

Members of Boy Scout Explorer Post 7 of St. Aloysius Catholic Church will make a field trip along Route 2 in Hancock County Thursday to collect Indian artifacts.

The post plans to set up its own collection. Five members and James L. McKinnon, advisor, visited the area Saturday, digging for relics and surface items along the Ohio River.

They found a Hematite hand axe, a number of celts, pitted stones, mortar and grinding stones, arrowheads, elk teeth and other articles.

The trip was made in the post's new emergency unit truck which is being readied for the Golden Jubilee Camporee at the Lisbon Fairgrounds July 22-24. The truck will be on display and utilized in case of emergencies.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Mystery Dieter Chalks Up New Victory

Ten pounds down and fourteen to go! That's the score to date on the overweight teen-ager who asked to be our Mystery Dieter.

By Ida Jean Kain

Six weeks ago, Ruth, a 17 - year - old high school senior weighed in at 154 pounds. She is 5 feet 6 tall. This is her progress report:

"Well, we can chalk up victory number two—the 10 pound loss has been accomplished. The scale indicator pointed to 144 this morning. Now we've only 14 pounds to go!

"The inches are playing hard to get off this week. However, the hips did change to 39½ (from 42") and the thigh to 22½ (from 25"). Thank you for sending along the "Leg Normalizing Exercise" leaflet. I just realized why my legs have remained resistant to slimming exercise. I've been doing some deep knee-bends on my toes, and bicycling — both exercises that contract the muscles.

"THIS WEEK has again been difficult. Sometimes I have a burning desire to gorge myself, but I realize that would be a fatal step. I want so much to slim down...I shove that temptation to gorge right out of my mind. Thanks again for your wonderful morale boosting."

My dietitian's cap is off to this young Mystery Dieter! Anybody can start a diet — keeping on takes fortitude. Ruth has harnessed her will to a goal and she is using backbone, not wishbone. Wishful thinking is wanting something without effort. That plan gets you nowhere. Creative imaging means to keep your goal in mind and act to make your dream come true.

In case any of you are skeptical about the rewards of exercise, our model whips through calisthenics 30 minutes every morning before the rise and shine hour. She has lost to date a total of 12½ inches. When lost inches exceed lost poundage, that's streamlining par excellence!

Teen-agers, here's a promise: "Lift leaps like a geyser for those who are willing to drill through the rock of inertia!"

To slenderize calf and thigh: Point with heels and pull toes toward instep to stretch and pull leg muscle out long and smooth. In bike riding, keep your seat, pedal by pushing down with heels. In deep knee bends, keep heels flat on floor. That's a real stretch.

MOVEMENT: Pull slim through the middle measurement, bend forward and go on over until you can touch fingers of outstretched hands to toes of right foot...pull toes toward instep.

Return to sitting position, pull slim again and repeat, three times. Repeat touching fingers to left toes — three times.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Leg Normalizing Exercises." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be requested.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Help Child Get Passing School Marks

A child in school may be so near the "passing" goal that, with a bit of skillful help and encouragement, he could make it. If you have such a child, in the grades or high school, any personal sacrifice of yours in time and effort to help him "make it" could hardly be too great. In the weeks ahead, you might find it wise to drop some outside service or social activiyt in order to be better able to provide this child with a relaxed and hopeful family atmosphere, to give him some help at his studies yourself or employ some more skillful person to help him. In your zeal to help this child across the line, you and he may be facing an impossible task, with so few weeks of school left.

By Garry Meyer.

IF YOU GET too worked up over the matter, you may hamper him instead of helping him. The danger is that you will merely try to drive him to work harder without finding ways to help him get better results from his efforts.

As you know, alas, some parents, fearing that a child is going to "fail", charge him with laziness and pour out to him their disappointment over his school lag and the "disgrace" his failure would be to them.

In most cases, the child won't likely change his study habits much in the remaining short time, no matter what you try to do. For most, it's too late now to make an effective difference in his school progress.

Unless you have, with the advice of the school, pretty strong assurance you can help him reach the goal, you had better not try to do anything now but to consider what you may do to help him next fall, even this summer.

IN THE MEANWHILE, if he's likely not to make it, your problem is to prepare yourself to act wisely and humanely in the face of reality. More likely than not, he's the person who most needs help in preparing to meet the probable disappointment courageously and hopefully.

If he is near the age for a work permit, he may be tempted to resolve never to return to school again.

Let's hope you have not threatened him with summer school or summer tutoring as punishment. Either might be just the thing for him, if he sees it as an opportunity to make up arrears and regain hope and self-regard.

No matter how you feel about the problem of the school laggard, how he feels is what's going to count for most in the long run.

My home helps in reading, spelling and arithmetic and "Tips for Students," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

British Hiker, Police Differ On How She Was Hit By Auto

BRAZIL, Ind. (AP)—State police and Dr. Barbara Moore differed slightly today on how it happened, but the 56-year-old British vegetarian was more interested in hitting the road than in discussing her mishap.

The Russian-born physician said the "big American car" bumped her "just at the wrong moment," interrupting her cross-country hike Monday as she strode toward Indianapolis from the Illinois-Indiana border.

Dr. Moore said she was hit without warning while walking next to the grass divider strip on U.S. 40. State police said she stepped off the grass and into the path of the car driven by Elizabeth M. Kline, 67, of Shamokin, Pa. All agreed the slowly moving car caused a painfully bruised back and a swollen left ankle.

Although she has no chance of breaking the cross-country walking record, Dr. Moore spoke anxiously of resuming her California to New York trek as soon as posible if, for no other reason, than to hurry down under for her cross-Australia march, "And Canada after that."

Dr. Moore planned to be on her way "sooner than you think." She said her vegetarian diet of more than 40 years had quickened her recuperative powers, and that she might walk "day and night" over the last 700 plus miles of the trip which started 62 days ago in San Francisco.

Minimum Wage Bill Coverage Cut In Half

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee Monday reduced new coverage in the minimum wage bill to 5,124,000 workers, less than half the 10,731,000 provided in a subcommittee version.

The committee generally got the bill into the shape which its Democratic sponsors hope will be the final form to win Senate passage.

The group will meet again Sunday and probably Wednesday to consider Republican amendments to cut the measure down further. It still is considerably broader than President Eisenhower has asked.

Injunction Scheduled Against Pilots Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— A federal judge who has barred the Federal Aviation Agency from the Eastern Air Lines strike case, said he would sign an injunction today ordering pilots to cease their walkout.

Also scheduled were hearings on contempt citations against some of the pilots who refused to honor a court order to fly Eastern's planes out of Miami.

The big carrier told U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph P. Lieb that the walkout, which is not union-sanctioned, is costing Eastern 1½ million dollars a day.

Distribution Started For New Phone Book

Distribution of the new 1960 telephone book is expected to be completed by Wednesday, T. Fred Edwards, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said today.

The new book, corrected through May 5, is being distributed to 22,269 subscribers, Edwards said.

It is virtually the same as the 1959 edition with a few minor changes. An additional 38 cities now can be dialed directly on toll calls, Edwards said.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 13, 1960.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE 1960 APPROPRIATION ORDINANCE NUMBER 8, 1960.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, State of Ohio: (Two-thirds of all members elected thereto concurring).

SECTION 1: That Ordinance Number 8, 1960, entitled "AN ORDINANCE TO MAKE APPROPRIATIONS FOR CURRENT EXPENSES AND OTHER EXPENDITURES OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, DURING THE CURRENT FISCAL YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1960," be and the same is hereby amended.

SECTION 2: That to provide for other expenditures of said City, not provided for in Ordinance Number 8, 1960, the following sums in addition to amounts appropriated for the use of the department for which the corporation has to provide, to-wit:

SECTION 3: That there be appropriated from the General Fund the sum of $229.00 to the following accounts:
Council-Incidentals, $100.00
Auditor-Clerk's Salary, 129.00

SECTION 4: This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall go into effect immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that it is necessary that this Ordinance be passed immediately so that the various employees of the various departments of the City of East Liverpool can be paid and the expenses of the various departments can be paid and it is therefore necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the citizens of said City.

Mystery Dieter Chalks Up New Victory

By Ida Jean Kain

Ten pounds down and fourteen to go! That's the score to date on the overweight teen-ager who asked to be our Mystery Dieter. Six weeks ago, Ruth, a 17 - year - old high school senior weighed in at 154 pounds. She is 5 feet 6 tall. This is her progress report:

"Well, we can chalk up victory number two—the 10 pound loss has been accomplished. The scale indicator pointed to 144 this morning. Now we've only 14 pounds to go!

"The inches are playing hard to get off this week. However, the hips did change to 39½ (from 42") and the thigh to 22½ (from 25"). Thank you for sending along the "Leg Normalizing Exercise" leaflet. I just realized why my legs have remained resistant to slimming exercise. I've been doing some deep knee-bends on my toes, and bicycling — both exercises that contract the muscles.

"THIS WEEK has again been difficult. Sometimes I have a burning desire to gorge myself, but I realize that would be a fatal step. I want so much to slim down...I shove that temptation to gorge right out of my mind. Thanks again for your wonderful morale boosting."

My dietitian's cap is off to this young Mystery Dieter! Anybody can start a diet — keeping on takes fortitude. Ruth has harnessed her will to a goal and she is using backbone, not wishbone. Wishful thinking is wanting something without effort. That plan gets you nowhere. Creative imaging means to keep your goal in mind and act to make your dream come true.

In case any of you are skeptical about the rewards of exercise, our model whips through calisthenics 30 minutes every morning before the rise and shine hour. She has lost to date a total of 12½ inches. When lost inches exceed lost poundage, that's streamlining par excellence!

Teen-agers, here's a promise: "Lift leaps like a geyser for those who are willing to drill through the rock of inertia!"

To slenderize calf and thigh: Point with heels and pull toes toward instep to stretch and pull leg muscle out long and smooth. In bike riding, keep your seat, pedal by pushing down with heels. In deep knee bends, keep heels flat on floor. That's a real stretch.

Try this tip-to-toe streamliner: Position: Sit on floor, legs spread wide apart, heels pushing down, toes pulled toward instep.

MOVEMENT: Pull slim through the middle measurement, bend forward and go on over until you can touch fingers of outstretched hands to toes of right foot...pull toes toward instep.

Return to sitting position, pull slim again and repeat, three times. Repeat touching fingers to left toes — three times.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Leg Normalizing Exercises." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be requested.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Help Child Get Passing School Marks

By Garry Meyer.

A child in school may be so near the "passing" goal that, with a bit of skillful help and encouragement, he could make it. If you have such a child, in the grades or high school, any personal sacrifice of yours in time and effort to help him "make it" could hardly be too great. In the weeks ahead, you might find it wise to drop some outside service or social activiyt in order to be better able to provide this child with a relaxed and hopeful family atmosphere, to give him some help at his studies yourself or employ some more skillful person to help him. In your zeal to help this child across the line, you and he may be facing an impossible task, with so few weeks of school left.

IF YOU GET too worked up over the matter, you may hamper him instead of helping him. The danger is that you will merely try to drive him to work harder without finding ways to help him get better results from his efforts.

As you know, alas, some parents, fearing that a child is going to "fail", charge him with laziness and pour out to him their disappointment over his school lag and the "disgrace" his failure would be to them.

In most cases, the child won't likely change his study habits much in the remaining short time, no matter what you try to do. For most, it's too late now to make an effective difference in his school progress.

Unless you have, with the advice of the school, pretty strong assurance you can help him reach the goal, you had better not try to do anything now but to consider what you may do to help him next fall, even this summer.

IN THE MEANWHILE, if he's likely not to make it, your problem is to prepare yourself to act wisely and humanely in the face of reality. More likely than not, he's the person who most needs help in preparing to meet the probable disappointment courageously and hopefully.

If he is near the age for a work permit, he may be tempted to resolve never to return to school again.

Let's hope you have not threatened him with summer school or summer tutoring as punishment. Either might be just the thing for him, if he sees it as an opportunity to make up arrears and regain hope and self-regard.

No matter how you feel about the problem of the school laggard, how he feels is what's going to count for most in the long run.

British Hiker, Police Differ On How She Was Hit By Auto

The Russian-born physician said the "big American car" bumped her "just at the wrong moment," interrupting her cross-country hike Monday as she strode toward Indianapolis from the Illinois-Indiana border.

Dr. Moore said she was hit without warning while walking next to the grass divider strip on U.S. 40. State police said she stepped off the grass and into the path of the car driven by Elizabeth M. Kline, 67, of Shamokin, Pa. All agreed the slowly moving car caused a painfully bruised back and a swollen left ankle.

Although she has no chance of breaking the cross-country walking record, Dr. Moore spoke anxiously of resuming her California to New York trek as soon as posible if, for no other reason, than to hurry down under for her cross-Australia march, "And Canada after that."

Dr. Moore planned to be on her way "sooner than you think." She said her vegetarian diet of more than 40 years had quickened her recuperative powers, and that she might walk "day and night" over the last 700 plus miles of the trip which started 62 days ago in San Francisco.

Minimum Wage Bill Coverage Cut In Half

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee Monday reduced new coverage in the minimum wage bill to 5,124,000 workers, less than half the 10,731,000 provided in a subcommittee version.

The committee generally got the bill into the shape which its Democratic sponsors hope will be the final form to win Senate passage.

The group will meet again Sunday and probably Wednesday to consider Republican amendments to cut the measure down further. It still is considerably broader than President Eisenhower has asked.

Injunction Scheduled Against Pilots Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— A federal judge who has barred the Federal Aviation Agency from the Eastern Air Lines strike case, said he would sign an injunction today ordering pilots to cease their walkout.

Also scheduled were hearings on contempt citations against some of the pilots who refused to honor a court order to fly Eastern's planes out of Miami.

The big carrier told U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph P. Lieb that the walkout, which is not union-sanctioned, is costing Eastern 1½ million dollars a day.

Distribution Started For New Phone Book

Distribution of the new 1960 telephone book is expected to be completed by Wednesday, T. Fred Edwards, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said today.

The new book, corrected through May 5, is being distributed to 22,269 subscribers, Edwards said.

It is virtually the same as the 1959 edition with a few minor changes. An additional 38 cities now can be dialed directly on toll calls, Edwards said.

DOWNTOWN FARM

The man who said you can't have a lawn, orchard, garden, etc., and still be in a residential down town neighborhood WAS WRONG, but to get this the owner had to own 3 - 30 foot lots on VINE ST., and build a 3 bedroom, 2 story home with a new gas furnace, aluminum siding, and many extras on the center lot then fence-in one of the remaining lots for children. There are many varieties of trees, shrubs, flowers, and even a small asparagus patch and a garden on the lot. If you want a farm and a home with a lot of room in town for $12,900.00 make an appointment to see it now.

DOWNTOWN FARM

The man who said you can't have a lawn, orchard, garden, etc., and still be in a residential down town neighborhood WAS WRONG, but to get this the owner had to own 3 - 30 foot lots on VINE ST., and build a 3 bedroom, 2 story home with a new gas furnace, aluminum siding, and many extras on the center lot then fence-in one of the remaining lots for children. There are many varieties of trees, shrubs, flowers, and even a small asparagus patch and a garden on the lot. If you want a farm and a home with a lot of room in town for $12,900.00 make an appointment to see it now.
